EXPLODES A BOMBSHELL IN THE CAMP OF GOULD

Ramsey Begins an Injunction Against His Rival in Wabash.

ALLEGES A DEEP PLOT

Declares His Opponent Intends to Stifle Competition in Missouri Contrary to Law.

ASKS A RESTRAINING ORDER

Action Is to Prevent Two Rival Companies of the Wabash from Voting Its Stock and Debentures Held by Them.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, MO., Oct. 3.—A bombshell was exploded in the George J. Gould camp of the warring Wabash interests today when Joseph Ramsey, Jr., filed suit in the St. Louis circuit court for an injunction to prevent the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain holdings of Wabash stocks and bonds from being voted at the annual meeting of the Wabash stockholders at Toledo on October 10 to elect a new board of directors.

In his petition Ramsey declares it is George J. Gould's intention to make of the Wabash and Missouri Pacific, competing lines in Missouri, one railroad, thus stifling competition and violating the laws of the state and the nation. E. W. Lehmann, attorney for Mr. Ramsey, said:

"The importance of this suit to the public is that it is a suit to enjoin rival companies of the Wabash from voting its stock and debentures."

Edwin Gould, brother of George Gould, supposed to be in his confidence, who is in the city attending a meeting of the directors of the Cotton Belt Railway Company, said:

"My brother is all right in his stand, and he will win out. Furthermore, I think the stockholders will back him in his fight, when it comes to an issue. Anyhow, the majority of stock is held by our family and when it comes to a vote our majority of holdings will carry the election.'

Injunction Would Satisfy.

Judge Taylor, to whom the suit was assigned, ordered the defendants to show cause at 10 a. m. Friday why a temporary injunction should not be issued. Such an injunction would have the effect desired by Ramsey at the October meeting.

The suit is directed against the Missouri Pacific and the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern railways, the Mercantile Trust Company of New York, Waller S. Wilson, H. M. Walker and George J. Gould. The trust company and the individuals are alleged to hold in trust the Wabash stock which the other railroads own.

Mr. Ramsey alleges that he owns 100 shares of Wabash common stock and $50,000 of Wagash debentures, class B. He says he acts for himself and others similarly situated, and asks a temporary injunction pending the final disposition of the case.

Mr. Ramsey alleges the Missouri Pacific owns 20,000 shares (preferred) of Wabash stock, and the Iron Mountain 65,000 shares (preferred), and $5,436,000 par value of Wabash debentures, class B; that these shares and debentures are held by the Mercantile Trust Company of New York—Wilson, Walker and Gould—to secure some indebtedness of the railway companies.

How the Control Works.

Gould, Mr. Ramsey alleges, owns a majority of the Missouri Pacific stock and directs all the operations of the company. The Missouri Pacific, he alleges, owns a majority of the Iron Mountain capital stock and directs all the operations of the company. The Kansas City-St. Louis lines of the Wabash and the Missouri Pacific, Ramsey says, are the most important lines of the two companies in Missouri. The two lines, he declares, are parallel and competing.

Gould, Mr. Ramsey avers, owns certain shares of Wabash stock and debentures, but the precise amount Ramsey does not know, and with other persons interested in the Missouri Pacific is seeking control of the Wabash, Ramsey alleges, in order to stifle all competition between the two companies between St. Louis and Kansas City.

If the Gould faction is permitted to acquire control of the Wabash, Ramsey says, the St. Louis-Kansas City lines will be operated as two lines of one railroad, controlled by the same interest, in combination, and without competition. Gould and his associates, in the interest of the Missouri Pacific, are alleged to have selected a number of persons whose names are unknown to Ramsey, to constitute a majority of the Wabash board of directors to be elected at the Toledo meeting. Twelve men constitute the board, six chosen by the bondholders and six by the stockholders. The plan, it is alleged, cannot be carried out unless Gould and his associates are able to vote the shares and debentures owned by the Missouri Pacific and the Iron Mountain.

Would Violate Law.

Such holdings of the Wabash shares and debentures by the other lines and the voting of them, is in violation of the laws of Missouri, it is alleged, and contrary to public policy.

Wells H. Blodgett, general solicitor of the Wabash, said today:

"This suit will make little difference in the outcome of the election. It seems to be the custom for one road to hold bonds or stock of another as part of its assets. This is a general custom, and I cannot see how it can be classed as a combination in restraint of trade."

Alex. G. Cochran, vice president and general solicitor of the Wabash, said:

"We had no knowledge the suit would be filed until a few minutes before court convened, when an inkling reached us. We were on hand in court when the petition was filed.

"It is very remarkable that Mr. Ramsey should suddenly become awake to the fact that competition in traffic be-

FROST AT KITTANNING

Spellbinders Opened Meeting With But Forty-Three Persons in Attendance.

MADE A RUSH FOR SALOONS

Special Telegram From WALTER J. CHRISTY, Staff Correspondent.

KITTANNING, PA., Oct. 3.—Armstrong county Democrats are not showing much interest in the success of their state ticket this fall. W. H. Berry, the Prohibition-Democratic candidate for state treasurer, was here tonight. During the evening there were 82 persons in the court house. Whilst Mr. Berry was speaking 25 men left the room. This was explained by a Democrat who went out. "The saloons in Kittanning close at 10 o'clock," said he, "and while we love our party, we need a drink."

It was not difficult to keep track of the attendance and for the hundreds of Armstrong Democrats, who did not care to devote the time to the meeting, this record was kept: When the meeting opened, 43; highest number present at any time, 82; retired during Dewalt's speech, 13; retired during Berry's speech, twenty-five.

The record for "put outs" is held by Berry. Of course, he was ably assisted by the damnable rum habit and the licensed saloon. It has been pointed out before in this campaign that Democracy and Prohibition will not blend.

Apologized for the Crowd.

Senator Arthur G. Dewalt of Lehigh county has been sent to assist Berry. Dewalt made his first speech here tonight. When former Judge Calvin Rayburn introduced him to the 43 persons then assembled in the court house, where three years ago the late Robert E. Pattison talked to an audience that packed the auditorium, Senator Dewalt was forced to open his speech with an apology about the crowd. He said the assembling of but 43 persons does not show a lack of interest, but that the people in this neck of the woods have not awakened. Then he tried to show that the people of the commonwealth are aroused as they never have been before.

The hopes of the Democrats to stretch the troubles in Philadelphia until they cover the state have not been realized. The City party settled this bunco scheme when it refused an indorsement to Berry and made public announcement that the fight in the Quaker City and the campaign in the state have no relation.

Berry had evidently hoped Senator Knox would not say anything during this campaign. Mr. Knox is a Republican and when he yesterday called on all Republicans to vote the whole Republican ticket this fall, he brought sorrow to those who are trying to lure the Republicans from the fold by threadbare reform appeals. It was not surprising that Berry tonight said:

Knox Disappointed Berry.

"I am profoundly disappointed with the view Senator Knox has taken." He tried to make his audience believe the statement of Senator Knox is a "bold bluff for the purpose of scaring a lot of people into line for the Republican ticket." Berry has a wonderful imagination. He got very much worked up over things and declared it would be "better by far to have the bottom drop out of business entirely than not purify politics." He is willing to be dropped into the bottomless pit.

When Berry looked over his audience tonight, he repeated his statement of a few days ago that "I find little enthusiasm west of the Alleghenies." Then he said: "If I am to be elected I must get every Democratic vote in the state and hundreds of thousands of Republicans." Evidently feeling doubtful about his ability to secure all these votes, he added: "I do not have to be treasurer. It is not necessary to my well being."

John Gill to Be Dropped.

In speaking of the nomination of Judge Stewart by the Democrats, Berry said: "During a lucid interval the Democrats put Stewart on the ticket." He also made the announcement that the Prohibitionists will indorse him. This means that John Gill is to be pulled down.

As usual Berry is stopping at a Republican tavern. While some Democrats were discussing this tonight, one tried to defend the state treasurer candidate by announcing the bartender at the hotel is a Democrat.

Berry and Dewalt will make speeches in Connellsville and Uniontown tomorrow night.

NEGRO APPEARS TO HAVE GOTTEN AWAY

EDNA, TEXAS, Oct. 3.—There is little new in the situation regarding the chase after the negro, Monk Gibson, charged with the murder of five of the Condit family. There are still 700 men searching, and four companies of militia are encamped here. Many believe the negro must have gotten away or died.

CLAIM HARRY LEONARD LED A DOUBLE LIFE

He Was a Church Member in Harlem, but Was Called "Sport Harry."

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Abraham Levy has been retained to defend Harry Leonard, the young broker's messenger, arrested Sunday for stealing $59,900 worth of securities from the National City bank, by means of a bogus check. After a conference with the prisoner Mr. Levy said:

"I am satisfied there was no criminal intent on young Leonard's part and that the whole affair was a foolish boyish escapade. When he is arraigned I will make the contention that there was no criminal intent, and I think I will be able to convince the court of that fact."

Mr. Levy denounced mention in the case of the daughter of a city commissioner. The two, he said, were merely acquaintances.

"I am satisfied that there was no conspiracy. Leonard did this mad deed entirely on his own responsibility. It was not done from criminal motives. He merely desired to make an experiment. The young man never displayed any criminal tendencies, and I am sure never had any idea of profiting by his madcap action. Even now he does not realize what he has done."

That was the opinion expressed today by Captain McCauley, chief of the detective bureau, who caused the arrest of Leonard. And yet Leonard led a double life, according to one story today.

In Harlem the youth was known as a church member, ambitious and studious. He belonged to the Harlem branch of the Young Men's Christian association.

In the financial district he was known among his associates as "Sport Harry." He made a handbook, while carrying quotations from the "curb" to his employers, and many curb brokers were his patrons. He liked to bet and the races fascinated him. His book netted him a considerable income.

Leonard's bail was fixed at $25,000 today, after an attempt had been made to place the amount at $50,000.

It was stated at the re-arraignment that the charge of larceny would probably not be pushed against Leonard, but that he would be prosecuted for forgery.

AUTOMOBILE CAUSES SPINAL MENINGITIS

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Oct. 3.—Seriously ill of too much, too rapid and too reckless automobiling, is the condition of J. B. John, a well-known young business and clubman of Oakland. John began to feel ill on Thursday last and called Dr. M. M. Enos, who pronounced the attack one of spinal-meningitis. Dr. Enos attributes Mr. John's condition entirely to the excessive use of his automobile, which has, by the jar, disturbed the nervous system and the circulation of the blood so as to bring on this result.

TUBE CITY RELATIVES UNITE AFTER MANY YEARS

Charles H. Brown of Peoria, Ill., is visiting his sister, Mrs. J. H. Hunter of Orchard street, McKeesport, after having been separated from her for nearly 30 years. She was but two years old when had last seen her. Another incident of the same kind in McKeesport is the visit of Mrs. Decl Parsons of New Bloomington, Pa., to her sister, Mrs. Margaret Brimmer of 1406 Fifth avenue. The sisters had not met for 28 years.

OVER 1,400 RURAL ROUTES ESTABLISHED LAST MONTH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Fourth Assistant Postmaster General De Graw reported that there were 1,431 rural free delivery routes established throughout the country during September, making a total of 25,486 routes existing. There are 4,635 petitions for such routes pending.

REVOLVER ACCIDENT AT EXPO MAY BE FATAL

In Main Building Milo Selter Is Shot in the Stomach by Joseph Bain.

Milo Selter, aged 22, of Benton Harbor, Mich., was shot and seriously wounded at 8 o'clock last night at the exposition building by Joseph Bain, aged 18, of 1732 Center avenue. The shooting was accidental. Bain was examining a revolver of Selter's and snapped the trigger, not knowing it was loaded. The bullet entered Selter's abdomen. Selter was taken to the Homeopathic hospital and Bain to Central station. The bullet cut an artery in Selter's abdomen, causing internal hemorrhages, and his death is imminent.

Selter recently bought a new 32-caliber revolver. He was employed as an exhibitor by the Trusett Boat Company and Bain worked in the same capacity for the Horne-Stewart Company's exhibit. The stands are opposite each other in the exposition building. Selter called Bain over to examine the revolver. He took the cartridges out and handed the weapon to Bain. Bain looked at it and returned it to Selter, who put the cartridges in the chambers. Bain did not see him reload the weapon and he took it from Selter again.

He had the revolver pointed toward Selter and snapped the trigger, not knowing it was loaded. The bullet entered Selter's stomach and he fell on the floor. The report of the shot and the groans of Selter caused considerable excitement in the building. At the hospital Selter said the shooting was accidental. Bain will be released on bail this morning. Bain is a son of John Bain, a jeweler at 1014 Wylie avenue. He told the police that he lived for a time on an Oklahoma ranch and is familiar with weapons.

MEETS HER WITH GUN.

Woman Alleges Husband Tried to Kill Her When He Hears She Wanted Divorce.

The report is that on learning his wife had gone to town to consult a lawyer about securing a divorce from him, G. W. Holmes, a stone contractor of 955 College avenue, East End, got his revolver and awaited her return home, when it is alleged he intended to give her the separation she sought. Only the presence of a neighbor, who frustrated the husband's attempt to shoot his wife, saved her, but Mrs. Holmes alleges she received a severe beating.

Holmes was arrested yesterday by Special Officer Barry and given a hearing before Magistrate Negley on a charge of pointing firearms. He furnished $300 bail for court. Mrs. Holmes is considerably younger than her husband.

THIRTY-EIGHT THOUSAND MEN ON STRIKE IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—The electrical workers' strike shows no signs at any point of a settlement being reached. Today the strike extended to two more factories, and the total number of men now out is 38,000. Enough men have been obtained to supply a current sufficient to keep two-thirds of the street cars going.

TWO SUB-MAIL STATIONS TO BE ESTABLISHED HERE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(Special.)—Representative Dalzell called at the postoffice department today and requested the establishment of two sub-stations of the Pittsburgh office, one at Homewood and the other at Rankin. Favorable action will be taken on the application by the department.

Jerry Simpson Dying.

WICHITA, KAS., Oct. 3.—Former Congressman Jerry Simpson, who was brought here yesterday from Roswell, N. M., and placed in a hospital, is in a critical condition, and is not expected to live through the night.

HYDE WANTS PROTECTION BEFORE HE TESTIFIES

ASK LEAVE TO BRING ACTION

Policyholders of New York Life Desire to Sue Its Officers.

THEY DEMAND RESTITUTION

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Permission to begin suit against John A. McCall, president, and George W. Perkins, vice president, of the New York Life Insurance Company, for the restitution of $150,000 contributed to Republican campaign funds, was asked of Attorney General Mayer today by William Hepburn Russell, acting as attorney for several policyholders.

Mr. Russell said the suit would be based on the contention the money paid the national Republican committee was expended by McCall and Perkins without corporate authority. He declared that he intended also to sue for the restitution of $225,000 which Mr. McCall testified had been placed in the hands of Andrew Hamilton of Albany. The policyholders represented by Mr. Russell are Walter Goodyear, Lemuel D. Lilly and William B. Winslow.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 3.—Attorney General Mayer this evening received the letter of William Hepburn Russell asking permission in behalf of policy-holders to sue the officers of the New York Life Insurance Company for the restoration of moneys contributed to campaign funds. Mr. Russell says:

We are convinced the only way in which the very grave public question involved in this matter can ever be satisfactorily disposed of is through an action in the right of policyholders brought in behalf of the New York Life Insurance Company to compel its officers and directors to account for their misuse of the corporate funds in their hands.

We do not always believe an action by attorney general can reach this specific evil and we, therefore, ask you to consent to the institution by us, in behalf of our clients and other policy holders as may join with them, of suits or action.

The New York Life Insurance Company, in its corporate capacity, may be named as party defendant if we substitute our action as an action in equity, but in that event it will be only a nominal defendant, as the policyholders will sue in its behalf and solely to compel the return to its treasury of funds which have been wrongfully diverted therefrom.

Attorney General Mayer also received today a copy of a demurrer filed by James H. Hyde, former vice president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, to the blanket suit brought by the state against the old directors of the company, to compel restitution of moneys alleged to have been wrongfully converted by the board.

Mr. Hyde declares that scarcely any of the allegations contained in the complaint state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action. He holds further, that the attorney general made a fatal mistake in not making the policyholders and stockholders of the society parties defendant, and alleges that the causes of action are improperly formed.

GOVERNMENT SEIZES A PITTSBURGHER'S RING

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 3.—Before Judge Tayler in the United States court today J. W. Friend of Pittsburgh claimed that the court had no jurisdiction over one of the valuable rings taken from him, and ordered sold by United States Marshal Chandler with other jewelry belonging to Mrs. Chadwick. The government denied the claim, stating that the gem was seized in Cleveland. Friend's diamond ring was smuggled into this country, the government claims, by Mrs. Chadwick and hence it will be sold at public auction with the rest of her smuggled valuables.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 3.—The petition for a writ of error for Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, charged with bank wrecking and convicted at Cleveland of conspiracy to defraud, was heard in the United States circuit court of appeals whose fall term opened here today.

Judges Lurton, Severance and Richards were on the bench when the case was called, after the hearing of a number of minor miscellaneous motions. Attorney J. P. Dawley at once began the argument in support of the petition of Mrs. Chadwick. District Attorney J. J. Sullivan, of Cleveland was present to contest the petition.

GETS EVEN WITH BANK AND WINS BET BESIDES

It Costs Vandergrift Heights Woman Her Pin Money and Two Geese, but She Turns the Trick.

ST. LOUIS, MO., Oct. 3.—Mrs. Caroline A. Phillips, wife of a Vandergrift Heights (Pa.) farmer, today departed for Vandergrift Heights with $20 she had recovered from the alleged fraudulent Peoples United States bank, incidentally winning a $2 bet.

As she cashed her check at a trust company she said: "About a year ago I sent $500, my savings of a long time on the farm, to Mr. Lewis to buy stock in his bank. Everything went smoothly until about two months ago, when we began hearing the bank had busted. Some of the town folks kept tellin' me I'd lost my money, but I knew to the contrary and finally I offered to bet I'd get my money back.

"I put up what money I had, and two geese in the bargain. It all comes to $12. Then I came to St. Louis and went to Mr. Lewis and he gave me a check and I signed my name on the certificate and we're even."

Will Not Appear Before Inquisitors Unless Attended by Counsel.

PLEADS HIS YOUTH

RAISES THIN POINT OF LAW

Declares It Is Instructed to Report to a Body Which Has No Existence as Yet, and That It Establishes Dangerous Precedent, If Sustained.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Samuel Untermyer, counsel for James H. Hyde, today gave out for publication a letter addressed by him to Charles E. Hughes, of the insurance investigating committee, in which he says:

"Referring to your request that Mr. Hyde voluntarily appear as a witness before the joint committee appointed by the defunct legislature of 1905 to investigate the affairs of life insurance companies, I have advised Mr. Hyde your committee is without power or jurisdiction to make the investigation in which you are engaged.

"You have no doubt observed the resolution authorizing the investigation, directs the committee shall, after the adjournment of the extraordinary session at which is was passed and after the body of which it is a part ceased to exist, proceed with the investigation for the purpose of reporting 'to the next session of the legislature.'

"My opinion is based on the proposition that the assembly, at least, has no power to direct an investigation (1) to be held after its adjournment, and (2) for the express purpose of reporting to a future legislature not yet selected, and which can have no existence until 1907.

A Dangerous Possibility.

"Either house may investigate when in session, either directly or through a committee of its number, for the purpose of informing itself as to pending or contemplated legislation by it, and for that purpose only. If such an investigation may be conducted for the information of the legislature of 1907, why not for that of 1917? The question has never been before the courts so far as I can learn. If the precedent contended for can be established, it will point the way to a dangerous invasion of private rights.

"We appreciate, however, the pending inquiry, though unauthorized and irregular, will prove wholesome and in the public interest, and that, if continued on the same lines, much of the responsibility for existing conditions, which has been most unjustly placed upon Mr. Hyde, will be fixed where it properly belongs. The bulk of the subject matter of the inquiry, so far as concerns the Equitable society, relates to practices and conditions that antedated by many years his active connection with the society, of which he has no knowledge and which seems to have been continued under the administration with which he subsequently became identified.

Hyde Demands Protection.

"Mr. Hyde instructs me to say that he is willing to assist the inquiry by voluntarily appearing as a witness and in any other way that may be found desirable, provided the rights of his and his father's estate can be reasonably safeguarded.

"It is hardly necessary to remind you that this inquiry is not being conducted subject to any rules of laws, and that the witnesses are without protection or representation except such as may be accorded them by counsel for the committee. Civil suits have been begun and are pending, by the attorney general and private citizens against Mr. Hyde, others are threatened against him and against the estate in which his mother and sister are interested, based upon some of the transactions which have been made the subject matter of your inquiry.

"Unlike the other insurance companies under investigation, the affairs of the Equitable have already been exploited as the result of internal dissensions between the officers. Mr. Hyde has, as you know, been examined at great length in a secret proceeding by a hostile superintendent of insurance, the main purpose and effect of which seems to have been to misrepresent and exaggerate his connection with the transactions under investigation, and to shield others on whom the responsibility rested.

Pleads His Youth.

"On that investigation, Mr. Hyde was refused the right to the presence of counsel at the hearing, although the superintendent had counsel to conduct the 'star chamber' proceedings.

"As the result of this performance, and of statements made before your committee which have not yet been rebutted to the tests of cross examination, Mr. Hyde has been grossly misrepresented and injured in the public esteem for his supposed connection with transactions for which he is not responsible—except for having trusted to older and more experienced men. He is not willing to repeat that experience now in another form before your committee.

"He is prepared to waive all legal objections in appearing and to tell your committee fully and frankly everything he knows, except as to matters that are embraced in pending litigation, on condition that your committee will, in common fairness, accord him the right of being represented, advised and re-examined by counsel.

"It is not right, and I hope it is not the purpose of your committee to use this ex-parte and, to my mind, unauthorized proceeding to gather evidence in support of pending or impending suits. Such methods are contrary to our institutions and sense of fairness.

"I do not for a moment suggest you would make use of Mr. Hyde's offer to appear before you for any such improper purpose, but in view of the grave inju-representations to which this young man has been subjected, and the fact he has never yet had an opportunity of explaining his position, I think it but right we should have some understanding as is here outlined.

"If, therefore, Mr. Hyde may have the benefit of counsel at the hearing, and on your assurance that his examination will not include the subject matter of the pending suits, he will appear for examination at any time next week that may be fixed by you."

CARSON, NEV., Oct. 3.—State Controller and Insurance Commissioner S. F. Davis today revoked the license of the New York Life Insurance Company in this state. Agents are given two weeks to close the records.

Congress Should Rule, Says Garfield.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 3.—Under his signature in a Cleveland newspaper, James H. Garfield, United States commissioner of corporations, writes on the insurance scandal and suggests a remedy for existing evils. He says in part:

The rapid development of insurance business, its extent, the enormous amount of money and the diversity of interests involved and the present business methods suggest that under existing conditions insurance is commerce and may be subjected to federal regulations through affirmative action by congress. The whole question is receiving most careful consideration upon both legal and economic grounds.

Possible congressional actions are:

Compulsory federal incorporation of interstate commerce companies. This is probably legally practicable, but it involves radical industrial and political changes by the centralization of power in the federal government, and presents serious difficulties because of its effect upon the authority of the states over such corporations in matters of taxation and local regulation. Any optional law of this character would not overcome these difficulties.

Federal license or franchise for interstate commerce. Legally this is practicable; it avoids the legal difficulties of national incorporation as well as the practical one of centralization of power, and gives the national government direct regulation of the agencies of interstate and foreign commerce.

I, therefore, beg to suggest that congress be requested to consider the advisability of enacting a law for the legislative regulation of interstate and foreign commerce under a license or franchise which in general terms should provide as follows:

(a) The granting of a federal franchise or license to engage in interstate commerce. (b) The imposition of all necessary requirements as to corporate organization and management as a condition precedent to the grant of such franchise or license. (c) The requirement of such reports and returns as may be desired as a condition of the retention of such franchise or license. (d) The prohibition of all corporations and corporate agencies from engaging in interstate and foreign commerce without such federal franchise or license. (e) The full protection of the grantees of such franchise or license who obey the laws applicable thereto. (f) The right to refuse or withdraw such franchise or license in case of violation of law, with appropriate right of judicial appeal to prevent abuse of power by the administrative officer.

PLUMMER WILL HAVE MAJORITY OF 100,000

Chairman Andrews Says Reports Make It Certain Berry's Defeat Will Be Overwhelming.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3.—Col. Wesley R. Andrews, Republican state chairman, today said that his reports made it certain that J. Lee Plummer, Republican candidate for state treasurer, would have a majority of 100,000, exclusive of the majority he will receive in Philadelphia.

"Plummer will come to Philadelphia with at least 100,000 votes ahead of Berry," said Chairman Andrews. "If my estimate should be revised before election day, it will only be to increasing this estimate in Plummer's favor.

"I do not care to make any forecast on the Philadelphia campaign. I am not managing it and have no details bearing on the local situation.

"There is practically no opposition to the Republican state ticket. An effort has been made to create sentiment against Mr. Plummer, but it has failed.

Senator Penrose and the other local leaders are delighted at the evidence of co-operation by the Germans. Every German newspaper is supporting the Republican candidates, and the German-Americans, almost without exception, are enthusiastic in their work for its success. City party campaigners came to grief in the Tenth ward tonight. With a band, regalia and speakers, in two tally-ho coaches, they drove up in front of the residence of Senator James P. McNichol and sang: "Hail, hail, the gang's all here. The crowd in the street, 1,000 strong, cheered for McNichol. A block away the orators got busy, but before they could say "John Weaver" or "John Wanamaker" the air was full of rotten eggs, moving swiftly toward the tally-hos. Horses were whipped into a gallop and the reformers rushed to safety. The first effort to capture the "Tenth" was a failure.

PLAN PUBLIC RECEPTION.

United Boys' Brigade Will be at Home at the Eighteenth's Armory Saturday Evening.

An informal public reception on Saturday evening, at the Eighteenth regiment's armory, Craft avenue and Forbes street, will be a feature of the national convention of the United Boys' brigades of America.

The convention opens here Friday and continues through Saturday and Sunday.

The officers of the national organization, particularly Lieut.-Gen. H. P. Bope, the commander-in-chief, and Adjt.-Gen. John A. Clark have devoted much of their time the past few days to the work of preparing for the convention. It is realized that much good will result from the gathering together of so many bright, young boys and the convention will more than repay the efforts that are being put forth for its success.

The organization has as its supporters and promoters some of the most prominent men of the community. Among its directors are Prof. John A. Brashear, Col. Albert J. Logan, Albert J. Barr, Albert A. Horne, the Rev. Dr. William J. Holland, Col. Homer J. Lindsay and Charles M. Schwab.

ALL BEAVER PAYS A LAST RESPECT

BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTES PAID

Special Telegram From
JEROME J. NORDMAN, Staff Correspondent.

BEAVER, Oct. 3.—As today's setting sun slowly drooped its head in the western horizon and cast its shadows over Beaver cemetery, the silhouette of one lone grave stood out boldly, as a sentinel on guard, over that of a newer one. The first was the grave of Matthew Stanley Quay, the second was that of his lifelong friend, the man who nominated him to the highest office within the gift of the commonwealth—for Capt. John Fleming Dravo lies buried in the shdow of the last resting place of Pennsylvania's deceased United States senator.

Nearby, the spade of the grave-digger has made the earth yawn for another. One who was a companion from early boyhood of the two who lie peacefully asleep tonight. Ere another day's setting sun will have disappeared in the west, he will come and lie with them in eternity, for the body of former Judge Henry Hice is cold in death in his former home here.

All Beaver mourned today, and all Western Pennsylvania mourned with her in their mutual loss. Business was suspended in the valley and special trains from all sections brought sincere mourners who found honor in paying a last tribute to Capt. Dravo.

There was an impressiveness about the funeral services in the handsome Beaver Methodist church this afternoon that falls of description. A pathos prevailed that is beyond expression. Long before the church was opened hundreds had gathered about the doors and when admittance was permitted the 1,200 seating capacity of the structure was inadequate.

Aged Widow at Services.

Immediately following the casket as it was brought into the church, came two men carrying the 86-year-old enfeebled widow, in a rocking chair. Throughout the entire service Mrs. Dravo sat in the chair at the front of the center aisle with the casket directly in front of her. When the services were being concluded by the singing of Mr. Dravo's favorite hymn, "I Am Going Home to Die No More," Mrs. Dravo was carried to the coffin and sat beside it as the major portion of the congregation filed past. Her tears flowed freely, and the pathos of it all dimmed the eyes of the few who hitherto had had strength to check their emotions.

In the midst of a great bank of exquisite floral pieces which surrounded the pulpit was placed a huge bouquet, picked from the garden of Capt. Dravo, and sent to the church in accord with his last and dying request.

In the words of the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Appleton Bash, during his address, Mr. Dravo's last desire was: "Don't forget the flowers for the church." For 30 years Mr. Dravo had sent a huge bouquet of flowers to ornament the pulpit of the church during each Sunday service, and he sought to have this perpetuated.

As the double quartet arose to sing the opening hymn all available space in the church had been taken. The "Funeral Express," a special train on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad which left at 12:30 o'clock, and upon which no fare was asked, brought 150 clergymen, 75 representatives of the Coal exchange and a large delegation from the chamber of commerce. The Merrill Dam Celebration association was represented by a large delegation, as was Beaver college and other institutions.

Tribute from the Rev. C. M. Smith.

Following prayer by the Rev. Dr. E. J. Knox of Greensburg and Scripture readings by the Rev. Drs. J. H. Bausman and Arthur Satples, president of Beaver college, the Rev. Dr. C. W. Smith, editor of the Christian Advocate delivered an interesting address on the life of Capt. Dravo as he had known it through 40 years of intimate association. He spoke of his rugged honesty, manliness, frankness and sterling Christianity. He said in part:

"If I were not afraid of being misunderstood I would call him a saint. We have wrong conceptions of what a saint is. We associated a saint with the cloister and a secluded life. To my mind a saint is a man who goes into life's battles and clings to faith under all conditions. He was active in the business world. He was in politics—and that is a perilous venture. He went in and came out with hands so clean that no one can even suggest that he held anything that was not his right. He bore no one ill will. If a friend needed money or prayers, John Dravo was always there to give him either. He gathered some religious opinions and associated science with religion in some ways which did not meet the accord of all his ministerial friends, but no such opinion touched upon his Christian character."

The Rev. Dr. H. L. Chapman of Aspinwall was the next speaker and told of meeting Capt. Dravo for the first time in 1856. He was his pastor in McKeesport for many years, dating from 1866. He told of the love the deceased had for business, for nature, for flowers, for books, for science and for Christianity. He told of his love for humanity and philanthropy and confirmed Dr. Smith's statement that his beliefs in religion did not always conform to strict theology, but that they were noble thoughts.

Mr. Dravo's Religious Belief.

Dr. Bash, who made the concluding address, and who has been Capt. Dravo's pastor for the past six years, also mentioned the fact of his individual beliefs on religion and said:

"If Mr. Dravo had been asked the chief purpose of religion, he would have said 'the chief purpose is to glorify God.' If he were asked the essence, he would have said 'unselfishness.' If asked the beginning of religion he would have said 'the kinship of all men.'"

In referring to his talks with Mr. Dravo while he lay upon his deathbed, during the last conversation the pastor asked the dying man if he had any message to send his Sunday school class relative to his comfort. He replied that he was at perfect peace and was prepared to close his eyes. A few moments later he supplemented this by adding: "What a pity it is, though, that I must go now, for in the next 20 years far greater events will transpire than have taken place in the last 50 years, and I'd like to live and see them."

The service at the grave was a simple one and was held in the presence of about 50 persons. Mrs. Dravo appears to be suffering her loss keenly and was in very feeble condition tonight.

The honorary pallbearers were from the chamber of commerce and the coal exchange. Those from the chamber were: President John Eaton, Col. T. P. Roberts, Maj. P. Burchfield, and Secretary George H. Anderson. Those from the coal exchange were: Capt. W. B. Rodgers, Capt. S. S. Crump, Capt. John A. Wood and J. B. Finley. The active pallbearers were Albert G. Russell, Frederick Davidson, William P. McConnell, Winfield S. Moore, Dr. J. Burt Armstrong, James W. McKenzie, Julius F. Kurtz and Homer P. Hartley.

PLOT AGAINST GERMAN RULE.

Nephew of Gen. DeWet Arrested for Attempting to Form a New Boer Republic in Southwest Africa.

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—Andrew DeWet, nephew of the famous Boer general, Christian DeWet, has been arrested at his residence in a suburb of Windhoek, German Southwest Africa, with four other Boers, accused of plotting the overthrow of German rule in Southwest Africa, and create a Boer republic.

Andrew DeWet, who is a merchant of Windhoek, is described as having arranged with the rebel natives to make common cause with them. About 15,000 Boers are said to be in German Southwest Africa, one-quarter of whom are organized. Considerable quantities of arms were seized at DeWet's house.

SILENT WELCOME TO CONFERENCE

Methodist Episcopal Ministers Gather in Session, but Capt. Dravo Cannot Greet Them.

REFERENCE TO APPOINTMENTS

Special Telegram From
JEROME J. NORDMAN, Staff Correspondent.

BEAVER, PA., Oct. 3.—When the eighty-second session of Pittsburgh conference of the Methodist Episcopal church assembled here tonight to celebrate the eightieth anniversary of its organization (for two semi-annual meetings have been held) and those in attendance consulted the program, the first line to greet the eye read:

7:30 p. m. Welcome—Hon. John F. Dravo.

Absolute silence reigned among the audience, which numbered 800, as the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Appelton Bash, stepped forward almost upon the very spot where the remains of the one who was to have offered the welcome, had lain in state just a few hours before.

In a few brief words he told of Mr. Dravo's love for the Beaver church and how he had invited conference to assemble in it. He spoke of the summons that called him away last Saturday and asked those assembled to accept a welcome such as he would have given.

The Rev. Dr. B. F. Beazell of Coraopolis, presided, and addresses were delivered by the Rev. Dr. C. W. Smith, of the Christian Advocate, and the Rev. Dr. T. N. Eaton, of the South Avenue church, Wilkinsburg, while messages of greeting were delivered by the Rev. Dr. C. H. Richardson, of the Baltimore conference; the Rev. Dr. A. C. Ellis of the Erie conference; the Rev. J. M. Carr of the East Ohio conference, and the Rev. Dr. Isaac Cook of the Ohio conference.

Much laughter was created when Dr. Richardson, of the Baltimore conference, referred to the almost unprecedented action of Bishop Fowler during last year's conference, when he reappointed Presiding Elder T. N. Boyle for five years by transferring him from the Pittsburgh to the Allegheny district. This was made possible by sending Presiding Elder G. W. Terbush, of the Allegheny district, to the Washington district, and bringing Presiding Elder James Mechem from that district to Pittsburgh. By this move the time of each of the three elders was extended and the church law holding that no presiding elder may succeed himself, was not violated.

Dr. Richardson said: "I was glad when I was appointed to come here, because my term as presiding elder expires next April, and there is something in learning how to stay in when you once get there. I consider this a rare opportunity for me to learn some things. Now is my time to have a few private talks with your presiding elders on how I might land."

Dr. Cook told of the loss of a valuable church friend, while he was pastor in Nebraska, but how this loss was recompensed in measure by the election of "Anti-ball-room-Micky" as governor of the state. He referred to "Anti-graft Folk of Missouri" and "Anti-Saloon Hanley" of Indiana, and concluded these remarks by referring to the anti-saloon fight being waged against Governor Herrick of Ohio. He stated that he was "not in politics," but that "in Ohio Methodist pastors are citizens."

Dr. Smith delivered a historical review of the conference since its organization in the old Smithfield street church, in September, 1825. He told of the men who organized the body and the various divisions which have been made in the original territory to accommodate new conferences. Originally the membership of the territory was 18,000; it now numbers 250,612 communicants. Forty-four churches have grown to 902, and present church property is valued at $12,665,255.

Bishop Earl Cranston who will preside over the conference beginning this morning, arrived here tonight, but did not attend this evening's service. The Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley, of the New York Christian Advocate, also arrived and will deliver an address tomorrow morning on "The Value of Church Publications to the Denomination." A feature of this evening's service was the singing of a mixed chorus of 20 voices.

UNITED STATES STEEL EARNINGS ARE REDUCED

Holidays and the Hot Weather Played Havoc With the Big Corporation Last Quarter.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The net earnings of the United States Steel Corporation for the quarter ending Saturday last are likely to be somewhat below the highest estimates heretofore made. This is due, according to an official of the corporation, to the holidays of the quarter—July 4 and Labor day—and the extraordinary heat of a part of July and August. The losses in time due to these causes have been great enough, in his opinion, to reduce final net earnings from $760,000 to $1,500,000 below the amount that otherwise would have been possible.

The fourth quarter's net will also be cut into through holidays. Thanksgiving and Christmas will occasion the closing down of practically all the plants from 12 to 24 hours.

Aside from these causes net returns for the three months, October, November and December, should average around $11,000,000 monthly. The steel corporation enters the quarter with all plants running full capacity and with price schedules slowly advancing. With an average of $11,000,000 net per month for the quarter this will rank as the best fourth quarter since the corporation was organized. Its high record fourth quarter up to now is that of 1902.

The corporation's export trade for the year will be close to 1,000,000 tons of all kinds of products. Its domestic tonnage in nearly all lines will be larger than in 1902 and 1903. This quarter, prices for all the first quarter of 1906 will be fixed. In every instance the tendency will be upward and actual advances will be authorized in many lines.

TWO NEW DIRECTORS.

George C. Smith and Col. H. G. Prout Added to Airbrake Board.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company yesterday at Wilmerding, the following were elected: President, George Westinghouse; directors, George Westinghouse, Robert Pitcairn, H. H. Westinghouse, John Caldwell, E. M. Herr, George C. Smith and H. G. Prout.

Mr. Smith and Col. Prout are new members of the board. Mr. Smith is at the head of the Security Investment Company and Col. Prout is vice president of the Union Switch and Signal Company.

Allegheny's Surveys Committee.

The surveys committee of Allegheny councils last night referred to the city solicitor the ordinance providing for the vacation of Church avenue from Federal street to Cedar avenue. The intention is to widen Stockton avenue to a width of 55 feet between Federal street and Union avenue and to close up Church avenue and use it for park purposes. A measure authorizing the widening of Allegheny avenue between Juniata and Sedgewick streets to a width of 47 feet was reported affirmatively.

GOOD TREATMENT ASSURED CHINESE

LONG SESSION AT WHITE HOUSE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The most interesting subject discussed at the cabinet meeting today were the Chinese boycott against American goods and the consideration of complaints made by the exclusion laws. The important fact developed was that the president's effort last summer to allay the indignation of the Chinese by a circular of instructions to the American minister to China and consular officers therein had in a measure failed of its purpose, and required considerable amendment to secure the object sought. Minister Rockhill reported that it had not been found possible to carry out the instructions contained in the circular without doing great injustice to worthy Chinese and imposing burdens too heavy to be borne upon the American consuls.

Being freshly back from the orient, Secretary Taft took a prominent part in the discussion of this matter when it was broached by Secretary Root, and presented some of the results of his observations on his recent trip. It developed that the requirements that Americans consuls identify the Chinese seeking certificates admitting them to American ports imposed a task upon these officials beyond their ability. The Chinese applicant frequently came from some place far distant from the American consulate, and the consul was consequently obliged to refuse to indentify as proper persons to be admitted to the United States many very worthy Chinese, which, of course, led to bitter complaint and fostered the boycott feeling.

Then a Chinese merchant who desires to send his son as shop assistant to a branch store in the United States, with a view to ultimately admitting the son to partnership, found that the boy was barred on the charge that he was a coolie.

Chinese living in the British and French and Portugese Asiatic colonies, being really citizens of those nations, did not see why they could not be admitted to America under proper passports instead of being required to produce the unpopular certificates. These were only a few of the complaints made against the administration of the existing exclusion law.

The trend of opinion in the cabinet meeting was that these complaints after all were directed rather against the construction placed upon the law than against the act itself, and especially against the definition given in California to the term coolie; so it was practically decided that some important changes in the present regulations must be made.

Today's session was the first regular meeting of the cabinet held for some months, and it was one of the longest held during the administration of President Roosevelt.

EXPLODES A BOMBSHELL

tween the Wabash and the Missouri Pacific might be stifled as a result of the meeting to be held in Toledo, when Mr. Ramsey himself knows the stock and bonds have been thus voted for the last 10 years, and there has been no suggestion on his part that competition might be stifled.

"There also may be a question raised at the trial as to whether Mr. Ramsey actually owns the stock he claims. Regarding the Iron Mountain, there is no allegation in the petition that it is a competing line with either the Missouri Pacific or the Wabash, and as the entire petition is founded upon stifling of competition, there is really no reason for the Iron Mountain to be made a defendant. The only allegations regarding the Iron Mountain is that the Missouri Pacific controls a majority of its stock, and it makes no difference whether this is true or not."

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—George J. Gould was asked in this city today what effect the granting of the St. Louis injunction would have upon the future of himself and his associates.

"I will not discuss the matter," he replied.

President Ramsey made the following statement in answer to the report that the Gould estate held 40 per cent of the Wabash voting securities:

"Outside of Russell Sage, there is not a Gould director of the Wabash holding more than just enough Wabash stock to qualify as a member of the board. Instead of owning 40 per cent of the voting securities of the Wabash, the entire holdings of the Gold estate will not exceed 12 per cent of the outstanding stock of the debenture bonds."

THORN IS BROUGHT BACK.

Alleged Burglar, Wanted for Speer Robbery, Arrives in Custody of Detective—Jewelry Located.

Detective Edward McGough arrived in this city yesterday with Jackson B. Thorne from Newark, N. J., who is wanted here for the robbery of some jewelry from J. McK. Speer of 1210 Beechwood boulevard, April 5. Detective McGough located in New York most of the jewelry stolen from the Speer residence, and it will be recovered later.

Thorn was arrested at Montclair, N. J., about two weeks ago for robbing a residence. His photograph was sent to this city and was identified by the servants at the Speer residence, who let Thorn into the house on the afternoon of the robbery.

Thorn represented himself as a relative of the family and was asked to remain until the family returned. He consented and said he wanted to wash his hands, as he had been on the train all day. He was shown to the bathroom and this was the last seen of him. While upstairs he ransacked the bureau drawers and secured about $3,000 worth of jewels. In his search he brushed aside a $12,500 necklace. Thorn comes from East Mercer, Pa.

INDIGNATION MEETING.

Sharpsburg Citizens Will Protest Tonight Against Grants to Railroad.

An indignation meeting will be held by Sharpsburg citizens tonight to protest against the passage of an ordinance by the borough council for the vacation of three streets and the water works property, to permit the Pennsylvania railroad to build yards and tracks on the river front.

The company offers to pay the borough $75,000 and to give it a wharfage of 500 feet, but this is not deemed sufficient. The ordinance has passed two readings in councils. The railroad tracks are to be elevated 16 feet and the dissatisfied citizens claim this will form a dike that will flood the borough whenever Pine creek overflows.

ALLEGHENY COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS MEET

A joint district convention of the Sunday school teachers of Allegheny county was held last night in the Central Presbyterian church, Allegheny. The Rev. J. Allison Platts presided. The Rev. Charles A. Oliver, state superintendent of teachers' training work, made the principal address. Other speakers were, the Rev. Wallace Thorp, of the First Christian church of Allegheny, and D. W. Wylie, chairman of the executive committee of the Allegheny County Sabbath School association. All the talks pertained to the work of the teachers in the Sunday school.

GEN. GOMEZ IS HERE ON VISIT

Fire-Eating Liberal Leader of Cuba Probably Has a Secret Mission.

SAYS HE WANTS ONLY REST

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Gen. Jose Miguel Gomez, the governor of Santa Clara province, Cuba, who recently resigned as the Liberal candidate for the presidency of Cuba in opposition to President Palma, arrived here today on the steamer Monterey. He will remain in this country about two weeks.

Asked if he would call on President Roosevelt, Gen. Gomez replied he did not expect to.

When informed of the report that he came on a mission to ask American intervention in Cuban politics, Gen. Gomez replied with an emphatic "no."

Gen. Gomez said he did not know whether the Liberal party would place a candidate in the field in December to contest the election with President Palma, the candidate of the Moderate party. The national convention of the party, held last Sunday, refused to accept Gen. Gomez's resignation, but he as yet had not been so informed, as he sailed before the convention met. Therefore he was not prepared to say what would be his future course.

Gen. Gomez is accompanied only by O. Ferrara, a lawyer of Havana. He said all the jails in Santa Clara province were filled with political prisoners. Mr. Ferrara is a political leader on the island and is reported to be one of Cuba's constitutional authorities and an orator of the Liberal party. He professed a lack of knowledge of English when questioned on politics.

One of the largest sugar manufacturers in this city and Cuba who arrived on Monterey, said it was the well-founded belief of all the passengers, after the gossip on the trip, and even before the steamer sailed from Havana, that Gen. Gomez was on a secret mission and that he would call upon President Roosevelt before he returned to Cuba.

BODY OF STRANGLED CHILD HIDDEN IN STOLEN BUGGY

Detectives Unable to Learn the Identity of Persons Who Placed It There.

The city detectives are unable to learn anything concerning the identity of an unknown dead infant whose body was found in the back of a buggy at Sixth avenue and Grant street early yesterday morning. The infant was about nine months old, and it is thought it was strangled to death.

The buggy was in possession of John Duffell, of 506 Wylie avenue. It is alleged that Duffell took the horse and rig from Michael Fifer, of 805 Carson street, South Side. Manuel Caffen told Deputy Coroner George Mercer at the morgue that a man had tried to sell him a horse and rig. Mercer went to investigate and found Duffell. While talking to him the back of the buggy collapsed and a bundle fell out.

Mercer examined the bundle and found the body of the infant wrapped up in it. Duffell denied knowing anything about the infant, and said the buggy had been given him by Fifer. The latter denies this, and said he did not know the horse had been taken until notified by the police. Duffell is being held for larceny of the horse and buggy. The detectives were unable to get any clue as to where or when the body of the infant was placed in the buggy.

The dead body of James Brown of the East End, was found in front of the Ft. Wayne railroad station at Ambridge last night by [illegible] the station agent. The man had been killed by a train. A passbook on the East End Savings and Trust Company and another on the First National bank of Rochester were found in the pockets of the man's clothing. The body was taken to Prinzi's undertaking establishment at Ambridge.

John Connelly, aged 5, of 2212 Fifth avenue, was struck by a Homestead and Braddock street car last night at 9:20 o'clock, on Forbes street, near Brady. He was so severely injured that he died an hour later at the Mercy hospital.

George O'Neill, aged one year, of 19 South Twelfth street, died at the home of his parents yesterday from burns received 10 days ago by pulling a pot of hot coffee on himself. He was sitting at the supper table with his parents when the accident occurred.

SCHOOL CONTROLLERS ELECT MANY TEACHERS

Joseph M. Speer Succeeds Clifford B. Connelly in Allegheny Industrial Schools.

The Allegheny board of school controllers last night elected Joseph M. Speer supervisor of the industrial schools in the city at a salary of $2,100. The position was vacated by Clifford B. Connelly who accepted a professorship in the Carnegie Technical schools. It was decided to locate the office of the industrial supervisor in the high school building.

The report of Supt. John Morrow shows a total of 452 teachers and a total enrollment of 15,777 pupils in the 15 wards. The average attendance is 14,443, an increase of 300 over last year.

The Eleventh ward board reported that arrangements had been completed to open a kindergarten department in rooms 1 and 2 of the school. The following teachers were elected:

MOTORMAN KILLED IN A HEAD ON COLLISION

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—In a head-on collision between two trolley cars on the Mahoning Valley line between here and Struthers early this morning Hugo Wasch, the motorman of the eastbound car, was instantly killed and Claud D. Moore, the motorman of the westbound car, was fatally injured. Several passengers were also hurt. It is thought the wreck was caused by a dense fog which hung over the country at an early hour. The vestibules of the cars were smashed flat.

FOUR LEFT IN COLLEGE TENNIS TOURNAMENT

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3.—The championship in singles in the intercollegiate tennis tournament now in progress on the courts of the Merion Cricket club at Haverford, has narrowed down to F. J. Sullivan and H. H. Whitman of Harvard; K. H. Dole of Yale, and R. R. Dewhurst of the University of Pennsylvania. Owing to a misunderstanding two of Cornell's players thought the tournament started today and they defaulted. C. E. Denman, Cornell, injured an ankle in the preliminary round yesterday and forfeited his match in the first round today. Following is the summary of the day's play:

First round, singles—Dennis, Princeton, defeated M. Thomson, Princeton, 6-2, 6-3. C. E. Denman, Cornell, defaulted to H. H. Whitman, Harvard, 6-2.

Second round, singles—F. J. Sullivan, Harvard, defeated L. H. Richardson, Princeton, 6-2, 6-2; H. H. Whitman, Harvard, defeated M. Thomson, Princeton, 6-3, 6-4; K. H. Dole, Yale, defeated F. R. Smith, Williams, 6-2, 6-1; R. R. Dewhurst, Pennsylvania, defeated H. J. Rendall, Princeton, 6-1, 6-2.

Preliminary round, doubles—Paine and Doughten, Haverford, defaulted to Sanders and Richardson, Princeton; Peltier and Downey, Pennsylvania, defeated Sullivan and Niles, Harvard, 6-4, 6-4; Whitman and Field, Harvard, defeated Smith and Liner, Williams, 6-3, 6-4; Dewhurst and Register, Pennsylvania, defeated Hopple and Holmes, Cornell, 6-3, 6-2.

First round, doubles—Dole and Spalding, Yale, defeated Simonds and Richardson, Princeton, 7-5, 6-4; Rendall and Thoberon, Princeton, defeated Denman and White, Cornell, 7-5, 6-1; Dewhurst and Register, Pennsylvania, defeated Whitman and Field, Harvard, 6-3, 6-3.

LINCOLN PARTY FILES NOMINATION PAPERS

HARRISBURG, Oct. 3.—This was the last day for filing nomination papers of candidates for state office to be voted for in November. Papers were filed by the Lincoln party for the state ticket and also for the regular Republican and Democratic judicial nominees in Philadelphia, for which papers were also filed by the City party.

CHAIRMAN FORD COMPLETES LIST

Names Last of Campaign Committees, While Citizens Party's Chairman Delays.

WOODS HAS THANKLESS TASK

With the appointment of the committee on speakers and meetings, yesterday, Thomas J. Ford, chairman of the Republican county committee, completed the organization of the committees which will be active during the present campaign. There was no difficulty in getting Republicans willing to carry on the onerous work of a campaign; rather it was hard to make selections because of so much available material.

State Senator W. S. Woods, chairman of the Citizens party's committee, has had an entirely different experience. Mr. Woods does not want to appoint men who may decline to serve, and therefore he is following the policy of consulting those whom he would like to name on the executive committee. To his great chagrin, but perhaps not to his surprise, he is meeting with refusals all along the line. Polite excuses are given, but the real reasons are not complimentary to the Citizens party. Senator Woods himself is popular enough, but the real control of the organization rests with E. M. Bigelow, Mayor Hays and J. D. O'Neil.

Besides, it is admitted that the chances for victory for the Citizens are even slimmer than they were a year and a half ago, when the Republican county candidates were elected over the fusion candidates, and many of the men who the Citizens would like to have on their executive committee do not care to ally themselves with a side, which, in their opinion, is bound to lose.

It was expected that Chairman Woods would name the executive committee last Wednesday; then the matter was postponed until Saturday; on that day it was announced that he would give out the list of names yesterday, and yesterday the appointment of the committee was again postponed. Nobody knows when it will be appointed, for with so many refusals to serve confronting him, the Citizens chairman is finding it increasingly difficult to secure the help of the right kind of men.

The list of the committee on speakers and meetings given out yesterday at the Republican headquarters is as follows:

H. J. Wasson, chairman, Pittsburgh; John A. Beatty, Tarentum; George E. Alter, Springdale; W. D. Rodgers, Edgewater; H. M. Scott, Braddock; J. L. Adams, Coraopolis; George J. Campbell, Bellevue; Pier Dannals, Crafton; Charles W. Hamilton, Elizabeth; Edwin Lyon, Sewickley; Robert M. Ewing, Wilkinsburg; V. M. Powell, East Pittsburgh; Stewart M. Cunningham, Turtle Creek; William McJunkin, Oakmont; Arthur L. Over, Osborne; John S. Robb, Jr., Carnegie; Alvin L. Large, Ben Avon; Charles A. Woods and A. L. Pearson, Jr., and Edwin Lyon, Sewickley; J. M. Morrison, Aspinwall; George H. Calvert, Etna; W. H. Simmons, Turtle Creek; M. W. Oliver, C. S. Davis, William J. McDonald and Jesse M. McCreary, all of Allegheny, and Harry Chalmers, Capt. John A. Reel, A. C. Robertson, L. B. Cooke, John B. Moore, Martin Burke, George Plato, W. L. Hardie, Samuel F. Kerr, R. J. Mathews, James F. Richards, Joel Gibbons, Joseph Thomas, John S. Gillespie, Fred Wills, W. E. Allen, F. T. Irwin, William Metcalf, Jr., Harry Diamond, L. W. Bigham, James M. Clark, Perne H. Evans, Matthew Lowrie, James M. Magee, William M. Benham and E. E. Cotton, all of Pittsburgh.

David Kirk, the Twentieth ward reformer, yesterday read Controller Larkin out of the Orphans party, by saying that Larkin was an Orphan no longer. Mr. Kirk, who is also somewhat of a Democrat, is angry because Larkin assisted in helping the Citizens to indorse J. Lee Plummer, the Republican candidate for state treasurer. W. H. Stevenson, the Orphans chairman, says the Orphans will meet on Friday evening and Larkin will be invited to attend.

County Commissioner James A. Clark will fight the mandamus proceedings to oust him as a member of the central board of education from the Twenty-first ward. The petitioners allege Clark cannot legally represent the board because he is county commissioner. Clark denies in his answer that the duties as commissioner are incompatible with that of a member of the board. He also denies that he is occupying the office without authority, and avers that he believes that the office of a member of the central board is not identical with the duties of a school director. It is set forth that at the time of the passage of the act of 1874, declaring what offices are incompatible, the office of a member of the central board was in existence.

The ward chairmen of the Citizens party will meet at 8 p. m. today, to organize the wards. L. S. Levin is the chairman.

Democratic Committee to Meet.

Chairman Henry Meyer, of the Allegheny City Democratic committee, issued a call yesterday for a meeting of the committee for tomorrow night in common council chamber, to perfect district organizations throughout the city.

The Wyman party in Allegheny will open its headquarters in Kenyon's hall, Federal street, today.

Kimball Reports an Increase.

CityAuditor Kimball reported yesterday to the controller's office that he had collected $8,699.09 in August, and $4,693.74 in September from contractors for water used in building houses. The amount collected in the same months of last year were $702.84 and $1,006.91, so the controller claims. The increase is ascribed to contractors being required to pay for the water in advance, instead of after the buildings are completed, as formerly.

Banquet for Prof. Dean's Widow.

A banquet and reception in honor of Mrs. Grace Dean, widow of Prof. Philotus Dean, who was the first director of the Pittsburgh high school, will be given on October 30 by the Dean Pupils' association. The association will meet Friday night to make arrangements. Mrs. Dean was unable to attend the semi-centennial of the high school.

Relief Fund Is Increased.

Treasurer Robinson of Allegheny city, has received a check for $1,775.44 from the state treasurer. The money represents 2 per cent of the total premium receipts of the past six months on fire insurance written in Allegheny, and will be placed to the credit of the Allegheny fire department relief fund.

VALUABLE LAND IS IN DISPUTE

Sixty-Two Persons File Ejectment Suit for Possession of 219 Acres Worth $500,000.

ALLEGE NO RECORD OF TITLE

In a suit for ejectment just brought in the local courts succeeds, the possession of 219 acres, valued at $500,000 at least, will pass from the dozen or so present owners to the heirs of the original owners of the land. The suit is brought by Attorney A. E. Goss on behalf of the 62 heirs. The papers were filed on Saturday.

The particular test case brought by Mr. Goss involves the title to but 15 of the 219 acres. The suit is brought against Mrs. Emily Doak, a wealthy widow who lives at 219 North Highland avenue. The other owners of the entire tract are said to hold titles similar to Mrs. Doak's, and the allegation in the suit is that the titles are invalid because no deed from the original owners of the land, who died without making a will, or of their sole heir, who also died intestate, can be shown. The entire tract adjoins Lincoln park, at the northeastern edge of the city, and all the acreage is just outside the city limits.

The alleged fact that the title to the Doak property is defective came to the knowledge of the heirs through the attempt of a man named Thomas to buy the 15 acres from Mrs. Doak. It is said that Thomas had the title examined, the search showing that J. W. Doak, the late husband of Mrs. Doak, acquired the property in 1868 by warranty deed from James E. Sheridan and wife. The court house records are silent as to how Sheridan and his wife got the land.

Mr. Doak paid, according to the deed, $900 for the 15 acres, which are now worth at least $50,000. Later Doak got from one of the heirs a quit-claim to that heir's one-sixth interest in the 15-acres bought from Sheridan.

These are the 62 heirs alleged to be the real owners of the Doak tract and constructively, therefore, of the whole of the 219 acres, now in possession of various persons. They are: Hugh Simons, justice of the peace at Hoboken; Felix H. Negley, William H. Negley, Mary Esler, Hugh Ireland, Sarah Steen, Thomas Ireland, Samuel Ireland, Sophia Wigley, Lilie Jones, Albert Dripps, Walter, Raymond and Dawson Dripps, Blanche Rickenbaugh, William Preston, James Preston, Jr., Jennie Shearer, Jennie, Howard E., Harry and Clara Ireland, Caroline McCune, William D. Ireland, Caroline Rodgers, James Montgomery, Jennie B. Neres, Eva Mick, Lizzie Ireland, Charles C. Ireland, Mabel Mason, Stella, Eva, James B., John T., Robert S. Alfred C., Frank, Ann, James, Henrietta, William J., Emma, John, Anis, Mary and Hugh Ireland, Emma Longford, Anna Wentley, Robert, James, John, William G., and Albert Simons, M. Emma Kennedy, A. L. Gibson, Jennie E. Lefever, Clara M. Duff, Homer D. and Felix H. Negley, Jr., Mary G. Soal, Eliza Connor, Margaret McKeag and Sarah Wishorn. Many of the heirs mentioned belong to prominent Pittsburgh families and all live in and about Pittsburgh.

The records show that in 1805 James and Thomas Rodgers acquired by patent the 219 acres of land, which were then in Pitt, now Penn township. James and Thomas Rodgers never married and died intestate, the property devolving upon their sister, Mary Rodgers, who married Wallace Ireland. Her husband died in 1839 and she in 1851, leaving no will. She was survived by these children: Thomas, James, Wallace, Robert and Hugh Ireland and Mary Ireland, who married the late William A. Simons. By a deed dated December 7, 1869, Robert Ireland conveyed his one-sixth interest in the Doak 15 acres to the late J. W. Doak, husband of Mrs. Emily Doak, Doak having got a deed to them from James E. Sheridan and wife, whose right to the tract, it is alleged, is not shown by the records.

The rest of the declaration in ejectment recites the names of the children of the direct heirs of Mrs. Mary Ireland, naming those who are dead and those of their children and grandchildren who still survive.

South Side Grades to Be Changed.

At a meeting of the surveys committee of councils yesterday ordinances were approved for changing the grades of Cabot way, South Third and South Fourth and McKean streets, to benefit the River and Railroad Terminal Company, whose warehouses are in that vicinity. An ordinance for the vacation of a part of Alliquippa street for the benefit of the Luna Park Company was referred to a subcommittee. An effort to secure the vacation of a 20-foot alley from Broad street to Kincaid street, in the Nineteenth ward, result in a negative recommendation to councils.

Compliment the Fire Fighters.

Members of the bureaus of fire and police who took part in extinguishing the flames at the plant of the McIntosh-Hemphill Company on Sunday night, were yesterday highly complimented for their work by the members of the company. A letter was received by Director Moore in which the owners of the plant state that the masterly manner in which Chief McKinley and the men under him handled the blaze prevented the total destruction of the works.

Will Have to Give Bail in Court.

Coroner Joseph G. Armstrong has decided, on the advice of his attorney, not to accept bail from any person accused of killing another. Citizens, as well as officers, who may fatally wound fleeing prisoners, will hereafter have to arrange for bail with the county courts. Former coroners have accepted bail, but Armstrong states his office will not take the responsibility hereafter, as he has been advised such bail is not lawful.

This Father Sure to Work.

Frank Hoffman of 1346 Gerst alley, Allegheny, was sent to the workhouse for 60 days, yesterday, by Magistrate Abernathy at Central station. The man was arrested late Monday night by Policemen Delehanty and Hamilton after a battle. It was charged that Hoffman had a rope and was threatening to hang his wife and two small children.

Fashion and Finery Reviewed by Thousands.

It is refreshing to lay aside all ideas of shopping and to turn to matters of criticism; it is, withal, something of a novelty to visit a great store simply for the purpose of reviewing it—yet this is exactly the status of yesterday's opening events in this store, which were attended by thousands.

Nothing could be handsomer than the autumn setting given to various sections of the store, especially the first and second floors and the display windows. Rich autumn foliage was everywhere.

If interest centered in one place more than another it was in the women's Suit and Wrap Department and in the Millinery Exhibit. The feminine eye is trained to all that is beautiful in dress and the regal gowns and the bewitching hats were favored with merited praise. Aside from these two sections, interesting displays were made in silks and dress goods, the newest dress trimmings, latest conceits in neckwear, gloves, hosiery and Paris Lingerie.

To those who missed yesterday's Fashion Show we bid them welcome today. In this connection we desire to notify out-of-town people who will come to the city on tomorrow's excursions that the exhibit will be intact—our Fashion Show was arranged purposely to include an Exposition Excursion Day.

On days when our store is given over to a display of Fashion it is not our custom to go into detail regarding any special sales that may be on hand, or, indeed, to quote very many prices. As a rule such departments are given representation more for the purpose of calling attention to the new goods in those departments than to the matter of exploiting the goods. Along these lines we call attention to the following:

Where Every Good Corset Style Can Be Seen.

In the second floor, East, every desirable make of corset is carried, some that are made and imported exclusively for us and cannot be bought in any other establishment in America—made of materials which range from the simply pretty to the richly elegant—models that are so up-to-date that they may be said to be in advance of the styles.

Pompadour—made for us exclusively, graceful and style-giving, a most comfortable corset, shown in high, medium and low bust, $2.50 to $20.00.

Fasso—known to almost every woman who wears a corset—shown in all the up-to-date models and materials. $8.00 to $16.00.

La Vida—we control the sale of this fine corset for Greater Pittsburg—it is a corset of various models to fit stout, medium and slight figures. $3.00 to $10.00.

La Fleur—another corset controlled by us in this vicinity—one of the most graceful corsets ever introduced. $5.00 to $16.50.

Then there are such other good corsets as the "Lily of France"—"La Grecque"—"Pietz"—"Redfern"—"P. D."—"Rejane"—"Royal Worcester"—"C. B. a la Spirite"—"Nemo"—"Kabo"—"W. B."—"P. N."—"Thompson's Glove Fitting"—"Warner's Rust-Proof"—"R. & G."—"Majesty"—"Henderson"—"American Lady"—"J. B."—"G. D." and others. The prices range for this group from 50c to $5.00.

In addition there are Nursing Corsets, Maternity Corsets, Ferris Waists, Equipoise Waists, Double Ve Waists and Ideal Waists.

Girdle Corsets, suitable for riding, golfing, etc.—also dainty and serviceable bust supporters.

Bustles and Hose Supporters in this same department, 25c each to $2.50.

We have several expert corsetieres, who, by appointment, will be pleased to give you their advice as to the style of corset best suited to you.

Infantile Belongings—Simplest to Most Luxurious.

Dainty and luxurious are the hand-made and hand-embroidered long garments which are displayed for the very young baby.

Paris, if you please, that center of fashion, is the city whence comes our finery for little folk.

To be sure, there are plenty of pretty inexpensive garments which were made in this country and which many mothers will think fine enough for any child.

Fine hand-tucked and feather-stitched Long Slips, $1.50, $1.75, $2.00, $2.25 and up to $4.00.

Long Dresses with yokes of lace, embroidery and tucks; skirts plain or tucked, ruffled and lace trimmed. Hundreds of ideas. $3.50 to $50.00.

Long Petticoats, hand-made, trimmed to match dresses in some cases, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 and up to $25.00.

Hand-Embroidered Flannel Petticoats, made of all-wool or silk and wool flannels, tastefully embroidered, $2.25 to $6.50.

Hand-Embroidered Cashmere Wrappers, pure white or white combined with delicate shades of pink or blue—designs vary, such as rosebuds, forget-me-nots, etc. Unlined or lined with silk. $3.00, $3.50, $4.00, $4.50, and up to $18.00.

Hand-made and hand-embroidered Sacques, lined with silk, finest grade of cashmere or unlined. $2.00, $2.25, $2.50 to $7.50.

Hand-made Mull Caps, also creations of laces, both real and imitation—some of them trimmed with ribbons. $1.00 to $18.00.

Hand-made and hand-embroidered or lace trimmed Bibs, 25c, 35c, 45c to $10.00.

Hand-made Bootees of all silk, silk and wool or all wool, 25c to $1.50.

Long Cloaks, hand-embroidered and lace trimmed, single or double, some with triple capes. Made of the various materials which have been assigned to baby's use, silk weaves as well as woolen materials. Cloaks of wool materials, $5.50 to $15.00. Cloaks of silk material, $12.50 to $35.00.

Introducing the Furniture Floors in Their New Aspect.

People who have not visited our Furniture department for a fortnight or more will be agreeably surprised at the many betterments which have been brought about within a very short time. Recently some 8,000 square feet of space have been added to this department, the furniture now taking up the entire East and West Store, fifth floor.

Much thought has been given, not only to the purchasing of new furniture, but to the display and rearrangement of it. Different articles suited to different rooms will be found grouped in such a manner as will best illustrate their various uses, which will be found of great assistance in deciding on their merit and suitability for the rooms in mind.

A new feature of the department which cannot fail of interest is our display of Bedroom Furniture, grouped for easy inspection. Complete suites in mahogany, maple, oak, mission, toona and white enamel—all styles—prominent in the showing Colonial, Mission, Louis XV., Louis XVI. and designs for general use.

The Dining-room Display contains, in addition to a general assortment, a collection of new English inlaid suites that are exceptionally artistic and well worth your careful inspection.

Splendid oak and mahogany pieces, suitable for Library and Living Room, are silent expressions of the thought that has been given to furniture for these rooms.

Special attention is called to the Arts and Crafts Suites, and to separate pieces of solid mahogany in Colonial style.

Japanese Furniture—after many months of waiting we are in receipt of a beautiful collection of quaint furniture from Japan—teak wood wrought in odd shapes and styles—a collection that surpasses anything of the kind in the country. A view of the great marriage chest, with its novelty wood lining, would alone repay anyone for the effort.

New arrivals in Mahogany and Gold suites for parlor and reception rooms are here. Louis XV., Louis XVI., Regence, Chippendale, Sheraton styles.

Mission Furniture has always been here in profusion—but for this opening you will be surprised at the variety of useful and ornate pieces we are showing. The thoughts of various manufacturers, as expressed in weathered oak, fumed oak, early English and Antwerp finished, are especially interesting.

Some of the very new odd pieces which you should see, are

A Mahogany Table, combining the uses of parlor, library and card table, with a clever arrangement for making the changes.

A Buffet Grille with heating attachments—for light cooking in a small apartment.

Brass Cellarettes from Austria that are sure to make an impression in the minds of men.

Ladies' Work Tables with complete interior compartments.

White Enamel Bedroom Suites, consisting of nine pieces.

The cablegram from President Amador denying rumors regarding the probable union of Panama with Costa Rica, to form one republic, gives the quietus to an interesting little story. It is not surprising that the other Central American republics should wish to share Panama's prosperity. The man with the "roll" has many friends, while the "roll" lasts. Panama has doubtless done wisely in deciding to "gang her own gait."

Some of the comments on the exploit of the young man who obtained temporary possession of $359,000 worth of securities, overlook the main fact in the case—namely, the arrest and imprisonment of the young man. These commentators are shocked at the ease with which a great bank can be buncoed. They ignore the ease with which the buncoer may be captured. Without laws and prisons the banking business would be hazardous, indeed.

Mention is contained in the report of Brig.-Gen. W. S. Edgerly, commanding the department of the Luzon, of the plan for an exchange of clerks between the United States and the Philippines. The hardships that would result from forcing elderly men, who have spent their lives in this country, to go to the Philippines, are pointed out. One of the greatest discomforts would be the climate. The suggestion that a group of classified employes now in the islands be formed into a permanent insular service is a practicable one.

J. Edward Addicks was not wholly eliminated from the politics of Delaware at the meeting of the Union Republican committee on Monday. A large portion of the committee adhered to his cause, though Senator Allee had expected an overwhelming majority on his side. A committee was appointed to deal for harmony with the regular Republicans. As a matter of fact, if harmony is wanted the Union Republicans had better drop their distinguishing title and fall in line in the ranks. They present no creditable figure as a faction and no "deal" is necessary.

Former Minister Herbert W. Bowen makes comment on the correspondence between President Roosevelt and Francis B. Loomis that brings him again into the limelight. He shows in this comment an ugly disposition that bids fair to reopen the entire controversy. In taking such a stand Bowen ought to have produced the documents he claims to have relating to former Secretary Hay's attitude, as his unsupported assault on the president is quite certain to react upon his own head. President Roosevelt's record is not one of hushing scandal or evading use of the probe. Quite the contrary.

A serious charge has been made by the president of the New York corn exchange against the banks and trust companies of that city. He contends the weekly bank statement is a farce on account of the interchange of funds with the trust companies and that the trust companies loan without regard to reserves. It is quite probable some of the "high finance" methods of these institutions are as questionable as those of the insurance companies. Exposure and correction will come best as in the case of the insurance companies before there is impairment of their resources.

In view of the supposed precautions taken by western railroads to protect their trains from robbers, it is somewhat surprising that the hold-up industry flourishes as it does. On several roads armed guards travel in the express cars, but they do not appear to have the desired deterrent effect. The latest robbery is said to amount to $50,000. While this figure may be exaggerated, every through express train carries large amounts of cash and valuables, and it would seem some effectual measures might be adopted for insuring their safe transportation as well as the protection of the lives and property of the passengers.

It has been alleged the raiding of "clubs" this week has been for the purpose of making "political capital." Before accepting this theory, The Gazette must have proof of the fact. It does not believe the charge. The raid on the so-called Finerty club was on complaint of a man who held the legal charter of the Finerty club and was a duty. The raid by the police on the Dalzell club, Supt. Wallace says, was on complaint of disorder. The politicians whose names are involved are connected with the city administration, not the opposition. Under the circumstances how can it be reasoned this raid was for political effect? The other organization, on the face of the record, had no political affiliations. Did it have, and is that why the police refused to act?

Something Wrong.

Not since the charter of 1887 was put in operation in this city have highwaymen and footpads operated as extensively in Pittsburgh as in very recent times. In the old days "hold-up" and robbery down town were not unknown, but it is not easy to recall a time when these crimes were as frequent, as common, or as boldly perpetrated as now. In those days the streets were badly lighted with gas lamps and the atmosphere was more murky than after the era of natural gas began. In those days, if vice was not protected, it was openly tolerated and even encouraged by some administrations and the footpad is ever the natural accompaniment of the vices that lure ill-balanced humanity into expenditures that cannot be afforded.

There is something wrong. The police protection is not what it should be. The police superintendent declares he has not a sufficient number of officers. That is one possible explanation. On the streets it may be heard that efficient patrolmen have been largely supplanted by inefficient and even vicious officers. This is another explanation. Proceedings of the police trial board and incidents reported almost daily lend color to what may be heard on the streets.

Government in this city is costing more than ever. Controller Larkin's promised 10 mills on $300,000,000 valuation has faded into nebulosity in face of a rate one-half higher on a valuation one-third higher. More policemen will cost more money. If they are necessary for the proper protection of the public they should be provided, regardless of cost, but it does not readily appear why adequate protection should cost much more now than in the past. One patrolman on his beat attending to business is worth more than a half dozen off their beats, or tarrying where they are not needed.

Questions Legality.

Samuel Untermyer, counsel for James Hazen Hyde, raises a question on the legality of the New York legislative insurance investigating committee. His argument is the committee was created by a "defunct legislature," authorized to report to a body not yet existing and is, therefore, illegal and without power. The point is not well taken. The New York legislature is not "defunct." It is alive and will be until the members of the next legislature are qualified. It may be called in extraordinary session at any time by Gov. Higgins.

Authority for the committee to report to the "next legislature" is regular. That body does not now exist, but is ordained by the constitution of the state of New York as the legal successor to the present legislature, and, as such, may take over its acts as legacies—in fact will be bound by the acts of its predecessor until they are formally repealed. It has been the practice of congress and of the several state legislatures from the beginning of the American government to create committees and to authorize them to sit during recesses, and to report to succeeding congresses and legislatures. That custom, in itself, has the force of law.

Moreover, it is within the legal power of congress and of the state legislatures to create commissions for special purposes, authorizing them to report to succeeding congresses or legislatures. The insurance investigating committee has standing as such a commission. Inasmuch as Mr. Untermyer admits the laudable purpose of the investigation and gives assent to the appearance of his client as a voluntary witness, there is an element of absurdity in his raising this fine technicality.

Secretary Shaw on the Tariff.

Secretary Leslie M. Shaw of the treasury department, speaking at Richmond, Va., declared the Dingley tariff bill will be amended in due time, but the principle will never be altered by a Republican congress. That is sound Republican doctrine and it is good sense. The principle of protection has been so often and so overwhelmingly indorsed by the popular vote it is entitled to a place among immutable American institutions. Not so the rates. The principle of protection requires occasional changes in them.

Secretary Shaw did not demand immediate revision, but it may be inferred he is not averse to revision by the Fifty-ninth congress, which is Republican and can be trusted to adhere faithfully to the protective principle. It is true that all tariffs contain compromises; it may be that all tariff laws will contain imperfections. The Fifty-ninth congress should be able to frame one as nearly perfect as possible. There is nothing occult in tariff rates and there is nothing about their readjustment that is more difficult than arrangement of the items of expenditure in the appropriation bills. There is nothing in a rate of duty, or the necessary measure of protection that is not demonstrable.

The membership of the Fifty-ninth congress is above the average in intelligence. On the majority side there is hardly a man incapable of understanding a plain business proposition. Tariff rates are business propositions. There may be interests that come into conflict, but their representatives need not be unreasonable. They can be relied on to take the sensible business view as they did when the Dingley law was passed, and to never lose sight of the protective principle.

More Light from Judge Taft.

The results of Secretary William H. Taft's trip to the orient are already being made manifest at Washington, confirming the belief he has brought back with him a most valuable fund of information gained at first hand. At yesterday's cabinet meeting the Chinese boycott against American goods and the manner in which the exclusion laws are being executed were discussed, and Judge Taft was able to shed illumination upon both subjects which are so closely related. It appears the order to American consuls to identify Chinese applying for certificates of admission cannot be carried out to the full extent desired. In many cases, for lack of sufficient knowledge of the person, a consul is compelled to refuse a certificate, although the applicant's only cause for disqualification is his remote residence from the consulate. This has the natural effect of increasing the feeling which created the boycott. The construction of the exclusion law, rather than the act itself, is under criticism by the Chinese, as well as the arbitrary definition of the term "coolie" which prevails on our Pacific coast. In view of Judge Taft's information, it was the opinion of the cabinet that important changes must be made in the regulations.

While the Chinese boycott seems to be a thing of the past, the feeling which inspired it is still there, and it will be the part of wisdom to take steps to allay whatever discontent may exist among our Chinese friends over the manner in which they are treated by this government.

The New South African War.

The reported arrest of Boer leaders in a conspiracy with natives of German Southwest Africa to overthrow German rule in that territory and establish a Boer republic, calls renewed attention to the trouble his obstreperous wards are making for Emperor William. Shortly after the wind-up of England's unpleasant experience in the Transvaal, a colony of about 1,000 Boers left that territory and, settling in the German domain, engaged in the raising of cattle. Recently their number was augmented by fellow-countrymen from Cape Colony, who were brought to assist the German troops in the attempt to suppress the uprising of the natives. Turning traitors, it is alleged the Boers planned to join the foe and drive the Germans from the country. The arrest of Andrew De Wet and other ringleaders has squelched the scheme at the outset.

While German Southwest Africa is the oldest colony of the fatherland, it is only recently that its advantageous possibilities have been appreciated. Germany has been urging her peasantry to emigrate thither, pointing out the agricultural prospects in the fertile elevated valleys. Just before the recent disturbances arose, a decided movement had begun in that direction. It was planned to develop the mineral resources of the region, since deposits of gold and copper are known to exist. The bitterness which inspires the natives in their war against German rule is evidenced by their attempt to enlist the aid of other West African tribes in British territory. The plea that it is a war of the black man against his white oppressor is said to have had a remarkable influence in arousing neighboring tribes and solidifying the sentiment of the natives. The incongruity of the Boers joining in any such movement, in view of their ancient and oft-expressed antipathy to the black man, is most apparent. But in their anxiety to achieve a military and political coup, they probably are not too particular as to the means they employ.

The Irishman who has brought suit in San Francisco to recover 10 weeks' back pay for services as a wild man from the Philippines, administers the latest jolt to popular faith in human nature.

Yesterday's Post was like the real thing. Not a word of advice to "honest Republicans" and a good hard "knock" on President Roosevelt. Always Democratic, but sometimes dissembling.

Judging from the number of suggestions being submitted for the president's message, Mr. Roosevelt will have to ask for an additional appropriation for the purchase of waste baskets.

Chester (Pa.) youngsters bother the trolley motormen by riding on the new-fangled fenders. This is a contingency unforeseen during the recent agitation.

That beauty show in New York arouses no fealing of jealousy in Pittsburgh. We have a beauty show in our downtown streets every day during shopping hours.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

If We Could See Beyond the End of Our Nose We Would Be Wiser.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

"Back to the mines," exclaims the average man when his vacation closes.

This exclamation wouldn't be half bad were it not that the fellow means that he is about to return to drudgery and enforced labor.

Labor, or even toil, is agreeable to those who have a purpose in life. Those who work simply because they have to, live in an almost constant state of discontent.

And there are many who regard toil and labor as an unjust and unkind visitation of providence. These are most unhappy. Their homes are mere shelters and not comfortable, consequently they keep away from them as much as possible, preferring clubs, camps, saloons or any other old place.

Home is what you make it, so that if it is not to your liking, you have only yourself to blame.

Homes do not grow as do weeds or toadstools, but are the products of toil and labor and of sacrifice. And the more of these they cost the more highly are they prized, and the more useful and profitable to those associated with them, and the more helpful to those within range of their influence.

"Back to the mines" may mean a return to pleasant fields of labor or signify a daily scourging. Instead of going cheerfully into the mines you may have to be chased or driven into them, lashed at every step by necessity. Or it may mean the resumption of pleasant relations, and the taking up of agreeable lines of work or congenial employment.

Now that you are home again, and have had time to think it over, in what particular were you benefited by your vacation?

It is just as important to "take stock" after a vacation as after the close of a business season. If your vacation has not been profitable you should proceed to find out why it did not pan out well so that you may not spend another season unprofitably.

It isn't all of a vacation to vacate your place in office or shop for a few days or weeks. If you could cease to exist for the time being you wouldn't have to do anything, but as long as you continue to breathe, and to eat, and to think, you cannot afford to do nothing.

A proper and profitable vacation means a season of pleasureable activity—something different from your regular employment, yet in harmony with it.

Rest consists in relaxation from continuous strain, but not in complete cessation of physical or mental activity.

The greater of the many mistakes made in the matter of vacations is to plunge into a whirl of excitement. This is nothing short of real dissipation, and dissipation is never profitable.

If you have considerable vacation experience you may be able to recall occasions when you returned to business more tired and more generally tuckered out, than when you went away.

The hurly burly of popular summer resorts pleases those who don't know the value of a vacation, and are not able to distinguish exhilaration from rest.

Exhilaration leads to intoxication, which is never profitable. And no matter what the intoxicant may be nor how pleasant its first effects, the sobering up more than counteracts the fun you had.

The vacation habit is spreading at a wonderful, if not at a frightful rate. This means business for railroads, summer resorts, and certain trades, but whether it is equally profitable to the people is not quite certain.

The season just closed has been a record-breaker. This is partly due to the prosperity enjoyed for a year and more by all classes, but mainly to the vacation habit or fad.

It is hardly too much to say that one half of those who went on vacation trips knew what they were going for, nor can they tell in what particular they were benefited. In all probability they didn't go to be benefited but in hopes of having a good time. This would be all right if their ideal good times were rational.

Not a few young men think that a good time consists in being tough, and in doing things they would not dare to do at home. And there are plenty of places where they can have just such times, provided they have the price.

Dissipation is always expensive as well as demoralising and exhausting. And yet the average man is willing, if not anxious, to take a whirl at it. Nor does it fail to appeal to womankind more or less.

Were you as wise as you ought to be, and might be, you would be able to live in far greater comfort than you do.

In fact, if you had as much common sense as you might have, you wouldn't make as many mistakes as you do.

You may think or even believe that you are a victim of ill luck, or that heaven is neglecting you or that somebody has it in for you.

To think or to believe thus is to not only invite ill fortune but to drag it down upon you.

The very best, and the only safe defense against ill fortune is common sense well applied. One application is sufficient, but the application must be continuous. Broken doses may be better than none at all, but they will not insure you against ill fortune.

"Be sure you are right before you go ahead" is the golden rule of common sense. Make it the business rule of your life and you will have nothing to fear except unavoidable mishaps, and these are few and far between.

"When" Is a Good Word.

When Wei-Hai-Wei and Kiao-Chau are returned to China by act of congress perhaps the Boston dreamer who imagines Senator Crane engaging in such a scheme will see the Philippines "neutralised."—New York Tribune.

HAVE BASKETS MADE FOR CARRYING DRINKS

Peculiar State in Which a New York Hotel Has Been Placed by a Liquor Law.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—If ever a history of New York statesmen's bickerings is written, it will be incomplete without the story of how a governor and a senior United States senator came into conflict because the governor would not approve a legislative enactment enabling the senator's pet hotel to traffic in highballs and other alcoholic beverages pleasing to the taste of the senator, his friends and his pet hotel's patrons. When Thomas C. Platt, upon moving to the new Gotham last week, remarked that he had no use for Gov. Higgins any more, he gave utterance to a grievance that had been fermenting for many months. In all the time that the senator had kept his peace he had been raging inwardly over the governor's veto of the Saxe liquor bill.

That bill would have given to the Gotham, which is at Fifty-fifth street and Fifth avenue, the right to furnish drinks to its guests, although it is less than 50 feet away from the entrance of a place of worship, the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church. Naturally, the senator was driven to unburden himself when he saw all the cocktails entering the hotel were transported thither in wicker baskets. He had lived in hotels for a quarter of a century, but never before in one that was forced by law to maintain a perambulating cafe.

Even after he had seen the veto inscribed in spite of his opposition, he had not realized the state to which the management would be reduced through lacking its own wine cellar. The wicker baskets, especially constructed with compartmenta for the drinks ordered by the guests at the table, convinced him that it was time to speak out.

New York a Regular Baby Farm.

The attention of cities that are disposed to criticise New York because many landlords here prefer dogs to babies as tenants is called to the birth rate. Statistics just compiled show that there were 26 babies born in New York in the first six months of 1905 for every 1,000 of the population. When you come to figure out that this population includes bachelors, old maids, children under marriageable age, divorced persons and eligibles not yet chosen, race suicide in the metropolis becomes an empty phrase. The west is slower, much slower. For instance San Francisco only boasts of 14 babies to each 1,000 of population and St. Louis 17.

Jerome Gets His Nomination.

By the filing of a petition indorsed by the signatures of 4,000 reputable citizens of New York county, William Travers Jerome today became an independent candidate for re-election to the office of district attorney irrespective of what either of the two large political parties may think or do about it. Two thousand signatures only were necessary to make the nomination legal, and while "the Jerome nominators" will number 25,000 by the time the returns cease, his managers decided to go on record with 4,000 certified autographs and hold the rest for use in the campaign.

Hearst Objects to Sacrifice.

No Republican candidate for mayor has yet been chosen. Three names are said to be under consideration, in addition to a number of men who are obscure but willing. It was seriously announced today that W. R. Hearst will not run for mayor on the Municipal Ownership league's private ticket. It was added that Judge Seabury might consent to be sacrificed.

An East Side "Fagin" Caught.

Benjamin Fein, also known to the police as "Dopey Benny," was held in $1,000 bail this morning in Essex Market court on a charge of attempted robbery. Fein is 20 years old. The police think they have made an important capture and gone a long way toward breaking up a gang that has preyed upon East Side victims by teaching young school boys to become thieves. Fein is alleged to be the chief of a gang which enticed small boys away from the lower East Side schools on pretext of showing them how to make a lot of money easily, and then instruct them in the "art" of picking pockets and snatching women's purses.

Burglar Business Still Brisk.

Five burglaries in Harlem within a week and three last night in other parts of Manhattan borough show that lawbreakers have not been greatly deterred by the recent outburst of indignation over the lawlessness in the city. In spite of police activity the thieves seem to have no difficulty in entering houses, plundering them and getting away. The three burglaries of last night illustrate the boldness of the thieves who are operating in the borough at present. One got entered through a sidewalk coal hole and another calmly punched a hole in the wall of a store from an adjoining hallway, and the others came into a house full of people through the roof scuttle.

Some Employment Bureaus Are Bad.

That some employment agencies are only used as a subterfuge to rob and lead young girls away are the grave charges contained in a report made to the Society for Household Research by Miss Frances Keller. Miss Keller declares that young girls seeking employment through these sources are sent to boarding places which jeopardise their morals. The practice of giving "runners" 25 cents for each woman who registers at certain agencies is condemned.

Scheme Would Settle All Strikes.

Goldwin Smith makes the very wise and suitable suggestion that when the members of the trades unions are called upon to cast their votes for or against the calling of strikes the married men, having by far the greater stake in the result, should be entitled each to cast two votes. It would be better still if the wife of the married man were empowered to cast the extra vote.—Philadelphia Record.

CONSERVATIVE RATE LAW TO BE PASSED

Representative Dalzell Discusses the Prospective Work of Congress.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—A conservative railway rate law will be enacted at the coming session of congress in the opinion of Representative Dalzell of Pittsburgh, who is in the city for a few days. Mr. Dalzell predicts a long session, in which there is apt to be considerable discussion of the ship subsidy question and a number of other important matters aside from rate legislation. He is not inclined to believe that a free trade law will be enacted for the Philippines this session, but is convinced that it is only a matter of time until such a law will be passed.

"I look for a pretty long session," said Mr. Dalzell. "There are many matters that will require the attention of congress. We have on file the report of the joint commission of the senate and house that was appointed to investigate our merchant marine. It is more than likely that the house will give considerable time to a discussion of this subject.

"As I understand it, the sentiment of the house is in favor of some conservative railway rate legislation. I do not believe that it is going to pass any drastic measure. While the house will give considerable attention to the recommendations of the president, I am of opinion that the members will not go quite as far as the president suggested in his last message. It appears to me that there is a disposition to conform with the president's ideas as far as possible without passing any legislation which will have a disastrous effect upon the security holders and the employes of the railroads. A compromise measure, it appears to me, will finally pass both houses. I do not believe that congress will be guided either by the railway managers or the advocates of radical rate legislation.

Free Trade for Philippines.

"Of course, the Philippines will eventually receive free trade from the hands of congress. They are a part of the United States and the present law is only a temporary measure. It was enacted, not as a matter of principle, but to provide for revenues to maintain the Philippine government. Besides this, there is a treaty agreement extending for a term of 10 years which provides that Spain has the right to the same trade advantages that this country does in the Philippines. It would be manifestly unfair to allow Spanish products to come into the Philippines under a free trade arrangement. This treaty has two years longer to run, and at the expiration of that time I see no reason why all of the tariff upon Philippine exports and imports should not be removed."

Mr. Dalzell expects to call upon the president before he leaves Washington. Upon this occasion the president and Mr. Dalzell will probably discuss a number of measures which will be pending before congress at the approaching session.

Railroads Begin Fight.

Railroad men are asserting that when the president's message to congress is read it will be found that Mr. Roosevelt has materially changed his attitude on the subject of the regulation of freight rates by federal authority. They go so far as to say that the flag has been hauled down and that the president will no longer insist on conferring on the interstate commerce commission the power to say whether a rate is reasonable or not and fix a reasonable rate, which shall go into effect.

If this be true the president has told none of his senatorial callers of his change of heart. There has been only this one point of difference between the president and the railroads. The president wanted the interstate commerce commission given power to fix a rate which should go into effect within 30 days. The railroads wanted the right of appeal to the courts, give bonds while that appeal is pending and operate under the old rate until it is decided.

The railroads are preparing for an active fight. They have determined not to yield an inch to the president. The city already contains many railroad agents, most of whom are in consultation with former Senator C. J. Faulkner of West Virginia, who is the attorney in charge of the interests of the railroads.

Great Battle on Rates.

Representative Hull of Iowa had a long talk with the president today. He was asked when he left the White House whether rate legislation was coming rapidly to the front.

"Yes, the great battle in the coming congress with be on railway rate legislation," said he. "The president, so far as I am able to judge, has not changed his position. He remains firm in favor of legislation that will not be so drastic as to injure the railroads, but at the same time will be drastic enough to protect the people. There is no doubt the house will pass whatever legislation the president thinks best. Whether it will enact legislation along the lines of the Esch-Townsend bill, which had the approval of the president a year ago, I do not know.

"There may be reason to change some of the features of the bill this time. None of us knows what the senate will do, but the house will stand by the wishes of the people. It is the west that is most largely in favor of suitable railroad legislation. The middle states, New York and New England do not care much about strong legislation. The house will be filled with new men from the west and they will insist on something being done that will really mean progress."

Influence of Country Editors.

The meeting at Pittsburgh of the Pennsylvania State Editorial association has demonstrated the fact that the country papers have an influence on affairs of the commonwealth and in a way are as much a power as far as public matters are concerned as are the city dailies. And to the credit of the newspaper fraternity of Pittsburgh it can be said that the members of it have recognized the important part their country fellow-workers take in the molding of public opinion and giving the news of the day, and went to the trouble in showing the visitors every courtesy possible. The meeting of this association must prove advantageous to the publishers of it and to Pittsburgh.—Washington Reporter.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

It was a thing that some people would call foolish for parents to do with a loved and loving child of 4 years, but it was also a recognition of the efficiency and courtesy of modern railroading—the matter of a mere toy of a boy traveling alone from Philadelphia to Minneapolis. When the lads fellow arrived at the Water street station of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad last evening, on the Chicago limited from the east, he appeared as happy and contented, and fully as confident of being well cared for on his trip as any person of age could feel. He enjoyed the ride from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh to the privilege of the limited train, his father having arranged with the Pullman conductor and with the dining car conductor to look after the wants of Master Clarence Gifford on the journey thus far. When it became known to his fellow-passengers that the kid was traveling alone he was shown every consideration and was the pet of the trip. At the Water street station he was escorted to the sleeper car, to the conductor of which he carried a letter with the necessary ticketing. At Chicago he will be transferred to the Chicago & Northwestern and will go over the road to his destination at Minneapolis, where he will visit a sister.

Elite Cling to Horse Carriages.

That the elite as well as the rank and file of people who own and ride in vehicles have not deserted the horse and carriage for the horseless one is evidenced by the expression of A. J. Becker, sales manager of the Gerber Carriage Company, who arrived from New York last evening for a stay of a week. He is at the Colonial.

"I know it is generally thought that the classes as distinguished from the masses are traveling almost exclusively in automobiles today," said Mr. Becker, "but when I know that more broughams alone have been sold in New York city in the past year and a half than in any similar period in the past 5 decades, as must every thinking person that the horse is by no means doomed by the automobile. The automobile is a new thing, practically speaking, yet it has been in the market long enough to become a factor, and it will not be usurped, as was the bicycle, in a few years. There has been an enormous demand for horseless vehicles for pleasure and business purposes in the past couple of years, but the people who can afford automobiles either have them in addition to their fine stables of horses and pleasure vehicles, or the automobiles are owned by persons who would not think of owning horses. The fine driving, riding and draft horses are also here to stay—they were here long before horseless vehicles were dreamed of and they will remain. 'Old Debbie' is still good for active duty and is loved by the people."

An Unappreciated Fact.

A writer in the current issue of the Forum calls attention to the unknown and unappreciated fact that the country is dangerously near a constitutional convention. According to provision of Article V. of the federal Constitution, a convention to amend that document is imperative when demanded by the legislatures of two-thirds of all the states. As there are now 45 states, the requisite proportion is 30. Already 32 states, or only eight less than the necessary number, are on record either as requesting the convention to be called or as advocating the reform which is desired by amendment. The purpose sought in this popular expression is the election of senators by the people.—Washington Post.

Ohio Issues in a Nutshell.

It is strange if Gov. Herrick is opposed to temperance measures that the saloons of the Dew, Beil and Brannock have are supporting him.—Marietta Leader.

Your remark is pat and pointed. Everybody acknowledges that the Brannock is a good temperance measure. But the fight against the governor is not on temperance—it is simply whether the bosses of the Anti-saloon league shall control him. They are fighting the governor because he would not do exactly what they wanted. It is revenge. The governor followed his convictions and helped give the state a safe, effective, constitutional law to exclude the saloon from residential districts.—Columbus State Journal.

MANIAC SHOOTS A HELPLESS MAN

TRAGEDY IN DOWNTOWN CAFE

Hugh Hamilton, a manufacturer of Greensboro, Pa., was shot and seriously wounded at 11:20 o'clock yesterday morning, while eating luncheon in the Hotel Wilson, at 10 Smithfield street, by Anton W. Olsen, a Swede, who is supposed to be demented. Olsen is said to be the man who was arrested at Washington, D. C., about 18 months ago for planning to assassinate the president. Hamilton was taken to the Homeopathic hospital and Olsen was taken to Central station. It was stated at the hospital last night that although very dangerously hurt, Mr. Hamilton may recover.

The shooting was unprovoked, as Hamilton had never seen Olsen until the occurrence. Hamilton was sitting on a high stool at the lunch counter when Olsen entered and took a seat at his side. Olsen ordered a bowl of soup. He ate several spoonfuls and looked at Hamilton in a strange manner. Suddenly he drew a revolver from his pocket and pointed it at Hamilton. The latter jumped off his chair and ran to the front door. Olsen turned in his chair and fired twice at him. Both shots took effect in Hamilton's back. Hamilton ran into a jewelry store at 8 Smithfield street. The Swede followed him into the store and fired two more bullets into his body. One shot took effect in the groin and the other just below his heart.

Overpowered the Maniac.

Capt. John J. Wilson, proprietor of the hotel, followed Olsen out of the place and summoned Policeman Conley. Both men rushed into the jewelry store and found the Swede standing over Hamilton with a smoking revolver in his hand.

They attacked the Swede and threw him to the floor. The revolver was secured after a struggle. Policeman James Baker came on the scene and the Swede was taken to the station house and Hamilton to the hospital. Hamilton said he had never seen the Swede before to the best of his knowledge, until they met at the restaurant.

At the station house Olson remained reticent. "Someone shot a feller," was all he would say to the police. He can speak only broken English. In his pockets were found $32.50 in money and two railroad tickets, one the return coupon of a ticket bought in Washington and one a Youngstown ticket. He wore a button having the pictures of the Socialistic candidates at the last election.

Known to Youngstown Police.

The Youngstown police say that Olson lived in Youngstown eight years ago. He then moved to Lima, O., where he shot and killed his wife. The dispatch from Youngstown continues as follows:

"The man was a rabid Socialist and supposed to be insane. He was committed to an insane asylum, but escaped. Nothing further was heard of him until 18 months ago when he was arrested in Washington, while planning the president's assassination. He wanted to kill the president because a law had not been enacted forcing every man to take the name of his occupation. The Swede was taken by Washington police to Cumberland, on the way to Pittsburgh. At Cumberland he escaped, but was recaptured at Pittsburgh and then sent to Lima, O. After that nothing further was heard of him in Youngstown. The Youngstown police say his description fits that of the Pittsburgh would-be assassin."

Hugh Hamilton is one of the best-known residents of Greene county. He is president of the Hamilton Stoneware Company, operating in Greensboro and New Geneva. He is 45 years old, married and his wife and four children ranging in age from 2 to 18 years are living. Mr. Hamilton resided in County street, Greensboro, and was born and lived there all his life.

FRENCH COMPOSITIONS MADE UP THE PROGRAMS

From the best works of the French composers Creatore had selected last evening's program at the Pittsburgh Exposition, and the Pittsburgh French colony was present almost without exception. The most popular of the selections for the evening was that from "Carmen," Signori Pierno, Forcellati, Glove and Bonincegni taking the solos.

Tonight is Verdi night, every number on the program being from that composer. By special request the Miserere from "Il Trovatore," will be played as solo by Signori Pierno and Forcellati.

For this afternoon the following will be the program:

3 P. M.

March, "El Capitan".....Sousa
Overture, "Barber of Seville".....Rossini
Intermezzo, "Cavalleria Rusticana"...Mascagni
Polka, "La Simpatica".....De Angelis
"Reminiscences of Scotland".....Godfrey

4 P. M.

March, "Tannhauser".....Wagner
March, "Characteristic Chacone".....Durand
Grand selection, "Faust".....Gounod
Bombardino solo, "Evening Star".....Wagner
"American Fantasie".....Herbert

ALL LOOKING TO PANAMA.

Excellent Financial Condition of the New Republic Causes the Envy of Columbia.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—In regard to reports that Panama and Costa Rica would soon join and form one republic, the minister of Panama to this country, Senor Obaldia, received today a cablegram from President Amador of Panama saying:

The desperate financial straits of Colombia, the minister said, where at this moment a dollar has about the value of one American cent, make it very probable that the foreign creditors, who hold the larger part of this debt, will bring pressure upon Colombia to make a settlement with Panama, which is in far better financial conditions.

SOME BIG POLICIES.

Prosperous Business of the New York Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Robert C. Hall, the well-known broker and mine expert of Pittsburgh, has just purchased a policy for $450,000 in the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. This adds another name to the long list of Pennsylvania men who carry large policies.

Hon. William F. Harrity of Philadelphia, recently increased his insurance in the Mutual Life from $125,000 to $600,000.

Charles W. Bailey, Vice President and Treasurer of the Bailey, Banks & Biddle Co., of Philadelphia, lately bought a $150,000 policy in The Mutual Life.

In this connection, it is interesting to recall that the largest amount of insurance, namely, $2,000,000, carried by any individual in a single company, is held by Mr. Rodman Wanamaker of Philadelphia, in The Mutual Life.

The company reinsures all but $250,000 of these large risks.

TWO CONVENTIONS WILL SING PRAISES OF PSALMS

Prominent Ministers of United Presbyterian Church to Hold Discussions in Pittsburgh and Chicago.

The psalmody conventions under the auspices of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian church will be held in Pittsburgh and Chicago, commencing in Pittsburgh on Tuesday evening, October 31, and in Chicago on Tuesday evening, November 14. The programs of the two conventions will be the same except there are two lists of chairmen and speakers.

The chairman and speakers will be from among the most prominent ministers in the church in all parts of the country. Every phase of the subject of psalmody will be discussed, along doctrinal, historical, literary and practical lines. Prof. John D. McNaugher, D. D., chairman of the committee on conventions, states in his announcement that those discussions will aid effectively in commending the exclusive use of the psalm in praise worship.

In connection with the papers, addresses and conferences, impressive praise services will be a feature of the conventions. The subjects for the seven sessions of the conventions, beginning Tuesday evening, are as follows:

Tuesday evening—"Psalms of History," "Devotional Value of the Psalter." Wednesday morning—"Idea of Worship," "Scriptural Law of Worship," "Singing of Psalms a Duty," "Psalms the Divinely Authorized and Exclusive Manual of Praise," Wednesday afternoon—"Psalms of the Old Testament Church," "Psalms of the New Testament Church," "Special Exegesis of Col. iii:16 and Eph. v:19," "Psalms of the Post-Apostolic Church." Wednesday evening—"Suitableness and Sufficiency of the Psalter for Christian Worship," "Christ in the Psalms." Thursday morning—"Theism of the Psalter," "Doctrinal Completeness of the Psalter," "Ethics of the Psalms," "Imprecatory Psalms," "Some Popular Objections to the Exclusive Use of the Psalms in Worship." Thursday afternoon—"Psalms and Evangelistic Work," "Psalms and Missions," "Psalms and the Young," "Psalm Versification," "Importance of the Exclusive Use of the Psalms in the Present Day Apologetics," "Literary Excellence of the Psalms." Thursday evening—"Specimens of Eulogies on the Psalms," "Musical Interpretation of the Psalms," "Catholicity of the Psalter," "Status and Outlook of the Cause of the Psalmody." There will also be open parliaments and question boxes during the conventions.

DISPUTES RIGHT TO ALLEY.

Voters' Civic League Makes New Move in Grant Boulevard Case.

William Grim, an employe of the Pittsburgh postoffice, was examined by United States Commissioner Gamble yesterday in the Grant boulevard trolley case to prove that Cherry alley between Third and Fourth avenues is being used by the Pittsburgh Railways Company for mail cars to and from the postoffice.

This move by the attorneys for the Voters' Civic league is made to show that it would be impossible for another company to build a line down Cherry alley for a connecting loop with the Grant boulevard line. The attorneys for the defendant trolley companies claim that the track down in Cherry alley is merely a switch and not a regular route for passenger cars.

Gebhardt Sahner, former common councilman from the Twenty-seventh Ward, was also examined yesterday, but his testimony did not last longer than 10 minutes.

It tells graphically, convincingly, the facts about the Beef Trust.

It is a tragic romance of systematic commercial buccaneers.

Its figures and statistics are unanswerable. They tell a tale to which no vivid writing can add one jot and from which no sophistry can take one jot away.—The October Bookman.

It is a history of the real conditions existing in the American business world of to-day, considered calmly, dispassionately, yet throbbing with fascinating interest. TORONTO TEACHERS TO SPEND TWO DAYS HERE

Guides and Committees Are Appointed to Entertain the Canadian Visitors.

The school teachers of Toronto, Canada, are expected to visit Pittsburgh on October 26, and will spend two days here, going through the public schools of the city on the first day with guides selected from the teachers of the 40 subdistricts. The first day will be devoted to the schools and the second to general sightseeing, including a visit to the large industrial plants in East Pittsburgh and Homestead.

The committee of local teachers on arrangements for the entertainment of the Toronto teachers met yesterday and heard a report from Supt. Samuel Andrews, who said the Toronto party would probably arrive in Pittsburgh on the evening of October 26. James L. Hughes, chief inspector of the board of education of Toronto, will be in Pittsburgh the latter part of the week to make final arrangements.

The headquarters for the visitors will probably be at the new Fort Pitt hotel, at Penn avenue and Tenth street. Committees of local teachers having charge of details are as follows:

Finance—Chairman, Samuel Andrews; Edward Rynearson, Miss M. J. Graham, Miss Clarissa A. Moffitt, Miss Jennie Hardie; reception, M. J. McMahon, J. M. Hammond, Miss E. M. Craig, Miss Marie Smith, Miss Marion V. Neeper; designation, William McCullough, John Golden, Robert McCargo, R. M. Sherrard, A. L. Hope, Miss Jennie Simpson; entertainment, H. W. Fisher, T. D. Sensor, J. M. Anthony, Mrs. M. B. Redman, Miss Caroline S. Morgan, Miss Caroline E. Malick, Miss Caroline A. Patterson; executive, Miss Mamie Mackrail, R. Radcliff, C. H. Garwood and the chairmen of the other committees.

PAINT SHOP IS REMOVED.

Taken from Third Floor of Court House to Fireproof Cellar Room.

The court house paint shop was moved yesterday from its dangerous quarters on the third floor to the cellar. The room to which the inflammable stuffs were taken has been made fireproof with cement floors, having no woodwork about it. The county commissioners were afraid of the old shop.

The paint shop has been on the third floor for many years. In the same room sheriff's sales are held, with men standing around smoking and striking matches. The commissioners will have the room cleaned up and repainted, and in future it will continue to be used by the sheriff when making sales, and will also be at the disposal of the mercantile appraiser at the busy time of the year.

TO INSPECT CANAL ROUTE.

Officials of Company Accept Invitation to Go to Erie.

The directors of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Ship Canal Company yesterday accepted the invitation of the business men of Erie to visit that city on Friday, October 13. The party will consist of the directors, officers, engineers and attorneys of the company.

They will leave here in the morning of October 13 and will go to Ashtabula, O., inspecting the proposed canal route through Ohio on the way. From Ashtabula they will go to Erie, reaching there in the evening of the same day, and next day will look over the harbor in Erie.

OPENING IS BRILLIANT.

A Mecca for Womankind.

The most brilliant flowers, with boughs covered with autumn leaves tinted by the frosts to glowing reds and yellows, vied with the exquisite creations of modistes and milliners yesterday at the fall opening of Joseph Horne & Company. Flowers were banked on tables on every aisle, rich rugs covered the floors while palms and ferns added to the background for one of the finest displays seen in Pittsburgh. Colors rioted over the seven acres of space allotted to the various departments where was shown the highest art of the needlewoman throughout the world.

Possibly the greatest interest for the women lay in the showing of the imported gowns, one model being a replica of the gown worn by the Princess Cecilie when she entered Berlin to become the bride of the German Crown Prince Frederick. It is fashioned of white chiffon and exquisite lace in flounces, each edged with chenille harmonizing with the golden rod embroidered in chenille when formed the distinctive touch imparted by the modiste.

Another gown of Renaissance lace, still another of Irish point, all in white, with still others in the delicate pastel shades formed a galaxy of unusual beauty. Simplicity of style seemed the keynote, embellished by the most beautiful needlework. This was especially noticeable in the lingerie department where the most delicate of convent embroidery appeared on the sheerest of stuffs. To be smartly gowned this season every garment must be hand work, the result of months of patient embroidering, insetting of lace and painstaking effort.

Dreams of color and design are found in the millinery department where the newest and most bewitching hats and toques are to be seen. Though white and black and a combination of the two still prevail to a large extent, the increasing popularity of delicate pink, the tint of the frailest sea shell, is a distinct feature of this season's forecast. The chic Fifth Avenue shape of soft rolling felt, and the odd mushroom style are exhibited while the new fad for gold and silver ribbons and laces appears in most daring but beautiful effects. No less fascinating is the display of children's cloaks and bonnets, where novelty and beauty of color and design are combined with the finest of needlework.

The fur department shows the latest in styles for fashionable outer garments, automobile coats in the natural seal, and smaller wraps in which several furs are put together with much effect. The rarest and most exquisite of laces, new floral designs in ribbons and others in the new popular shades, gloves, both for evening and street wear, harmonizing perfectly in color with the most fastidious of gowns, a perfect rainbow of colors and shading into every tint in the silk department, hosiery and shoes completing the perfect color scheme of costume are among the many things shown in the fall opening.

The jewelry department has been enlarged and improved, and watches from the tiny chatelaine to the most serviceable article have been included within the last week. Bags of every description, even to holding a complete manicure set, are seen. Rock crystal in every design for the dining-room, exquisite china and bronzes are displayed. A special department has been set aside for the wall papers, including the new Swiss importation, not to be distinguished when on the walls from the silk damask seen in French drawing rooms. The rug display is extensive and next week an entirely new importation of oriental rugs will be shown which are not yet unpacked.

Though these displays are specially interesting to the women who flock to Horne's an almost equally effective showing is made in the men's department, on the first floor, where a special arrangement has been made of the college colors, various cases showing the pennants and colors of Yale, Princeton, Harvard, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Western university, Washington and Jefferson university and the Pittsburgh high school, and Shadyside and East Liberty academies.

The Death Roll.

William Silver.

SALEM, O., Oct. 3.—William Silver, treasurer of the Silver Manufacturing Company of Salem, died this morning at 2 o'clock of typhoid fever. Mr. Silver had been a lifelong resident of Salem and one of its most progressive and influential citizens. He was first identified with the Silver & Deming Manufacturing Company, and afterward with his brothers, organized the present company. While he was an invalid for the last ten years, he has been a hard worker and engaged in every enterprise of benefit to his home city. He was a member of Salem Commandery No. 42, K. T., also one of the incorporators and trustees of the Salem Cemetery association. He is survived by his widow, mother, three brothers and one sister. His funeral will take place on Thursday, conducted by Salem commandery.

Mrs. Mary Jane Colclaser.

Mrs. Mary Jane Colclaser, aged 77, widow of Daniel E. Colclaser, died yesterday morning at her home in Monroeville, after one week's illness of pneumonia. She was born in Pittsburgh, but spent most of her life in Monroeville, as she was married at the age of 18 to Daniel E. Colclaser of that place, who died in 1885. Mrs. Colclaser was a member of the Cross Roads Presbyterian church of Monroeville. She is survived by the following children: George T. of this city, Stewart M. of Wilmerding, Robert of Homestead, James M. of Munhall, Mrs. Henry Beatty and Mrs. Sophie McCloskey of Monroeville, and by 29 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held from the Cross Roads Presbyterian church at Monroeville, tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Obituary Notes.

Miss Elizabeth Bell Heaslet, aged 17, a pupil of the Millvale High school, died of abscess of the brain at the home of her parents, 440 North avenue, Millvale, Monday night. She was a daughter of Robert Heaslet.

Mrs. Mary Sanders Tegethoff, aged 80, widow of John Tegethoff, who died two years ago, died yesterday morning at her home in Ninth street, Braddock. She was born in Westphalia, Germany. She is survived by two daughters—Miss Sarah Tegethoff and Mrs. Albert Zwarnick, both of Braddock.

Mrs. Mary Ann Patterson, aged 90, the oldest resident of Bullskin township, Fayette county, is dead at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mary Freed, at Wooddale. Mrs. Patterson was born and reared in Bullskin township. Mrs. Patterson is the first of a family of four children to succumb. Three brothers survive.

Miss Nancy Hillis, aged 50, of East Brady, Clarion county, is dead at the home of her sister, Mrs. Benjamin Graham, in Washington. She formerly lived there and was visiting her sister. Besides Mrs. Graham she is survived by a sister and brother at East Brady.

Wedded for Fifty Years.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Baake celebrated their golden wedding anniversary yesterday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. George Small, 126 Camp avenue, Braddock. Mr. and Mrs. Baake reside in Cumberland, Md. Both were born in Germany and were married in Cumberland October 5, 1855. Seven children were born, all of whom are living and were present at the celebration, with 12 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

CONGRESSMAN GOULDEN

FINDS QUICK RELIEF THROUGH

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

Hon. JOSEPH A. GOULDEN

Hon. Joseph A. Goulden is member of congress representing the Eighteenth New York district. Mr. Goulden is a naval veteran and one of the trustees of the Soldiers' Home at Bath, N. Y., and has held several other honorary positions of public trust. His name stands for sterling integrity.

Having used Doan's Kidney Pills himself with entire satisfaction, Congressman Goulden does not hesitate to recommend them. He writes us the following: Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Gentlemen: As many of my friends have used Doan's Kidney Pills and have been cured of bladder and kidney troubles, I feel it my duty to recommend the medicine to those who suffer from such diseases.

From personal experience I know Doan's Kidney Pills will cure inflammation of the bladder, having experienced relief the second day of using the medicine.

Yours truly,

(Signed) J. A. GOULDEN.

Doan's Kidney Pills Cure Pittsburgh Bad Backs

Testimony of Pittsburgh People Prove Their Merit

A bad back is a back that aches after every little exertion. Sick kidneys cause that kind of a weak back, and a kidney bad back will never be strong and sound until the kidneys are cured.

Backache is really a kidney ache—the aching of overwork, inflamed, congested kidneys. It comes right in the small of the back, where the kidneys are located. Sometimes the ache is heavy and dull. Again it changes to sharp, darting pains, like the thrusts of a knife. It seems impossible to stoop or lift, or bend the back. All night the aching keeps up, leaving the sufferer tired and lame in the morning.

Backache is a warning that should be heeded. It calls attention to the fact that the kidneys are giving out, that diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease are threatened. Don't wait. Help the kidneys at once. Cure them with Doan's Kidney Pills, the great American kidney specific. It is the one remedy that is recommended by residents of your own city.

PITTSBURGH TESTIMONY:

Kerns Welsh, patrolman on wagon No. 10, living at 141 Greenfield avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa., says: "For back and kidney troubles I think Doan's Kidney Pills are worth recommending and have thought so for several years. I remember I used them on the strength of somebody's statement that I would find them all right, and I have been so glad that I had this advice that I am free to recommend the remedy myself to other sufferers. I can remember very well how I was suffering with my back and kidneys when I began taking the medicine, but Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and I have remained cured."

If you wish to try Doan's Kidney Pills free of expense, write to Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial box.

Sold by all druggists. Price, 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., Prop's.

here's odd news

A London firm, because overstocked, couldn't take in a quantity of Fine Corsets manufactured expressly for them in this country.

The maker couldn't hold the Corsets and await their pleasure, so he sold at a sacrifice.

We took them all, and here's the result:

Sale of high-class Fancy Broche Corsets—fine White or White with Pink or Blue figures—also Black with fancy colors combined.

All up-to-date models—Royal Worcester, Bon Ton and Vernice,

$2.50 corsets, $1.25

$3.00 and $4.00 ones, $2.00
$5.00 and $6.00 ones, $3.00
$7.50, $8.50 and $10.00 ones, $5.00

American manufactures in some lines are considered a great luxury over there, and they make a feature of the fact—so you'll find these boxes labeled "American Corsets."

This is the largest Corset Sale we ever undertook.

To make it still more interesting special lots of other leading Corsets are included.

Small lot of Redfern's styles R. C. Y. K. $8.50 ones for $5.00—$4.00 and $5.00 ones, $2.50

Lot of up-to-date high bust, long hip J. B. Corsets—Coutil and Batiste—all sizes, Dollar Corsets, 50c

All these Corsets perfectly clean, choice goods.

We are showing handsome new models in our own Corset, "Loma," $4.50 to $15.00.

millinery

"All the World's a Stage" and every Millinery Opening strives more or less for scenic effect.

We've had our Opening and now we're down in earnest to the practical part of Millinery merchandising.

The trying on—selecting shapes, color tones, copying, remodeling, adapting, sometimes giving merely a touch, but at all times keeping in mind the fundamental principle that Millinery must be becoming to the individual who is to wear it.

We believe we can do you a lot of good this season with the collection of models and materials here, and our plain business way of going about it.

Nice Trimmed Hats, $5.00 and some so exquisitely dainty and so costly in material and construction that the lowest small profit price we can put on is $85.00.

Still, as you well know, the bulk of the business is in between.

We show a case full of Hats today at $10.00, $12.00 and $15.00 that we are sure you'll say are marvels of Millinery genius.

That is, tasteful and stylish for far less than they appear to be worth.

Another collection priced $7.00 will astonish you with their genuine excellence.

We expect to accomplish great things with this season's Millinery—Miss Knowles must have reached Paris at exactly the right time.

Black, also White, Ostrich Plumes—16 and 18 inches long, $2.50.

Colored Ostrich Plumes, 16 inches long—Peacock, Old Rose, Green, Grey, Smoke, etc., $2.50.

You know well enough, Madam, that the stores and the country is full of common, ordinary Blankets.

The cry for cheap! cheap! made most manufacturers so scale the weight and texture that little solid merit was left.

We have them—the cheap Blankets as well as the good ones—$2.50 to $18.00 a pair.

But you can get here what you can't get in all stores, and that's genuinely good Blankets.

Blankets made by conscientious manufacturers who'd rather close the mill than prostitute their trade.

Prices for these Better Blankets, $5.00 to $15.00 a pair.

Extra quality White Blankets—Cotton warp, fine all-wool fillings, Pink, Blue and Red borders, $5.00 a pair.

Two very good numbers White Blankets—fancy Jacquard borders, strictly all wool, extra size, $6.50 and $7.50 a pair.

Very fine White Blankets, made by the Amana Society, Homestead, Iowa—strictly all wool—large, lofty Blankets at the low price of $8.00 a pair.

Finest quality White Blankets, $10.00, $12.50 and $15.00 a pair.

Two special numbers Down Comforts—covered with best quality figured satine, filled with strictly pure odorless down, $3.50 and $4.50 each.

Unusual offering of extra good useful goods.

"THE GIRL OF THE GOLDEN WEST"

Play of California, With Bret Harte Atmosphere and the True Belasco Imprimatur.

A FINE CAST OF PRINCIPALS

By CHARLES M. BREGG.

Dramatic events of significant importance to the theater as a national institution are rare enough in these days anywhere, and so rare in Pittsburgh as to be worthy of special chronicle. A new play by a master of modern stage craft, presented on a stage but recently dedicated to the freedom of the art of acting, and in itself the creation of its producer, who has wrought out of memory and ripe experience a drama of native brand, all combined to focus attention on the Belasco theater and to draw to that house last night an audience that filled every seat and box. These things must be counted as undeniable factors in what was so manifestly the successful premier of "The Girl of the Golden West," apart from the ultimate criticism that the play itself will receive. One could not sit with the Belasco audience five minutes last night without feeling its sympathy for what lay back of the play, its author and its star. Projected upon these favorable conditions a play of even less merit would have won recognition if not applause. But "The Girl of the Golden West" stands on "her" merits. The play is a strong, intensely interesting work, that bears so unmistakably the ear marks of David Belasco as to leave no loop hole for contending aspirants for authorship honors or inuendo of carping enemy. It is so distinctively the creation of his genius for technical stage effects that one familiar with David Belasco would know it on the other side the earth. It marks a turning point in his career as a dramatist, and brings a new climax to his work of stage technique. This play depends in large measure upon this latter phase of Mr. Belasco's remarkable skill, and this fact is much more apparent to the casual observer than it was in "Du Barry," "Darling of the Gods," or "Adrea," his other recent successes, for the reason that his stage wizardy is dealing with a reasonably familiar atmosphere, and is handling material of our own history and our own land. I do not regard this western play as a great achievement of literary genius, nor can one put unqualified approval upon its ethics, even for a stage so given to broad imagination as our modern theater, but certainly one can only feel intense amazement over the genius that has taken the material and worked out of it such effective results.

The play is in a scenic tableau of two scenes as a prologue, followed by three acts and a fourth of wonderful charm, that acts as a sort of epilogue. All the scenes take place within the radius of a mining camp in California, and the time is located in the period of 1849-50, days in that far western land over which fiction has thrown a haze of romance. Mr. Belasco is himself a Californian. As a boy he breathed the atmosphere that he has sought to create, and if his story and characters remind one always of Bret Harte it is only a tribute to the accuracy of the Harte narratives; for while both caught the same atmosphere, Mr. Belasco has idealized in imagination what Harte only cared to give us in connective story. It is to this fact that Mr. Belasco's play owes its defect, if it really be a defect and not a charm. He has written more from memory and with his handmaiden, stage art, at his elbow. If the Cloudy mountain mining camp people that he has put on the stage are inconsistent at times in dialogue, and at other times exhibit strivings after the infinite reaches of Dante, it must be remembered that Mr. Belasco is a historian from memory and an artist of the stage from keen love of it as his present daily food. In plot the play is ingenious, as much for its independence of convention as for its ethical waywardness. A young girl of the mines is the patron saint of the miners. A child of the Sierras, she tells you that she is happy as the keeper of a gambling place and whisky saloon, because her father and mother were in the same business before her. To this girl the rough miners give a devotion that is ideally beautiful. It forms the background of the one incident of the play that is dramatically tense all through. A "road agent" comes to the girl's saloon for the purpose of robbing it. He is the man of fate, for the two have seen each other before for a brief moment. The girl gives her love with all the freedom and unconventionality of her kind, though she keeps herself, as always, unspotted. The road agent is suspected, identified and tracked to the girl's hut, on the mountainside, where he had gone upon her invitation for a quiet supper together. This act holds the dramatic climax of Mr. Belasco's story. All that goes before or follows after is so much fine Belasco effect wrought in as brilliant thread work into a rose plaque. The climax of that act is a poker game played by the girl and the sheriff, who is also her declared lover. The stakes are herself and the life of her lover, who has been wounded and lay half conscious across the table. Can you not imagine how Belasco would revel in this not original but intensely sensational scene. He has worked it out with all the skill of the perfect master of effect. The background is drawn fine down to the scraps of paper that litter the floor of that truly western cabin. The Indian squaw and her papoose, the dim light of the tallow candles, and that most awful snow storm in the very height of the love making. All these things lie there behind the great moment when the sheriff with tense hands and furtive eyes throws down his third hand, declaring he has won because he has three kings. Then comes the crucical moment, and the moment also when the ethics of Mr. Belasco's play steps aside for dramatic effect. The girl has secreted in the bosom of her robe an ace full and wins. Dramatically it is a moment of intense interest. It sweeps the audience off its feet and their is a storm of applause this side of the footlights quite as turbulent as was that snow storm a few moments before on the other side.

From this point onward the story falls first into comedy, then into another few moments of tense tragedy, and then fades beautifully and tenderly away across the distances of the plains whither the "girl" and her reformed lover go to find a new life. The finale is another splendid achievement of Mr. Belasco's stage art. It leaves you with a sense of fitness and smooths out the memory of dialogue inconsistencies and warped ethics. It lets you go away feeling that this is quite the best play of western life you have ever seen. Mr. Belasco may not himself agree with this dictum, but of all the greatness and charm of the play, and these are there in abundance, this reviewer wants to lay them as tributes at the feet of, not perhaps a great playwright, but certainly the most effective fashioner of material for impressive dramatic results that our modern theater can boast.

I have left myself but little space for praise of the factor in the success of "The Girl of the Golden West" that stands close alongside the maker of the play. That is the "girl" herself. Miss Blanche Bates again proves her worth. She was nervous last night and many things occurred beyond the footlights to perturb her, but through it all her art shone clear and radiant. She gave consistency and potency to the character that with a less personality might have sagged in places. The earnestness of her talents showed as clear as a bell, and she dominated the stage and the unfolding of the story with a force that was one-half personality and the other half a genius for characterization. I have never witnessed a more sincere and spontaneous tribute paid to a player than that given Miss Bates at the close of the second act, and she quite deserved every bit of it. As her work in this role matures I can easily imagine it as one of the most convincing things in a repertoire that is already notable. Of her support Mr. Hilliard needs to come more nearly en rapport with the intense atmosphere. He lacks at time the proper key, though his work is skilful and intelligent. Mr. Cope, Mr. Keenan, Mr. Benrimo, Mr. McGrane, Mr. Deshon, Miss Stirling and their associates do most admirable work, and add to the effectiveness of a play that marks a new era in the life of David Belasco.

Miss Bates received a number of handsome flowers, and Mr. Belasco, in response to calls, came forward and said: "Ladies and gentlemen, Miss Bates is very grateful for for your applause, and so am I. We thank you for all your kindness. You all have our hearts tonight. Believe me, we are very happy to be here again, after having been barred from your city. Ladies and gentlemen, I hope the people of Pittsburgh will be good to this little house. We need your support tonight, I need it. We are a handful of men fighting a great trust. We want to give back to our country a decent, clean stage. Ladies and gentlemen, the stage is a place for the growth of art, not for sweatshop methods in commercialism. The stage cannot prosper under a syndicate. Help us then, help us to get back the stage that Lester Wallack and Augustin Daly left us. Help us to win, ladies and gentlemen, that the other managers may assert their manhood, and the ladies and gentlemen, the artists of our stage, their courage, their independence. You have given us so much in the past, and from tonight I shall ever be your loyal and faithful servant."

ARTISTIC WINDOW DISPLAY.

For show window display advertising there has never been anything seen in Pittsburgh that equals that in the windows of the McCreery Company today. The scheme is an entirely new one and is in keeping with the policy of this great establishment to be leaders in everything and not followers.

Twigs of purple, yellow, green and white are shown in the Wood street windows. Each window is devoted to one particular color. Ribbons of that color are entwined about the twigs and drop to the floor. About the floor are several hats of the most recent creations either lying in or near a box made especially for that color of hat.

The Sixth avenue windows are equally as pretty. The color scheme is observed just as in the Wood street windows, but the arrangement of the millinery is different. About half a dozen hats are shown in each of the Sixth avenue windows, but the manner in which they are displayed is sufficient to give one an idea of what is exhibited within the spacious store.

All day throngs were gathered about the several windows. It is by far the most attractive window display seen in Pittsburgh in years. The small number of articles shown in the window and the manner in which these articles are arranged only goes to make the display all the more attractive. Indeed, the windows are quite worth the while.

WINDOW GLASS MAKERS WILL RAISE BIG FUND

President J. R. Johnston, of the National Association of Window Glass Manufacturers, has sent a circular letter to the members suggesting that each stand a monthly assessment of $2 a pot for the use of the organization. It is believed that this plan will be accepted and that a substantial fund will be formed.

Mrs. Virgin Charges Theft.

Mrs. Lucy Brown, a colored seamstress, living at 301 Renfrew street, has been sued before Alderman Negley by Mrs. Martha J. Virgin of 620 College avenue, on a charge of larceny. Mrs. Virgin charges that Mrs. Brown took a hat, valued at $35; a riding habit skirt, valued at $75; a lady's coat, valued at $45; and other goods to the value of $150. Mrs. Brown was arrested and gave bail in the sum of $300 for a hearing tonight.

Drivers Fined $10 Each.

William Brown, a negro driver employed by James L. Black of 3126 Liberty avenue; Joe Drodus, a driver for Contractor Thomas McNally, employed on the new Schenley park race track, and Elmer Peters, a driver for the Household Storage Company, were each fined $10 and costs yesterday for working horses which had sore shoulders. All the charges were preferred by Humane society agents.

FAMOUS M'KEES ROCKS MOUND YIELDS UP TREASURES OF PEARL

The McKees Rocks mound is giving up new treasures. No longer will the historic hillsides be excavated for the fossilized bones of the aborigines. Yesterday A. O. Christie, a Sheraden barber, found a petrified clam, and on breaking its shell he found a pearl an inch and a half thick imbedded therein. McKees Rocks jewelers value the gem in the rough at $500.

Petrified clams are numerous at the rocks. They have often been found, but Christie was the only person who was curious enough to break the shell. When the news of Christie's good fortune got abroad there were scores of people who sought the gems, and every paving stone and clinker that looked like the remains of a petrified clam were eagerly gathered up. Up until a late hour last night no further "strikes" were reported in the world's first dusty pearl fishery.

Too Much Worry.

Worry kills more people than disease. It turns our hair gray; draws wrinkles on our face, places lines of care on our brow. We worry because we have too much to do. We worry because we have nothing to do. We worry about our friends. Make our friends wonder at our impatient and irritable nature, and if we don't take the trouble to learn the great secret we will worry ourselves into the grave. Worry is caused by a diseased stomach. Lactonene Dyspepsia Tablets cure it. Get them today. A contented mind is surely yours—the greatest blessing man or woman can have. "At the Druggist."

"I WANT TO BE MY OWN FREE AGENT"

So Declares Dr. Moore in Fiery Speech on Temperance Before Pittsburgh Presbytery.

WILL NOT SUBMIT TO PLEDGE

Like a thunderclap from a most unexpected quarter, came the words, hot and eloquent, "This doctrine of 'touch not, taste not, handle not' I oppose. Men should act as intelligent beings in the use and abuse of intoxicating drinks the same as they do with any other dangerous instrument."

Breathless from this sudden and independent declaration the members of the Pittsburgh presbytery of the Presbyterian church in session in the chapel of the First church, Sixth avenue, with the report of the committee on temperance before them, hardly breathed till the spell was broken by the speaker, the Rev. Dr. Dunlop Moore, when he continued as follows:

"I hold myself at liberty, for my own good health's sake and the glorification of God, to take a glass of wine when I think it necessary. I will not submit myself to take the pledge. I want to be my own free agent in such matters."

As the sound of Dr. Moore's voice flouted out over the audience of ministers, he continued: "I do not wish it understood, however, that I am opposed to the cause of temperance, for I am and always have been a strong advocate of temperance."

The report of the committee on temperance was read by the chairman of the committee, the Rev. Herbert Hezlep, at the afternoon session yesterday. When a vote was taken on the report it was adopted by an overwhelming majority, but Dr. Moore, Dr. Bruce and Dr. Hunter voted a firm "no," with about a dozen others against the adoption of the resolution.

Resolutions Which Drew Fire.

The resolutions which drew the fire from Dr. Moore were as follows:

First—That we record our gratification at the efforts to safeguard our soldiers by suppressing beer selling and substituting for the beer canteen the reading room with various rational amusements. That we express our hope that like care shall be extended to our retired and that the manufacture may be forbidden not only from the inside, but from the vicinity of all army posts and old soldiers' homes.

Second—That recent developments regarding army morals seem to furnish occasion for the greatest solicitude, and we cite the president and congress to the following fact and to the inquiry based upon it: The great railways of the country are served by a million abstainers. The management of the railways recognizing their responsibilities to their stockholders and to the public, demand of those seeking to enter the service that during that period of their service they shall abstain from all intoxicating liquors. Can any sufficient reason be alleged why like conditions should not be imposed on those who seek to be commissioned to service in the army or navy of the United States? Surely the interests involved are no less precious, while the obligations of the army and navy officers are enhanced by the fact that they have been educated at the country's expense.

Third—That this action be forwarded to the president and congress when it shall meet in its next session."

Pastors Make Special Pleas.

The Rev. Dr. J. C. Bruce, of Crafton, opened the discussion of the report by asking that the recommendations be considered separately, which was agreed to. The Rev. S. A. Hunter denounced the alleged intention of Congressman A. J. Barchfeld to introduce a bill in congress at the next session to re-establish the army canteen. Dr. Hunter stated that Congressman Barchfeld was active in all anti-Sunday observance movements and had lobbied at Harrisburg against all Sunday observance measures.

The report also recommended a change of the rules to the effect that pastors be instructed to make special pleas before their congregations for donations to the general assembly temperance fund. The Rev. Mr. Hezlep stated that only $881.25 of the Pittsburgh presbytery's pro rata share to be contributed, namely $965 for last year, has been raised and that 17 out of 81 churches in the presbytery did not contribute one penny to the fund. This portion of the report was laid over until the next meeting of the presbytery and the rest of the report was adopted.

The report of the committee on presbyterial missions recommended that the McKinley park church be allowed to organize; that the Oakland congregation be allowed to change its location from Boquet street to McKee place; that the Oakland Presbyterian and the Presbyterian congregations at Clairton be allowed to worship together for the present. The report was adopted.

Recommends Holding Revivals.

The committee on evangelization in its report deplored the fact that worldliness and commercialism are making marked inroads into the sanctification of the church, causing a general apathy everywhere, and recommended the holding of a religious revival as recommended by the Pittsburgh and Allegheny presbyterial associations. The report was adopted without discussion.

The report of the committee on Freedmen's work showed great interest, especially among the schools and seminaries of the south. Other reports were read and approved and the presbytery adjourned to meet in the First church on the first Tuesday of November.

At the session considerable indignation was expressed by the Wilkinsburg delegates over the report that there is trouble in the Wilkinsburg congregation and that nearly all the officers refused to remain in office unless the Rev. Dr. Thomas Parry left immediately, instead of waiting until March 1, 1906, when his resignation was to have gone into effect. The presbytery was not requested to dissolve the pastoral relation at its meeting yesterday, and it was stoutly denied that the boards of the church had decided to return to the old method of electing elders for life tenures. It was said the reason for Dr. Parry advancing the time for his leaving the church is because several inviting fields are anxious to secure his services.

PITTSBURGH SCHOOLS HAVE 43,685 PUPILS

The 40 Pittsburgh public schools have an enrollment of 43,685 pupils this year. This is based upon the enrollment for the month of September. Last year it was 42,702, showing a gain of 983 for this year.

Half of the increase comes from the Westlake school of the Thirty-ninth ward, which was annexed to the city this year. This school has 545 pupils. Increases in the attendance are reported from 23 schools, decreases from 17 schools and there is no change in one school. The attendance for October will show an increase. The following table shows the enrollment of each school and the gain and loss:

Turkish, Indian and Persian Carpets and Rugs

An Autumnal display—rich in the designs and colorings of the Orient, and in variety, size and price to suit every requirement.

We have already proved that in the selling of these goods we are far in advance, in both selections and in the manner in which we price them—basing all prices, as we do, on commercial values—and not on eastern romance. We cannot describe so large a stock—nor specialize as to prices—THEY MEAN NOTHING UNLESS YOU SEE THE RUGS—therefore see them.

Our Oriental Rugs are offered on the same low profit basis that we have always sold our Domestic Rugs—this means 25 TO 50 PER CENT LESS than prevailing prices in most Oriental Rug stocks—

N. Y. C. LINES TO GET 30,000 CARS

P. & L. E. Completes 1906 Program—Annual Inspection of the Road's Bridges.

ERIE AS "GREAT PROTECTOR"

Thirty thousand cars for use in the freight service of the New York Central lines will be added next year. The details of the program have been practically completed and definite orders will be placed within a month. The New York Central lines' officers feel it is necessary to provide this equipment to meet the rapidly-increasing demands, and the ordering of 30,000 freight cars in a bulk for 1906 delivery indicates something of the optimism of these officers.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie will come in for its full quota of rolling stock, for the New York Central lines' officers are beginning to realize that the "Little Giant" is really a giant in the matter of originating traffic as well as in being a paying road for its owners. The out-going freight from the Pittsburgh district to the other lines of the New York Central system is handled almost exclusively by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie. The Central's officers have come to realize that the 190 odd miles of road of the Lake Erie are about the most important on the whole system's 12,000 miles.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie will receive 2,000 of the new freight cars, according to the action taken yesterday by Col. Schoonmaker and other officers of the company. A number of freight engines will be added, and there will be five new passenger engines. These will be the finest passenger engines ever built for the Lake Erie, being designed for the heavier passenger train use.

"We completed the program for our equipment for next year today," said Col. Schoonmaker, who has just returned to his desk from his summer home at Spring Lake, N. J., "and I think we shall be in excellent shape to meet the growth that is certain to come in the industrial and business world. The Lake Erie has been developing rapidly in its through passenger train service in the past year, and we must continue to better the service. The through service to Cleveland and Chicago has never been better, while the Buffalo service is par excellence over the Lake Erie and Lake Shore roads."

Erie as Oliver Cromwell.

The Erie Railroad Company has become to the trunk line situation of the eastern part of the United States what Oliver Cromwell was to the English interests—"Great Protector." Somebody had to buy the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton property to insure the future welfare of the trunk lines for it had become well known that the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton was in obstruction to conditions for the best in trunk line railroading. And the Erie was selected, willy or nilly, to become the "Great Protector." Whether the protectorate will result in bringing about the best for the trunk lines remains to be seen, but it is certain that the Erie has secured a property that will be a good revenue-producer for it in time to come. The Cincinnati line reaches too many prosperous cities and towns in Western Ohio and Indiana to be overlooked in the traffic of that district. It was a pretty hard thing to pay three or four or even more syndicate profits for the property, but the Erie secured the C., H. & D. at a fair price, and there will be little to pay at the start under the conditions of the purchase. In the future financing the Erie will be responsible, and as things Erie have been going for some years, or since "Fred" Underwood became head of the property, the future of the Cincinnati lines has every ray of brightness clear. The acquisition of these lines gives the Erie a big step forward among the trunk lines.

Funeral of S. M. Prevost.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3.—Railroad officials, financiers and other prominent men of affairs attended the funeral of Sutherland M. Prevost, late third vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad. After services at St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal church here the body was taken to Wilmington, Del., for interment. The honorary pallbearers were: A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad; Charles E. Pugh, second vice president, and Robert Pitcairn, assistant to the president; Oscar G. Murray, president of the Baltimore & Ohio; George W. Stevens, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio; L. E. Johnson, president of the Norfolk & Western; Spencer Meade, Henry W. Biddle, J. Gardner Cassatt and Theodore H. Etting.

Inspecting P. & L. E. Bridges.

The annual fall inspection of the bridges and structures of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad was completed last evening by the officers of the engineering and maintenance departments. Monday was spent in a trip over the Youghiogheny and Monongahela divisions, and yesterday was spent in a trip over the main line to Youngstown and New Castle, and over the branches. Upon the results of this inspection will depend the fall work on the bridges and structures and the recommendations for next year in renewals.

Those in the inspection party were: Chief Engineer J. A. Atwood, Assistant Chief Engineer A. R. Raymer, Consulting Engineer Albert Lucius of New York, Assistant Engineers B. F. Wendt and E. W. Boots, Superintendent of Bridges and Buildings C. M. Soles and Correspondence Clerk Norman R. McAfee of the engineering department.

Surgeon Milligan Home From the West.

The many railroad friends of Dr. J. D. Milligan, chief surgeon of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, yesterday welcomed him back to Pittsburgh from an extended western trip, and if all reports are true he is now able to give his friends tips on the manner of panning gold; at least, he brought a few sample nuggets home with him. Dr. Milligan made use of interesting modes of transportation in his trip from here to Revelstoke, B. C., and return. In addition to the railroad method he made use of steamers, rafts and pack trains. He visited numerous points of interest in British Columbia, far into the north end of the province and then returned southward for a jaunt along the coast in the United States. The most exhilarating journey he had on the trip was a ride on a raft in the Columbia river from Smith creek to Revelstoke—80 miles in 8 hours and 18 minutes. Incidentally he bagged some fine game.

Robertson Goes to Western Maryland.

Alexander Robertson, who has been general manager of the Terminal Railroad association of St. Louis for the past few months, has been appointed to the new office of general manager of the Western Maryland railroad system. Mr. Robertson was identified with the Western Maryland about two years ago under the title of manager, when he was called to St. Louis. He is a well known operating man and rose to his present position from the position of brakeman, starting in 1885 on the Fitchburg road. In 1897 he went to the Wabash as general yardmaster and the next year was made trainmaster. In 1899 he was appointed superintendent of the Wabash at Decatur, Ill., from which position he was taken to the Western Maryland when the Gould interests secured control of the latter road.

Railroad Notes.

C. S. Moore, master car builder of the Wheeling & Lake Erie, was in the city.

B. A. Worthington, vice president of the Wabash lines east of Toledo, is enjoying a visit with his family in New York.

Patrick Leonard, live stock agent of the Erie at Chicago, was here conferring with General Agent D. L. Wells yesterday.

The run of the Taft special from Chicago to Washington Monday was made in 18 hours and 18 minutes over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

J. B. Drake, traveling passenger agent of the Burlington, returned from Chicago headquarters and reported business to be brisk, particularly the colonist business to the far west.

W. F. Richardson, mechanical engineer of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, returned yesterday from a visit to his home in St. Paul and a jaunt to Duluth. Mr. Richardson was recently married and enjoyed his vacation in a wedding trip with his bride.

At the annual meeting of the Hocking Valley stockholders in Columbus, S. P. Bush of Columbus was elected a director to succeed W. F. Goodspeed, deceased, and A. H. Gillard of New York was chosen to succeed Robert Bacon. The other directors were re-elected.

W. B. Leeds, James H. Moore, Norman B. Ream and James B. Forgan were re-elected directors of the Chicago & Alton Railroad Company at the annual meeting in Chicago. Total gross receipts for the year ending June 30 were $11,787,313 compared with $11,425,853 for the preceding year.

The colonist business to the far west, which was not at all encouraging from September 15 until October 1, took a spurt Monday and in two days of this week there has been a decided boom. Passenger agents report a good business for the far western points, many of the people going to Los Angeles and other Pacific coast points to settle.

Within a couple of weeks the Pennsylvania railroad will begin the extension of six tracks for the train shed at Broad street station, Philadelphia, from Sixteenth to Seventeenth streets. These will occupy the property recently held by the Adams Express Company, which will occupy new offices. Umbrella sheds will be built over the new tracks.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN PERISH IN THEIR HOME

House Used by Two Families Destroyed by Fire and Six People Are Cremated.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

STEUBENVILLE, O., Oct. 3.—The joint home of James Algeo and James Cardelli at Edgington, W. Va., one mile east of Wheeling Junction, became a veritable charnel house at midnight Monday when the house was burned to the ground and six occupants were cremated.

Those burned to death are:

MRS. JAMES ALGEO, aged 24.
WILLIAM ALGEO, aged 6.
JAMES ALGEO, aged 4.
THEODORE ALGEO, aged 2.
MRS. JAMES CARDELLI, aged 25.
GEORGE T. CARDELLI, aged 2.

Of the eight persons in the house at the time of the fire but two escaped, husbands of the dead women. The house was a two-story frame structure in a field to the south of the Panhandle railroad. There were three rooms on each floor. Each family occupied a bedroom upstairs. In the Algeo rooms when they retired at 8 o'clock last night was a lighted lamp, turned down. The fire resulted from this.

Both men were awakened at midnight by smoke, and when they investigated the stairway was burning. Algeo jumped out the second story window, intending to catch his children as his wife threw them down. He never heard from them again. Cardelli also leaped to safety, but his family perished.

FIRE DESTROYS NEW DEPOT.

Wabash Structure at Hickory Burns. Believed Blaze was of Incendiary Origin.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—The new station of the Wabash railroad at Hickory was destroyed by fire this morning, probably of incendiary origin. C. C. Coates, the night agent was not aware the building was blazing until he was driven from his office at 4 o'clock by the smoke and flames.

He had just time enough to seize the money drawer and escape. All tickets, furniture and a quantity of freight and express were destroyed, with the building. An oil can, partially filled with oil, was found near the burned structure today, this leading to the incendiary theory. The loss is about $3,000.

CABMAN ELECTROCUTED WHILE TYING HIS HORSE

YORK, PA., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—When William R. Hafer, aged 25, a cab driver in the service of the York Cab Company, attempted to tie his horse to an iron awning post into which a current of 3,000 voltage had been introduced from a live wire which during the progress of a storm had come in contact with the metal awning frame, he was instantly shocked to death this morning. The violence of the current hurled the unfortunate driver about 25 feet.

SHARON PASTOR RESIGNS.

THE REV. W. H. MILLHOUSE.

SHARON, PA., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—The Rev. W. H. Millhouse, pastor of St. Paul's Reformed church, caused a surprise yesterday by tendering his resignation to take effect about the middle of November. The congregation took immediate action and decided to accept his resignation. A meeting of the classis will be held within a few weeks when official action will be taken and steps taken to secure Mr. Millhouse's successor. The Rev. Mr. Millhouse came to Sharon nearly four years ago from Perrysville, Carbon county, and during his stay the membership of the church has largely increased. He has accepted a call from Beam charge in Somerset county.

JUDGE DEALS A HARD BLOW TO THE CITIZENS PARTY

Washington County Campaign Waxes Warm and a Democratic Nomination Is Declared Illegal.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 3.—The Citizens party of Washington county was today dealt the severest blow of the present campaign, when Judge R. E. Umbel in the Ralston-Huffman case declared Huffman's nomination for county commissioner on the Democratic ticket illegal. Huffman, the regular Citizens nominee for commissioner was also nominated by a committee of three to the same office on the Democratic ticket.

J. M. Ralston and other anti-fusion Democrats objected to Huffman as their candidate, because he was a Republican, and contested the validity of the nomination in court. The case was heard by Judge Umbell of Uniontown as a disinterested person. The point raised by the "starlight" Democrats was that Huffman's nomination was illegal as it had been made by a committee of three appointed by the county convention instead of by the regular county committee as per the party rules in this county. Judge Umbel held to a strict interpretation of these rules.

To fill this vacancy the Democratic county committee will elect another nominee. W. A. Furlong of Roscoe, a former aspirant, who claims to have been jugsled out of the nomination before probably will be named as he is the choice of the river committeemen. Huffman is now the nominee of the Citizens party alone.

Young Girl Fatally Burned.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—Stella, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Harshman of Mayer, was fatally burned today while on a visit to her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ullery, at Breakneck, near here.

ABNER M'KINLEY ESTATE IS STILL COMPLICATED

Another Bank Files Exceptions to the Account Filed by Mrs. Annie E. McKinley as Executrix.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SOMERSET, PA., Oct. 3.—Exceptions were filed to the account of Mrs. Annie E. McKinley, executrix of the estate of the late Abner McKinley, this afternoon by the Somerset County National bank of Somerset. Mr. McKinley was a brother of the late President William McKinley. The McKinley estate is becoming more complicated every day, as a number of creditors are finding fault with the account made by Mrs. McKinley. The exceptions filed today state that the account has failed to charge herself with large sums of money belonging to the estate of Abner McKinley.

The exceptants claim that policies in various insurance companies aggregating $80,000 originally made payable to the estate of Abner McKinley were shortly prior to Mr. McKinley's death changed to make Mrs. Annie E. McKinley beneficiary. The exceptants claim that when the policies were changed Abner McKinley was mentally incompetent and insolvent, being unable to pay his debts. The bank claims that McKinley owed them for several notes which he indorsed and signed and which amount to $13,741.17.

The bank claims the policies should be used to pay these debts. They also say the accountant omitted from her account the share of President McKinley's estate which was bequeathed to Abner McKinley. This is supposed to have been valued at from $9,000 to $20,000. They also claim Mrs. McKinley failed to account for a large amount of personal property valued at several thousand dollars. The exceptions are sworn out by Milton J. Prints, cashier of the bank.

FRESHY TOO FRESH: HAZED.

First Year Man at W. and J. Undergoes Rough Treatment While Blindfolded.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—Washington and Jefferson college students, for the first time in years, last night hazed a freshman, the victim being from Bellaire, O. While the sophomores are supposed to have been the ringleaders, several of the victim's fellow-classmen are known to have been concerned. The unfortunate was caught in his room, and after being blindfolded and with his hands and feet tied, was taken to the college campus.

Here he was severely chastised by the hazers, who placed him under the spout of the pump repeatedly, giving him a ducking. After frightening him by telling him that he was then to be thrown into the gymnasium pool blindfolded and tied, he was allowed to go with a parting fusillade of bumps and knocks. Too much freshness is said to have been the victim's besetting sin.

FAMOUS OLD BUCKTAIL REGIMENT REUNITES

CURWENSVILLE, PA., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—The 19th annual reunion of the old Bucktail regiment is being held here, the home of State Senator E. A. Irwin, colonel of the regiment. A largely attended meeting was held this evening addressed by prominent Bucktails and others. The campfire Wednesday evening will mark the close of the session.

Settle a Coal Strike.

DUBOIS, PA., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—The strike at Bitumen, at the mines of the Cooke Run Coal Company, was settled today and the men will return to work tomorrow, after being out five weeks. Between 400 and 500 men were employed and it is expected that the entire number will be at work again by Friday.

WHOLE ARSENAL BACKS WOMAN HOME-DEFENDER

Mrs. Mary Dodds of 323 Penn Avenue Has Rifle, Revolver and a Set of Butcher Knives as Arguments.

With a carefu of butcher knives in the cupboard, a bulldog revolver on the mantelpiece and a rifle on the hall tree, Mrs. Mary Dodds, of 323 Penn avenue, is able to stand off intruders who have threatened to tear down the eastern wall of her home. On Monday morning Mrs. Dodds stood on the roof of her house and scared away the workmen of the George Hogg Contracting Company. Since that time no work has been done. Mrs. Dodds was arrested and is being held for a hearing before Alderman J. V. McMasters on the charge of soliciting firearms while she has entered injunction proceedings, restraining further demolition of her premises.

This tells in a nutshell the story of a lone woman's defense of her premises from the hands of a contractor who threatened to ruin her furniture and leave her house exposed to the wintry blasts by tearing down the eastern wall of her home. She is obliged to pay her rent in advance, and receiving no offer of recompense from the real estate agent who leased the property, she decided to take her own measures of defense.

The Pittsburgh Harness Company is building a new structure in Penn avenue below the Americus club. One door below is the house which Mrs. Dodds rents out to lodgers. In the last year she has expended over $1,000 on improvements. A party wall divides the property from the building next door which is being razed. Several weeks ago the work of razing the adjoining property commenced. Mrs. Dodds objected to the removal of the wall. No remuneration was offered, so she says, for her trouble and the contractor commenced dismantling the wall.

"Tear away another brick and I'll shoot you," said Mrs. Dodds.

She stood on the roof with a rifle in her hands. The workmen who stood on a scaffold and were about to thrust their picks in the wall to tear away the last brick which separated them from the luxury of Mrs. Dodds' rooms hesitated.

The sight of a woman on the roof with a rifle in her hands was more than they could stand. They dropped their tools and deserted en masse. The foreman alone remained. Mrs. Dodds repeated the message to him. She did not want to shoot. Then a stick was picked up and when it descended it fell squarely across his shoulders. He rushed down the scaffold and died up the street.

"Don't go near there," he shouted to his workmen. Then he went before Alderman McMasters and entered an information against her for peddling firearms. Mrs. Dodds was promptly arrested and gave bail for her appearance next Tuesday.

Yesterday all was quiet at the house. Mrs. Dodds still had her rifle ready and the bulldog revolver was still on the mantelpiece and the cupboard was full of shining, ugly-looking knives. When the landlord and the real estate agent were not nearly enough, she said, to defend a defenseless woman, she would take the law into her own hands until the injunction proceedings should go into effect. In the house are more than a score of lodgers. The majority are theatrical people and all take sides with their respective landladies.

"Really the rifle was not loaded," said Mrs. Dodds yesterday. "Do I look like a person who would take another's life?"

GOVERNMENT DECIDES TO SEE THE PAPERS

ST. PAUL, MINN., Oct. 3.—Judge Vandeventer, in the United States district court, late this afternoon, decided that the officers of the Hennepin Paper Company, the Itasca Paper Company and the Northwest Paper Company should appear before the United States examiner and answer such questions as might be asked of them in the hearing of the case of the United States against the General Paper Company, and 24 other defendants. The court also declared that the books and papers mentioned in the subpoena should be produced and be submitted to the government for examination.

Finerty Incident Is Closed.

Director Harry Moore, of the department of public safety, has changed his views again, concerning the closing of the Finerty club, which was raided last Saturday night by the county detectives. "The incident is closed," said the director. "I will not investigate the conduct of Superintendent Wallace in connection with the matter. Wallace is a good officer and I think he is the best superintendent of police Pittsburgh has ever had."

Discovers New Counterfeit Bill.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Chief Wilkes of the United States secret service, has announced the discovery of a new counterfeit $10 United States ("Buffalo") note. It is of the series of 1901, check letter B, Lyons, register, Roberts, treasurer. The counterfeit is fully three-eighths of an inch longer than the genuine.

Train Kills a Young Man.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—A. Scott Hudson, aged 28, son of Mrs. Hattie Hudson near South Fork, was killed by a train in the Conemaugh yards of the Pennsylvania railroad today.

OIL CITY EXPLOSION REMAINS A MYSTERY

OIL CITY, PA., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—A mysterious explosion that shook houses, broke windows and scattered a shower of stones and water on streets adjacent to the river, near the Allegheny Valley railroad station, occurred here late last night. The police have been investigating all day, but have obtained no definite information. It is thought a boatful of nitro-glycerin being taken through the city under cover of darkness struck a rock and the boat and men in charge were blown to atoms. There is an ordinance against hauling the explosive through the city.

MILLINERY

BETTER for the money—all along our lines. Those who can afford to pay big prices want good values for their cash as well as those who must restrict their outlay.

Three Steps Down the Price-Ladder

Finest From Paris—Why pay $50, $60 and $75 for imported hats that can be had here for $25 or a little more—not to exceed $35. In this group we are showing fifty millinery masterpieces as charming and correct as anything imported to sell for $50.

Costume Hats—A special line of headwear designed for street costumes is priced so low that you'll pay with cheerful alacrity the $5, $10 and $15 we ask for them. The same high-class materials appear in the $10 and $15 hats that are used in the New York millinery at prices 25 per cent higher.

Most Numerous Line—Five dollars is getting to be so popular a price in the millinery world that we have bent every energy to make a record in trimmed hats at $5 and $7.50. Comparisons will prove that the heading of this section means exactly what it says. (Third Floor.)

$2.50 and $3 Waists for . . 1.90

The fact that these waists possess many little style-touches and differentiating marks from the ordinary run of waists, will appeal to women even stronger than the fact that they're getting $2.50 and $3 value for 1.90. Materials are nuns' veiling, mohair and silk ribbed weaves—in white, black and new evening tints of light blue, tan and pink, also Autumn street shades of green, brown and blue. All made with newest sleeve, beautifully tailor-stitched, tucked or pleated, lace inserted, medallion trimmed or newest hand-embroidered effects. Fastened in either front or back. All sizes 32 to 44.

Lace Waists at $5— Most charming and strikingly modish are these lovely Oriental Lace Waists. The styles are most varied—some with yoke effects, others with dainty insertions and frills of lace.

Exquisite Lace Waists at $12— Creations of surpassing beauty and daintiness are these new models in Irish point, baby Irish and Point de Venise. Elaborately trimmed. Rich silk lining. Long or elbow sleeves. No dressmaker would match them under double.

GAMES TODAY.

Boston at Pittsburgh.

The Pittsburghs yesterday at Exposition park won both games of a double-header from the Bostons. They won the first by hitting young Cy Young with due regularity, getting their runs in bunches of three. The second game was not so easy, requiring 11 innings. Leifield, the left-hander, and Willis, the elongated twirler, faced each other, and Leifield got the better of it, winning his own game by driving in the winning run.

In the first game the Pirates won right on the go-off, scoring three runs in the first inning, and gaining a lead that the Bostons were unable to overcome. The hero was Otto Knabe, the Beltzhoover lad, who was given a trial by Manager Clarke. There were three men on bases when he, for the first time in his life, faced a National league pitcher. He sent the ball between center and right for two bases, sending Clarke, Flanagan and Wagner over the plate. It was a most auspicious start for the youngster, and he was given a mighty cheer, as mighty as 2,000 odd spectators could give. The Pirates kept hitting Young for the balance of the game, getting three runs in the second inning, three in the fourth and one in the sixth. Mike Lynch not only pitched a strong game, but made a remarkable record for a pitcher by hitting the ball safely three out of four times, and scoring three runs. The records must be scanned pretty closely to find the record of another pitcher to equal this, to say nothing of excelling it.

The Bostons managed to score two runs on good drives in the second inning. Delehanty started off with a single, reached second on Wolverton's out and scored on a single by Raymer. In the fourth Cannell made a corking three-bagger and crossed the plate on Raymer's out at first. In the ninth Dolan made a three-bagger, but never got a chance to score.

In the second game the Pirates rolled up three runs by some fine stick work. Clarke began by sending a two-bagger into left field. Ganley tried hard to do something, but failed, going out to Dolan. Flanagan hit for a single, sending Clarke to third. Wagner smashed the ball for three bases, scoring Clarke and Flanagan. Knabe again came to the front by making a single, scoring Wagner.

For the next nine innings the Pirates could do precious little with Vic Willis, only two reaching third base, one in the ninth and one in the tenth inning.

In the meantime the Beancaters were busy. In the second inning they scored two runs. Delehanty started off with a two-bagger and scored on a single by Wolverton to right field. Ganley tried to catch Delehanty at the plate, but failed. Wolverton going to second under the throw. Cannell's out at first sent Wolverton to third and he scored on a single by Raymer. A double play prevented all further damage in this inning.

In the eighth inning the Bostons tied the score and put all the spectators, except a delegation of Steubenville rooters with tin horns, in a state of nervous prostration. After Abbatichchio had been retired, Tenney hit for two bases, while Dolan was at bat Tenney ran to third. Peitz fired the ball to Knabe, who dropped the throw, and Tenney safely. Dolan sent a high fly to Flanagan and Tenney crossed the plate.

Then the tenth inning was played, and Boston also finished its half of the eleventh. Ritchey was the first Pirate up in the eleventh and hit for two bases. Peitz dumped the ball toward first base for a sacrifice, sending Ritchey to third. Leifield then dropped the ball into left field for a single, Ritchey coming home with the winning run. Attendance 2,570. Scores:

Highlanders Take Two Games.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The American league baseball season of 1905 was wound up locally at the Washington Heights grounds today with a double-header between Detroit and the home team. Orth and Griffith both pitched in excellent form, and good batting on the part of the home players enabled the home team to score a 3-to-0 and an easy 10-to-1 victory. Attendance 1,200. Scores:

The Shiloh will roll their games on the Shiloh alleys, Mt. Washington; the Werries on the new Adams alleys, Mt. Oliver; the Southern, Birmingham, Ormsby and Y. M. I. on the Southern alleys, and the Senators and St. Vincents on the St. Vincent alleys.

The officers are: A. F. Yochum, president; H. W. Poke, vice president; F. M. Paulin, secretary; C. E. Scott, treasurer.

At a meeting of the Central league held on the club alleys last night, all arrangements for the coming season were completed. Every club was represented and perfect harmony. Several teams changed their names, as follows: No. 40 to "Costus," Melvins to "Pittsburgh Field club," Sterling to "Unity." The league now consists of the following teams: American Bridge Company, River Coal Company, National Biscuit Company, Costas, Dimlings Favorites, Unity, Excelsior, Savoy, Pirates, Heyl & Patterson, Pittsburgh Butchers, Pittsburgh Field club.

The league will start rolling Thursday evening, October 12, all teams playing on the same night.

All the teams have handed their list of players to the secretary, these with the schedule will be published in a few days.

The Drug league will hold a meeting on the club alleys tonight at 8 o'clock to organize for the coming season. All of last year's members and any others desirous of joining are requested to be present. A special invitation is extended to the physicians and pharmaceutical houses to be represented.

A meeting will be held at the Wilkinsburg alleys, Monday evening, October 9, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing an amateur bowling league. All clubs or individuals wishing to join this league should be represented at the meeting or send their name and address to P. W. Joyce, Wilkinsburg Casino, Wilkinsburg, Pa.

The prize committee of the Allegheny County Duckpin league met at 7:30 o'clock last night on the Liberty alleys. Finding it impossible to figure the individual averages of the players of several teams because they had failed to send in a complete list of their games, they decided to equally divide the high individual prize and add it to the team prizes which makes the new prize list as follows, which has now been paid to the captains of the winning clubs:

First team, Royals, Wylie avenue alleys, $18.75 in cash; second team, Friendship alleys, $11.25 in cash. High team average, three games, Royals, $5 cash. High team score, one game, Friendship, $3 cash. High individual score, one game, Wilson, 128, Royal team. High individual average for three games, Hotter, 368 1-3, Friendship team.

Yesterday afternoon on the Wylie avenue alleys the Dispatch Indians opened their fall season in a battle between the Seminoles and Crows, a number of big chiefs and young bucks from other tribes were there to get some idea of the strength of these rollers. The Seminoles defeated the Crow tribe in all three contests. Young Chief Duer played the first game like a veteran and secured 108 pins for those five good strikes offered by Boehler for high score this week. Score:

BIG BLOCK FOR NINTH STREET

BEN AVON DEAL OF $15,000

Ninth street is likely to get a new building soon that will be the best structure erected in years below Penn avenue. P. J. McNulty and E. M. Gulick, who own the old St. Andrew's church property, are now considering the project of improving it with a modern six-story store building to cost $100,000. Mr. McNulty said yesterday that no plans had been drawn, but that a careful estimate had been made of the cost, and that the building, if erected, would be adapted for retail purposes as well as for a warehouse. The site has a frontage of 94 feet on the east side of Ninth street north of Fayette street, and a depth of 100 feet abutting the property which the same owners have in Duquesne way next to the plan of P. Duff & Sons. A deal was on for the purchase of the St. Andrew's property a short time ago, but it was not consummated. Since the old church was torn down two years ago the neighborhood has come into much prominence as a business district because of the many good structures going up in Penn avenue near by, and many brokers believe that for certain kinds of retail business Ninth street now offers good locations.

Gets Fine Property In Ben Avon.

Walter P. Fraser has bought, through the office of George T. McDonald, the R. W. Stone property in Ben Avon for $15,000. The purchase was made for a summer home and Mr. Fraser gets one of the finest properties for this purpose that can be found between Allegheny and Sewickley. There are three acres and 11 perches in the plot, which is at the head of Dixon avenue and only 10 minutes' walk from the Ben Avon or Emsworth stations on the Ft. Wayne road. An old-fashioned frame house constitutes the improvements. But the place is studded with many old forest trees and has besides some 40 fruit trees, which make it very desirable for a suburban home. It is the buyer's intention to build a handsome residence and stables and put the property in first-class shape.

Isaac W. Jenks of the Carnegie Steel Company is the buyer of the James M. Forse residence property in Beachwood boulevard near Hastings street, Twenty-second ward, the sale of which through the agency of A. Z. Byers & Co. was announced in The Gazette Sunday. The price was $35,000, and in part payment Mr. Jenks tendered three brick houses on a lot 105x150 feet at the southwest corner of Locust and Manhattan streets, Fifth ward, Allegheny, valued at $17,000. The Sutrel Hill house contains 14 rooms and the buyer will spend $5,000 in remodeling it and otherwise improving the property before he occupies it as a home.

Will Help Summit Park.

The final passing of the ordinance introduced in West Liberty council providing for a street railway through West Liberty and Montooth boroughs, is certain to result in an increase in the sales on the Summit Park allotment whose owners were the promoters of the new site. The proposed line will bring this property within 25 minutes' ride of the postoffice, besides affording two street car lines in addition to the proposed Wabash line which will intersect the property. That the promoters mean business, whatever their means of getting through or over Mt. Washington may be, is evidenced by the fact that they put up a bond of $10,000 in each borough which will be forfeited if they do not complete the new line in 18 months. Their 1,000-acre tract at Summit park will make a suburb in itself and a good start has been made this summer by the plotting of 100 acres in half-acre lots, which have been sold by Keck, Heile & Daschbach.

In a very short time two big industries will be humming at West Pittsburgh and 800 men and women will be employed. The two buildings, each 100x600 feet, which will house the S. Kinnear Pressed Radiator Company and the silk mill of Woodhouse, Bopp & Co., are nearly completed and it is expected that the machinery will be in place by November 1. Over 50 houses, costing about $2,500, are now being built in West Pittsburgh in addition to four good business blocks.

Drug Company to Build at Once.

The Walther-Robertson Drug Company has commissioned Architect F. C. Sauer to prepare plans for an eight-story fire proof brick and steel warehouse which it will erect at First avenue and Cherry alley on the old Mason site. The estimated cost is put at $80,000.

Architect Charles Bickel is receiving estimates for the two warehouses which M. Arnfeld & Sons will build in Twelfth street, near Penn avenue.

Plans for remodeling of and additions to the Eisner block, at Fifth and Wylie avenues, are being prepared by Architects Alden & Harlow. The work will cost at least $25,000.

Beezy Brothers, architects, have plans for a brick and stone stable and coachman's quarters for Col. L. B. Huff at Greensburg, to cost $20,000.

Architect H. J. Lohman of McKeesport is taking bids on a four-story brick manufacturing plant and a one-story addition to the warehouse of the Watson Paint and Glass Company in that town. The buildings will cost about $30,000.

Bids are being taken by Architects Ernst & Hanselman for a large brick laundry building for the Sisters of Divine Providence in Larimer avenue, East End.

Architects Thomas W. Boyd & Co. will take estimates in a few days on the Masonic temple to be erected at New Brighton at an estimated cost of $20,000.

Architects Allison & Allison are taking bids on the erection of a stone church for the First Baptist congregation of Scottdale, to cost $50,000.

Oakland Property Is Transferred.

The National Tube Company has taken title to all the property of the Pittsburgh Tube and Metal Company in the Fourteenth ward, the consideration named in the deed being nominal. There are three parcels as follows: Three acres facing in Brady street and having a frontage of 216 feet on the Monongahela river, an irregular shaped plot facing 100 feet in Second avenue, a lot fronting 99 feet on the east side of Brady street, and 40 feet in Second avenue. The company got the property in 1899 from Sheriff Harvey A. Lowry.

Through the Merchants Savings and Trust Company Jacob and Sarah Tannenbaum have bought the property at 23 Townsend street for $12,000. The lot measures 16x100 feet in Townsend street, and also has a frontage of 44 feet in Clark street. A brick store and house on the lot bring in an income of 12 per cent net.

David Blair and others sold to the Rt. Rev. Richard Canevin an improved property, 190x118 feet, on the east side of Edmond street, near Friendship avenue, Twentieth ward, for $14,-287.50.

Cralio: Harry H. Hunter sold for the Southern Avenue Land Company, to A. R. Whitehouse, 100x130 feet in Becks avenue, Cralio plans, for $2,200.

Wilkinsburg: Fred Rohrman sold to J. H. Lyons an old frame church building on a lot 80x120 feet, at Maplewood avenue and Grant street, Wilkinsburg, for $4,500.

Sheridan avenue: Robert J. Kerr sold to C. Groves a lot 30x130 feet on the west side of Sheridan avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $3,125.

Wellesley avenue: Grant McCargo and Charles R. Miller sold to Amos M. Bloom a new eight-room brick house on a lot 30x118 feet on the west side of Wellesley avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $7,000.

Jane street: William Bachfield sold to Richard O. Gerber an improved lot, 24x140 feet, on the south side of Jane street, Twenty-fifth ward, for $5,400.

Bertha street: The Mortgage Banking Company sold for the Lawton Real Estate Company to J. H. Clark, an eight-room brick house on a lot 26x138 feet in Bertha street, for $3,500.

Beech avenue: The Pittsburgh Bank for Savings sold to J. M. Forse 16 lots, 210x110 feet, in Beech avenue near Conrad street, and two lots, 120x110 feet, in Schenley avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $6,400.

Mill street: Ella J. Long sold to Leonard Remington a lot 70x100 feet in Mill street, Thirty-second ward, for $2,500.

Wylie avenue: Isador Markowitz sold to Rosie Abel an improved lot, 21x90 feet, on the south side of Wylie avenue, Thirteenth ward, for $4,700.

Lemington avenue: Amelia H. Hilty sold to M. J. King and J. M. Sait an improved lot, 75x119 feet, on the south side of Lemington avenue near Oberlin street, Twenty-first ward, for $3,200.

Harriet street: Robert Nicholas sold to George Kaufman an improved lot, 25x100 feet, in Harriet street, Thirty-eighth ward, for $1,900.

William street: Anthony Schaub sold to Joseph L. Rathbget an improved lot, 48x72 feet, on the northeast side of Williams street, Thirty-ninth ward, for $1,600.

Building Permits Issued.

Building permits were issued yesterday to Mrs. Kate C. Hays for two two-story brick veneered dwellings in St. James street, Twenty-sixth ward, to cost $15,000; to M. Anderson for four two-story brick veneered dwellings in Susquehanna street, Thirty-seventh ward, to cost $12,800; to C. A. Anderson, for a two-story brick veneered dwelling in Susquehanna street, Thirty-seventh ward, to cost $3,300; to John Scholl, for a three-story brick store and dwelling in Portland street, Nineteenth ward, to cost $8,000; to W. N. O'Connor, for a two-story brick dwelling in Eureka street, Thirty-first ward, to cost $2,300, and to L. A. Wagner, for a two-story brick veneered dwelling in Hermitage street, Twenty-first ward, to cost $3,200.

THE THREE RIVERS

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—At 6 p. m. the Ohio river was 7 feet and falling. The Catherine Davis is due Wednesday morning for a tow. All of the boats will be rushed because of a fast-falling water, which will be helped very little by the rise which is running from Parkersburg and other points above. The movements of the boats will about clean up the local harbor of all the empties and allow of large tows being brought out of the Kanawha on the next rise, which is due toward the end of November. Clear and warmer.

MARIETTA—Three and one-half feet and stationary. Clear and warmer. Bessie Smith up at 7 a. m.; Valley Belle down at 9 a. m.

LOUISVILLE—Falling. In canal, 3.5 feet; on falls, 1.5 feet; below locks, 6.7 feet. Clear and pleasant.

GREENSBORO—Six feet and stationary. Fair and warm. Woodward down Wednesday and Columbia up.

PARKERSBURG—Four and five-tenths feet and falling. Clear and cool.

OIL CITY—One foot one inch and rising. Clear and pleasant.

WARREN—Three-tenths. Fair and cooler.

POINT PLEASANT—Three feet 7 inches and falling. Cloudy. Down, Greenland.

MORGANTOWN—Five feet 6 inches and falling. Fair.

STEUBENVILLE—Two feet 5 inches and falling. Clear and warm.

GALLIPOLIS—Five feet 5 inches and rising. Clear and cool.

RISE FAILS TO COME.

Expected Swell Does Not Materialize, Harbor No. 25 Still Protests.

Because of the rains of Monday night a slight rise in the rivers was expected yesterday, but the swell was scarcely perceptible. The rainfall was not sufficient at headwaters to influence the streams and no rise is expected soon.

The members of Harbor No. 25, Masters and Pilots, have decided to renew their request to the United States engineers that the old piers in the Monongahela at Coal Centre be removed. It is contended that they are a menace to navigation and have been since the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company placed them in the stream 25 years ago, when a new bridge was contemplated.

The steamer I. C. Woodward arrived at the wharf yesterday from Morgantown, with a good load of freight and some passengers. She left yesterday afternoon on the return trip.

Maj. W. L. Sibert, United States government engineer, was to have held a hearing yesterday in the case of the proposed coal hoist of S. H. Rickard, on the Allegheny City wharf between the Seventh and Ninth street bridges, but because of the funeral of Capt. John F. Bravo it was postponed until October 17 at 10 a. m.

Charles Gulentz, the chief clerk to Maj. William L. Sibert, has resigned his position in the engineer's office, to take up the practice of law in Allegheny county. Mr. Gulentz has been a member of the bar of the District of Columbia since 1890.

SIBERIAN COMMERCE RESUMES WITH CAUTION

VLADIVOSTOK, Oct. 3.—The first freight steamer left this port today for Chefoo, thus reopening regular commerce by sea between Vladivostok and other ports. A Russian transport sailed simultaneously with relief stores for the people of the Kamchatkan coast. Navigation is still risky, owing to floating mines, four of which were sighted by small craft yesterday, within 14 miles of the harbor.

Russian Parliament Assured.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 3.—An imperial decree was published today, directing that immediate arrangements be made to conduct elections of members of the national assembly.

LIVE AMONG THE FLOWERS and BREATHE the FRESH AIR of the COUNTRY at

Penn Manor PLAN OF LOTS

Planned for people of culture who love the pure air of the country and who still need to be almost as convenient to the city as though a part of it. "PENN MANOR'S" surroundings are a built-up brick residence district and its restrictions not only keep out undesirable persons, but prevent "shoddy" buildings from depreciating adjoining valuable residences. Its faultless sewer system is rapidly nearing completion. The best of printed reasons fall far short of the "real, tangible, easy-to-see, advantages" for rapid increases in land value, that a personal trolley trip on the "KNOXVILLE" or "KNOXVILLE & MT. OLIVER" cars will prove in less than a 25-minute ride.

Chicago Justice Fines a Prince.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Prince Engalitcheff, Russian vice-consul in Chicago, was fined $1 and court costs by Justice Caverly today, on a charge of violating the city's automobile ordinances. The prince waived his rights as a member of a foreign consulate.

The Cost of Your Breakfast

this morning was dictated by a small group of men who are the real rulers of this country—the men who control the railroad, who make the freight rates and who dictate prices. How?

INDUSTRIAL STOCKS MADE STRONG RALLIES

U. S. Steel Common, Cast Iron Pipe Common and Crucible Common Advance to Highest Prices This Year—Call Loans Closed Lower.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

At the opening of the New York stock market yesterday conditions were apparently favorable for a sharp reaction in prices. The latter, however, opened only slightly lower, quickly recovered, and then ruled strong to the close, which was at or near the highest of the day. The dealings during the morning session were light, but there was a considerable increase during the afternoon, and the total for the day reached 670,000 shares.

The unfavorable factors at the opening were the weakness in foreign stock markets, which was apparently based upon the advance in the rate of discount by the Imperial Bank of Germany from 4 per cent to 5 per cent. The weekly statement of the bank also revealed extraordinary activity in the German money market. There was a loss of $41,000,000 in cash and an expansion of no less than $77,000,000 in loans. A large proportion of this increase in loans and decrease in cash was due to the advent of October settlements, and there is likely to be a rapid return to normal conditions next week, but the changes attracted attention, both on account of their size and the evidence they furnished in justification of an advance in the discount rate.

Shipments of currency from New York to the south and west were also on a large scale, and the call loan rate to stock exchange borrowers continued stiff, reaching 6 per cent and averaging 6½ per cent during the greater portion of the day. The extreme activity in the New York money market was reflected in the day's clearing house report. The balances were greatly in excess of all previous records, amounting to $42,321,709, as against $33,986,793 on Saturday last, which was the previous high record. The debit balance of the National Bank of Commerce amounted to $37,661,000, which is a new high record for any individual institution, either on the debit of credit side. The National City bank reported a credit of $10,545,000, which about represents the amount deposited there by the city on Monday in tax payments. The large figures of the last few days are a further reflection of recent financial operations. These include heavy October disbursements for interest and dividends; payments for Pennsylvania and Atchison syndicate undertakings and other operations not yet disclosed.

The strongest stocks in the market were the industrials, and of these the common issues were relatively firmer than the preferred and scored the largest net gains. United States Steel common in the final dealings advanced to and closed at 39, the highest of the year. The preferred reached its former high price of 105¾. United States Cast Iron Pipe common advanced from 33½ to 37, also the highest of the year, and the movement was accompanied by a report of the probability of a dividend, although there was semi-official denial of any such contemplated action. The other iron and steel stocks became moderately active and advanced in the late dealings.

Amalgamated Copper had the benefit of an advance of ⅛c in the price of the metal, and of a buoyant market in Boston for all classes of copper stocks, among them North Butte, which reached the highest price ever quoted and nearly four times its par value. Amalgamated rose to 85⅞ and closed at 85¾, a net gain of ¾ per cent. American Smelting jumped from 126⅝ to 129 and closed with a net gain of 2¾ per cent higher for the day. In the miscellaneous group of industrials Leather, Lead and Sugar were all strong and higher.

The standard railroad issues were fairly active and firm, but the net gains were not so large as in the industrials. Railroad traffic returns were generally favorable, and reports from traffic managers were to the effect that the rolling stock in all sections of the country was taxed to the utmost. The announcement of the Erie bond issue had no adverse effect upon that stock; neither were the Gould issues affected by the fresh developments in the fight for control of the Wabash.

The rally late in the day was helped by the easier tendency of money, the rate declining to 4½ per cent. The break in cotton following the government report, showing very little deterioration during September, was a bullish influence upon the southern group of railroad stocks.

The local stock market responded to the strength displayed in New York and averaged firm and higher at the close. Crucible Steel common again led the dealings and advanced to 13½ at the close, the highest price for two years. The preferred advanced to and closed at 83⅝. United States Steel common and preferred closed fractionally higher. National Fire Proofing common was fairly active, but the preferred was dull and both closed unchanged for the day. Natural gas stocks were fairly active and firm. Manufacturers Light and Heat sold at 35¾ to 36, and Pittsburgh Oil and Gas advanced to 66½. Philadelphia Company closed a fraction higher at 48⅝. A small lot of Ohio Fuel Supply changed hands at 38, a decline of ½. There were no transactions in Pittsburgh Coal common or preferred and only 10 shares of River Coal preferred sold at 26¾. Westinghouse Electric sold to the extent of 430 shares at 84½ to 84⅝, closing at a net loss of ½. Pittsburgh Plate Glass closed lower at 120. Late in the afternoon Lustre Mining became strong, and after selling at 31¾, advanced to and closed at 33¾ bid. The rise was based upon reports from the mine that the third smelter had been put in operation. Ohio Tonopah declined to 25 cents. Local traders took an active interest in the movement in North Butte in the Boston market, and if the stock were listed on the Pittsburgh exchange it would no doubt attract an active following.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Stock market operators cannot divest themselves of the belief that the money market is the subject of as much manipulation as the stock market. No one can deny that both are being admirably managed, and this management or control is being aided by the general prevalence of confidence in commercial and financial circles which permits the full employment of every available dollar of credit. That is, none of the country's custodians of credit feels called upon to hold in reserve a large fund to provide against possible contingencies. The advance in the discount rate of the Imperial Bank of Germany to 5 per cent did not occasion any particular surprise, because it was generally expected that the German bank would follow the example of the Bank of England last week, just as it followed that example three weeks ago. But cables from London yesterday stated that there was a probability that the Bank of England would, tomorrow, again raise its rate because of the evidence of an enormous drain from the Imperial Bank of Germany. It was supposed that a large part of the loss of $41,000,000 cash reported by the German bank yesterday represented withdrawals of Russian funds. Inasmuch as Japan has large credits in London and New York, which may be called upon at any time, it can be easily imagined that control of the international money market at this time becomes an intricate and somewhat delicate operation. So far New York seems to dominate the situation.

The surplus reserve of all the New York clearing house banks as reported by the last bank statement was $7,449,025. The surplus reserve held by the National City bank was $7,328,600. Thus, the National City bank held all but $61,425 of the surplus reserve reported by all the banks in the last clearing house statement. It also held over 15 per cent of all the specie and legal tenders held by the clearing house banks on Saturday. It also reported over 16 per cent of the total deposits and total loans. Some speculative houses have recently been very fortunate in predicting what the weekly bank statement would show. They even had a line on the extraordinary statement of last week, which reported a gain in cash of over $1,500,000, when the known loss in cash was over $8,000,000. Perhaps the facility with which certain people are able to make close guesses at the clearing house statement, is not surprising in the light of the facts.

It was reported in Wall street yesterday that the board of education to which John D. Rockefeller gave $10,000,000 some time ago was lending it through the Morton Trust Company, at 5¼ to 5½ per cent.

North Butte was easily the feature of an active market for copper stocks in Boston yesterday, rising from 83½ to 85¾ and closing at 85 bid. This is the highest ever quoted. Pittsburgh got into this property on the "ground floor," $15 a share par value, and while some of the original subscribers at that price have been large sellers on the advance, others have been buying. The market for the stock, however, is not so broad as the volume of trading would indicate, since Boston dominated rapidly. New York is taking an active interest in the market now, and all the gossip is of a bullish character. The New York Commercial had the following yesterday: "The North Butte, the new copper company that began operations in the Butte field in April, with the Speculator mine as a basis, is developing into a rich producer. It is now turning out 500 tons of ore a day, and is mining copper at a cost of less than 5¾ cents a pound. When the new shaft is completed, the output will be increased 40 per cent. When the new hoisting apparatus, subsequent to the completion of the new shaft, is in place, the total output will be doubled. These improvements are expected to be in complete operation within the next two months. An effort is being made to increase the earnings to $500,000 a month. The ore body is so extensive as to permit this, and recent development work has disclosed that the Speculator vein continues into the Edith May, an adjoining property, recently acquired by the North Butte. Earnings have been used to purchase other claims. The company now owns the Speculator, Edith May, Jesse, Miners' Union, Adirondack, Copper Dream and Hancock. It is said that no more claims will be acquired at present, but that earnings will be applied to dividends. The last dividend payment was 10 cents a share. The next, it is reported, will be $1. Thomas Hoarson, vice president of the Calumet and Arizona Company, is quoted as saying that the North Butte is easily the best property in Butte, and will be another Boston & Montana." Equally bullish gossip appeared in some of the Chicago papers, giving the appearance of a concerted movement to bull the stock.

Nearly 2,500 shares Crucible Steel common changed hands on the local board at prices ranging from 13⅜ to 13½, the latter being the final sale price, the highest for two years. It was reported that the annual report was in the hands of the printer and will be mailed to stockholders Friday evening. It is said that bookkeeping methods have been changed to what is known as the "Park system," which years ago had the reputation of being the most perfect system for a steel manufacturing plant that had ever been devised. No figures are obtainable in advance, but street gossip is to the effect that the showing will be favorable, and this belief was reflected in the rise in the stock yesterday. Another factor in the advance was the strength displayed by stocks like United States Cast Iron Pipe in the New York market. When Crucible Steel common was selling above 20, a few years ago, Cast Iron Pipe was quoted around 10 to 11, and last year it sold down to 6¼. Yesterday it sold at 37, the highest in its history, on rumors of the possibility of an initial dividend. There is no probability of a dividend on Crucible common for a long time to come, but the strength of stocks which were formerly graded below Crucible has a sympathetic effect upon the latter.

In the local curb market the following quotations were made, but they are more or less nominal: Kansas Natural 43s, 42 asked; Keystone County Gas, 97 bid; Union Natural Gas, 106 asked ex-dividend; Window Glass Machine common, 8 bid, 10 asked; do. preferred, 25½ bid, 26 asked; Golden Anchor, 80c bid, 90c asked; Oriental & Manhatt, 94c asked; Pittsburgh Coal 5s, 103½ and interest asked.

For the first time in months the Central Leather Company advanced the price of sole-lock lather a cent a pound. This accounted for the strength of the stock, which advanced to 46¾ for the common and to 104¾ for the preferred.

It was estimated from the government cotton report yesterday that the yield will approximate 11,000,000 bales. This is an increase of fully 500,000 bales over the estimates made three months ago, when the sensational developments occurred in the agricultural department. The estimated increase in production accounted for the break in cotton and for the sharp advance in the southern group of railroad stocks.

A number of rumors were put into circulation in Wall street alleging a prospect of early dividends on some of these low-priced stocks. These were met in at least one case with official denial. The increase in the dividend on Railway Steel Spring last week is the special inducement to speculative venture in this class of securities.

The placing of the common stock of the Railway Steel Spring Company, on a 4 per cent dividend basis is the reason for the large advance in the stock. The strength and activity of the other railway equipment stocks are also largely due to the liberal dividends declared by the Railway Steel Spring Company. The last statement of earnings, issued by the Railway Steel Spring Company, was for the year ended December 31, 1904. This report showed that the earnings for that year, after paying the 7 per cent dividend on the $14,000,000 preferred stock, amounted to $144,972, or a little more than 1 per cent on the $11,000,000 of common stock. During the fiscal year ended December 31 last the company failed to earn the 2 per cent dividend, which it was paying at the time on the common stock. During the current fiscal year, however, the company's business has shown, in common with the rest of the manufacturers of railway equipment, largely increased earnings.

Lustre Mining officials have received word from General Manager David Russell that the three furnaces of the company are now in full operation. Mr. Russell also stated that development work on the Santa Ana claim was progressing and that the ore found was far richer than that found on any of the claims developed, including the Commera.

The regular semi-annual interest of 3½ per cent on the Detroit, Mackinac & Marquette railroad land grant bonds has been declared, payable October 9.

The Esperanza Gold Mining Company has declared its regular quarterly dividend at the rate of 10 per cent per annum, and an extra dividend of 20 per cent on its capital stock. The directors issued a statement to the stockholders in connection with this dividend in which they have added the policy of maintaining the regular rate of dividend, to-wit: Ten per cent per annum, and to pay from time to time out of its accumulated funds, such extra dividends as will be warranted by prudent business management, rather than to increase the rate of its regular dividend.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit advanced on rumors of a dividend. Metropolitan Street Railway also advanced although it is an open secret that it is not earning more than half the present rate of dividend.

The annual report of the Distillers Securities Company shows a total receipts, $71,228,447, a decrease of $7,856,712; cost of production, distribution, etc., $67,683,222, a decrease of $3,066,471; profits, $3,727,318, an increase of $48,759. The present surplus over all charges and dividends is $5,977,803, an increase of $251,979.

Gross earnings of Louisville & Nashville for August increased $130,236, but net earnings decreased $179,405.

Gross earnings of Chesapeake & Ohio for August increased $187,800, and net increased $69,567.

The Granby Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company reports net earnings of $700,000 for the year ending June 30, against $351,000 last year.

A Wall street dispatch said: Net earnings for the quarter ending Saturday last are likely to be somewhat below the highest estimate heretofore made. This is due, according to an official of the corporation, to holidays of the quarter, July 4th and Labor day, and the extraordinary heat of a part of July and August. The losses in time due to these causes have been great enough in his opinion to reduce final net earnings from $700,000 to $1,000,000 below the amount that otherwise would have been earned. The net earnings for September, October and November should average around $1,000,000 monthly.

Gross earnings of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company in the fiscal year ending June last were in excess of $10,000,000. This compares with $9,826,626 in 1904, and $16,623,963 in 1902. Operating expenses will be from 25 to 30 per cent proportionately lower than the previous year. Yet the company, it is believed, will have but a small balance to put to credit of the profit and loss account. The fuel department will show a big increase. It produced $1,000,000 in excess of the previous year.

The National Surety Company of New York has closed a contract with the Modern Woodmen of America, guaranteeing the honesty of over 22,000 local lodge officers, covered by one bond. This is said to be the largest bond to be written, and is a very bulky document, it weighing about 50 pounds.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Dullness in raw material had considerable to do to-day with a quieter condition in the drygoods market than has obtained for some time past. The market was firm, with sellers making no concessions. Jobbers were doing only a moderate trade in the majority of departments.

STOCKS IRREGULAR, BUT UNDERTONE IS STRONG

Many of the Minor Industrial Properties Score Noteworthy Advances.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The Herald this (Wednesday) morning says: Stocks, while irregular yesterday, showed a strong undertone, and the speculation of the list, aside from the minor industrial properties, scored in many instances noteworthy advances. As a rule the standard issues, though moderately active in "spots," made little progress. In some quarters the theory obtained that a fairly good distributive movement was in progress, while elsewhere the action of the standard issues was described as "characteristic," devised by professionals to facilitate the marking up of the "speculatives."

While there were no signs of increased public buying, there was certainly no evidence of any important liquidation in the market. If there was any such, the work was so cleverly performed that it eluded detection. Speculative sentiment continued much mixed.

Some developments were somewhat relied upon to bolster both good and bad features. About the best feature of the day was the government cotton report, showing a condition of 71.7, or the highest for October in a decade, with but two exceptions. This was followed by a violent break in cotton, which, in consequence of the various speculative holdings and the position of foreign exchange, should properly be regarded as a bull point.

Probably the most important development in the day was the sharp advance in the official German bank rate from 4 to 5 per cent rate, due to the weakened German financial position, and denied for the purpose of creating speculation, altered. The general weekly crop bulletin was good and the money situation mixed. Time and call rates showed off a trifle, but sterling exchange advanced, despite the overnight gold import announcement.

Jury Indicts Bank Officials.

CANTON, O., Oct. 3.—The grand jury today returned indictments against W. L. Davis, vice president, and Corwin D. Bachtel, cashier of the Canton state bank, now in the hands of receivers. Davis is held for embezzlement of $15,000, and for grand larceny of the same amount. Bachtel is indicted for the same two offenses, and an additional indictment is placed against him, charging false entries on the bank's books.

FINANCIAL AND TRADE NOTES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—National bank notes received today for redemption, $803,79; government receipts from internal revenue, $758,676; customs, $1,459,459; miscellaneous, $46,669; expenditures, $1,988.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Officers were elected today by the New York clearing house association as follows: President, Dumont Clark, president Hanover National bank; secretary, Walter E. Frew, vice president Corn Exchange bank; manager, William Sherer; assistant manager, William T. Gilpin.

TOKIO, Oct. 3.—British capitalists have agreed to advance $1,000,000 on the Kansas railway bonds at 6 per cent interest, redeemable in 30 years and secured by mortgage on the whole line of the railroad and its entire assets.

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—The return of the Imperial Bank of Germany issued today, breaks all previous records for that institution. Its gold holdings have been swept heavier than the highest anticipations of the market, and the deterioration of the status amounts to 108 less than $110,750,000.

GRAPES AND APPLES ARE MORE PLENTIFUL

The feature of the produce and fruit market yesterday was the liberal stock of grapes. Three car loads arrived, making a total of 44 cars on track. All these came from New York. Some dealers have already sold more grapes than during the entire season last year and the demand is growing stronger every day, owing partly, it is said, to the scarcity of some other kinds of fruit. A big market this year is up the Monongahela river, one dealer having sold last Saturday afternoon over 4,000 baskets for delivery to towns in that section this week. Eight cars of apples came in yesterday, making a total of 40 cars on track. Only one car of cantaloupes arrived and the fruit is nearly out of market.

Fancy spring patent Minnesota flour dropped 10 cents a barrel. There were no changes of importance in the grocery market and produce prices held at yesterday's quotations. Sweet potatoes are coming in good quantity and are of uniform good quality.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania—Fifteen cars hay, 13 cars oats, 7 cars corn, 4 cars feed, 1 car rye. B. & O.—Four cars hay, 2 cars oats. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie—Two cars hay, 1 car straw.

Oats were in good demand, and are arriving in good condition. Hay was in fair demand. Very little straw is in the market and the call for it is increasing rapidly. Prices remained at yesterday's quotations with a slight tendency to an advance on corn.

MARKET IS DEPRESSED BY LIBERAL RECEIPTS

Wheat for December Delivery Is Off a Fraction—Corn and Oats Show Gains.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Liberal receipts in the northwest had a depressing effect today on wheat values here. At the close wheat for December delivery was off ¼@¼c. Corn and oats both showed a gain of ½@¾c. Provisions are down 7½@6c.

Weakness in the wheat market developed late in the session. During the greater part of the day a firm tone prevailed. The firmness was largely the result of support from a leading bull. Influenced by clear weather in the northwest, sentiment at the opening was also bullish. The movement of new wheat to northwestern markets was heavy. This fact was influential early, and was perhaps the chief reason for the free selling that resulted in final weakness. Initial quotations on December were unchanged to ⅛c lower, at 84¾@84¾c. A momentary period of heaviness was quickly followed by a strong upturn tendency in prices. After touching 84¾c, December steadily advanced to 85¼@85½c. The rise seemed due almost wholly to active demand from a prominent long, nothing notably bullish developing in the day's news. An element that had some bullish effect was an improved demand for cash wheat at all the principal grain centers in the United States. During the last hour, support from the big long was withdrawn and immediately the market began to weaken. Selling became general and all of the earlier gain was soon lost. The market closed weak with prices practically at the lowest point of the day. Final quotations on December were at 84¼@84½c. Transactues of wheat and flour were equal to 247,000 bushels. The world's visible supply, as shown by Bradstreets, increased 2,600,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 2,775,000 bushels, compared with 1,550,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 1,256 cars, against 1,403 cars last week, and 1,382 cars a year ago.

The corn market was firm throughout the entire session. Active demand from shorts and commission houses was the cause of the firmness. Local receipts were moderate and shipping demand was fairly active. Weather was again almost perfect for the maturing of the crop. The market opened steady, December opened ¼c to ⅝@⅝c higher at 43¾@43¾c, sold up to 43¾c, and closed at 43¾@43¼c. Local receipts were 271 cars, with 19 of contract grade.

Buying by cash houses held the oats market firm from beginning to end. Country acceptances were reported considerably lighter. This report was the main reason for the firmness. December opened a shade higher at 27¾c, sold between 27¾@27¾c and 28@28¼c, and closed at 27½c. Local receipts were 375 cars.

Provisions were easier as a result of a 5c decline in the price of live hogs. The volume of trading was extremely small. At the close January pork was off 2½@5c at $12 32½@12 35. Lard was down 2½c at $6 80. Ribs were 2½c lower at $6 45@6 47½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 52 cars; corn, 186 cars; oats, 319 cars; hogs, 26,000 head.

The leading futures as reported by John D. Armstrong & Co., Farmers bank building, Pittsburgh, members of the Chicago board of trade, ranged as follows:

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

Calumet and Arizona No. 4 smelter will start up this week, according to the newer properties of the group. In a few weeks the main product of the Calumet and Arizona will come out of the Oliver shaft, and the Irish Mag will be straightened and equipped with more new machinery. This shaft has been sinking the new compartment daily without cessation since the winter of 1903, and has handled all the waste rock of the mine in addition.

The Copper Buttes mine, consisting of a number of claims east of Phoenix, Ariz., near the Globe district, is idle. It has been examined by engineers from the north in the interest of capital. Development companies there, but no sale has taken place. There is a shaft nearly 500 feet deep, which is not in the lode, as the management considered it better to sink outside of it, and to drift to the ore bodies, but the unwisdom of this policy has been proved, as usual. The surface present very suspective possibilities, such a vein of rich oxides that in itself would be sufficient to make a large mine, if it extends in depth.

The Blue Bell mine, south of Bisbee, is now some 20 feet in rich copper glance. A small exploratory shaft is going down, and will be continued as long as it is in ore.

Mining properties in the incoming an industry in the Dragoon mountains. The miners is so valuable that only a small amount of it is required to make a paying property. It is used in the manufacture of gas mantles.

Machinery has been ordered by the Cochise Development Company, and it is expected that the concern will be sinking its shaft by November 1.

The American Development Company has made a call for part payment on its capital of $1 a share, payable after October 20. The company has a capitalization of $50,000 in $10 shares, on which $1 a share has been paid. The money to be paid in is probably all it will be required the coming year, and is for beginning exploration and the development of the company's ground. Work all around the American property is proving mineralized ground.

The Denn-Arizona Company has cut ore in another drift hole and the mineralized area is extended somewhat by the find. The company's shaft is down about 470 feet. The formation has not changed for the better, but is still in the same conglomerate as at the surface.

Finds have been made on the 400-foot level of Shattuck. The drift cut ore several days earlier than expected, and the company is now assured of a large ore body.

The Congress mine, above Phoenix, has a shaft down 4,000 feet, and of late putter ores have been found in extensions of the workings. Ten stamps are in commission and more are to be added.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The London tin market had a sharp advance, closing at £146 10s for spot, and £147 15s for futures. Locally, the market was reported firm, with spot quoted at 32½@32 65. Copper also was higher in both markets, closing at £79 12s for spot, and £79 7s for futures in London. Locally, the copper was quoted at 18 27½@18 75; electrolytic at 18 37½@18 62½, and casting at 18 12½@ 18 37½. Lead was firm at $4 80@4 90 in the local market, and advanced 5s to £13 7s 6d in London. Spelter was also higher in the London market, closing at £27 10s 0d for spot, while locally the price was unchanged at $5 80@5 95. Iron was irregular abroad. Standard foundry closed at 50s 3d, and Middlesboro at 49s. Locally, iron continued firm and southern grades were again advanced. No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $17 50@17 75; No. 2 foundry northern at $17 00@17 25; No. 1 foundry southern at $17 00@17 25, and No. 2 foundry southern at $16 75@16 75.

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—North Butte was the feature again today, quickly jumping to 58¾ and crowding within a point of that price. Range, which has been inactive for a long time, was taken in hand and quickly moved up to 73¾. The public interest in this stock is very large, and we expect to see a good movement in it now that a start has been made. There seems to be considerable liquidation in Atlantic at present, and this promises to be due more to profit-taking than to any unfavorable results at the property. Money is still tight, but we advise the purchase of copper stocks on any reaction from this level.

CLAIMS BONDS WERE FORFEITED

F. M. Wallace Says Hall's Representative Did Not Make Good Proposition to Lease.

EIGHT MURDER INDICTMENTS

An affidavit of defense was filed by F. M. Wallace, treasurer, in the suit of Broker Robert C. Hall against the Pittsburgh & Castle Shannon Railroad Company to recover three $1,000 bonds of the J. M. Guffey Petroleum Company. The affiant alleges that the title to the railroad property claimed by the plaintiff is in the defendant company. At a meeting of the board of directors of the defendant company, held July 26, 1905, it was resolved that the right of way, rolling stock and all the property of the company be leased to any company, formed or to be formed, for a term of years at an annual rental of $15,000, the execution of such leases to be first submitted to and approved by a meeting of all of the stockholders of the defendant company.

The meeting was held August 16, 1905, and after the lease had been presented and read the meeting was adjourned to August 17. At that meeting William Kaufman asked that action on the proposed lease be deferred for one week, Kaufman claiming to be the duly authorized representative of responsible parties who desired to bid for the properties about to be leased, and stating that he would pay an annual rental of at least $17,500, instead of $15,000, as mentioned in the lease. And as an evidence of his good faith for the concession of one week's delay Kaufman placed in the hands of the officers of the Pittsburgh & Castle Shannon Railroad Company three $1,000 five per cent bonds of the J. M. Guffey Petroleum Company, the bonds to be held by the officers of the railroad company to indemnify and protect the railroad company and as a guarantee that Kaufman would within one week submit a bona fide bid in at least the sum of $17,500, as annual rental, and also pay in cash $7,500 of the first year's renal, and that he would upon the signing of the lease give a bond of $50,000 as security for a faithful performance of the terms and conditions of the leasee under the lease.

At the postponed meeting Wallace states that Kaufman was present and refused to submit a bona fide bid for the leasing of the properties for an annual rental of $17,500; that he also refused to pay to the officers of the railroad company the sum of $7,500, or any part of it on account of rental; that Kaufman also refused to furnish a bond in $25,000 as security for the performance of the leasee under the terms of the lease. Although Kaufman was asked at the meeting to disclose the names of his alleged principals, he refused to disclose them.

Many Murder Indictments Returned.

The grand jury, after returning 38 true bills, among them six bills charging the defendants with murder, adjourned yesterday until October 22. The indictments charging murder are against eight men and establish a record of true bills in which murder is the offense charged in the history of grand juries in Allegheny county during one day's session.

A true bill was returned in the case of William, alias "Bud," Williams, the negro who shot to death his mother-in-law, Mrs. Minnie Quincey, and seriously wounded his brother-in-law, Charles Quincey, at the Quincey home, 1509 Locust street, on September 16.

A true bill was returned against Sophia Scott, the negress charged with shooting her father, Grant Scott, during a dispute over supper at their home at Leetsdale on August 16.

An indictment charging first degree murder was found against Bolis Darowski, who is alleged to have struck Antonio Pugeese with an iron brush, causing his death.

Max Scowdwoski, Michael Dwojokowski and Peter Rogaleski, who, it is claimed, kicked and beat Tefelo Jonarsk during a Polish celebration at the latter's home, 2644 Spring alley, July 1, had true bills charging murder returned against them.

A true bill was returned against John Garney of 811 West Robinson street, Allegheny. Garney is charged with assaulting Charles Laughlin, a neighbor, June 13, and inflicting injuries which resulted in his death.

Thomas Gullijitch, charged with killing Joseph Zadzumas at McKees Rocks June 14, also had a true bill returned against him.

Other true bills were: False pretense, Frank Maintesta, G. W. Allen; burglary, Ed Kerr; aggravated assault, William Brown, John Henry, keeping a gambling house, Lew Bierman (2); felonious assault, Paul Ballert; larceny, Frank Yoeman, Herbert Baldridge, Thomas E. Friel, entering a building, Charles Anderson; embezzlement, Frank Sehn; riot, Pasquale Spada et al.; misdemeanor, Monroe Fields, Annie Nick, West Side Belt Line, B. Rosenblatt, T. Hughes, Mary Bair.

Grande's Case Goes to the Jury.

The fate of Antonio Grande, the Italian charged with shooting to death Raffarli Constabile, his fellow countryman, at Port Perry, was given to the jury at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Court adjourned at the same hour, and the verdict, if the jurors agree, will be returned this morning.

Grande said he shot Constabile in self-defense after the latter had attacked him with a knife.

Ruth Johnston entered a plea of guilty on a charge of aggravated assault and battery, and was sentenced six months to the workhouse. She was charged with biting Jessie Belmont on the lip. Other cases were: J. P. Cousin, misdemeanor, fined $100 and costs; Emma Weathers, larceny, 60 days to the workhouse; William Husse, assault and battery, fined $50 and costs; Frank Sellers, felonious assault, pleaded guilty, sentence suspended; Cliff Hawkins, larceny, six months to the workhouse.

Fails to Find Negligence.

The exceptions to the account of the trustee in the estate of the late County Commissioner James G. Weir were dismissed yesterday. Mrs. Weir selected the trustee and his accounts showed that he had invested all the funds at 6 per cent, except $303, which was in bank at 2 per cent. Mrs. Weir held that he was negligent in not investing all the fund and should be charged interest on the whole amount. The court failed to find any negligence and dismissed the exception.

A writ of alternative mandamus was issued on the borough of Naplen at the suit of a number of taxpayers who want River avenue repaired. The writ is returnable October 10.

Permission has been given to Mrs. Albert Pitcairn to take her husband to Bedford county until December 1. Pitcairn is a lunatic in his wife's charge.

Owing to the number of cases District Attorney Stewart is endeavoring to have another judge assigned to quarter sessions court. If this is done three rooms will be opened and one judge can devote his time to homicide trials.

An order was made for the transfer of one-sixteenth of the stock of the Hood Automatic Window Company in the suit of J. G. Hughes against Charles Hood and others. The defendants had agreed to the transfer.

Miscellaneous Court Proceedings.

A preliminary injunction was granted in the case of John J. Rainey against Charles Clause, restraining the defendant from blockading the lower, or Pleasant Valley road, in O'Hara township.

An execution for $1,470 was filed in the case of Robert W. Currey against Boisel & Co.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed against Julian K. Julius of Smiley station, Fayette county. Three creditors filed claims aggregating over $600.

A verdict for $4,868 02 was given to the plaintiff in the suit of T. J. Maloney against the Eleanor Iron and Steel Company. The suit was brought to recover for a number of cars of old iron and steel delivered to the defendant.

Margaret McConnell, by her will, gives to her son, Benjamin McConnell, a lot in Braddock, and to each of her three daughters she leaves $1. Her husband is also given $1. The estate is worth $1,600.

Pittsburgher Goes Abroad.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(Special)—Mr. G. P. McCandless of Pittsburgh sailed today for Liverpool on the Cunard liner Caronia.

The Hunting Season.

Nimrod was a mighty hunter, but had he hunted in the "Highlands of Ontario" that are reached by the Grand Trunk Railway System, he would have been a mightier one. Nimrod hunted for glory, but those who go up into the several districts in Ontario hunt for game and have no difficulty in finding it. The regions in which deer abound are the "Muskoka Lake," "Lake of Bays," "Maganetawan River," "Georgian Bay," "Lake Nipissing," the "French River," "Kawartha Lakes" and on the line of the Canada Atlantic between Scotia Junction and the boundary of Algonquin Park. The open season is from November 1st to November 15th.

For moose, the best region in Canada is found in Temagami, where the season opens October 15th and continues until November 15th.

The open season for ducks in Ontario is from September 1st to December 15th and for partridge September 15th to December 15th.

A beautifully illustrated book, "Haunts of Fish and Game," giving descriptions of the different hunting districts, game laws, maps, etc., sent free on application to W. Robinson, Traveling Passenger Agent, 506 Park Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

SOCIETY

FORMAL announcement is made of the engagement of Mrs. Eleanor Fulton Colvin and the Rev. Dr. William L. McEwan, both of this city. The engagement has been known to the most intimate friends of the couple for some time, but no rumor of it has reached the outer circle until the announcement was made yesterday. This was done at an informal, but very delightful little tea given by Mrs. Robert S. Frazer of Rippey street, in honor of Mrs. Colvin, who is Judge Frazer's cousin. It was a 4 o'clock affair, attended only by a few relatives and intimate friends of the guest of honor. Dainty refreshments were served in the dining room, Mrs. R. H. Brown and Miss Sara Ellis pouring chocolate and tea at either end of the long dining table, in the center of which was an effective arrangement of delicately-shaded pink carnations. Miss Sarah Frazer, Miss Katherine Ellis, Miss Acsa Ellis and Miss Margery Brown also assisted informally. The decorations were very simple, but in exquisite taste. A vase of half-blown pink roses on the piano, white asters on the mantel and a bowl of pink carnations on the table were used in the drawing room.

The exact date for the wedding has not been set, but it will take place quietly during this month at the home of the bride-elect in Mellon street. Mrs. Colvin, who is a woman of charming personality, is a daughter of the late George P. Fulton, prominent in educational circles of this city. Dr. McEwan is the well-known pastor of the Third Presbyterian church.

Army Men in the Bridal Party.

There will be a captain and seven lieutenants, army friends of the bridegroom, in the bridal party attending Miss Alice Thomas and Lieut. William Goff Caples, on Tuesday evening of next week. The wedding will take place in the Point Breeze Presbyterian church with the Rev. Dr. William S. Fulton, pastor of the church, officiating. Seven o'clock is the hour set for the ceremony and the bride, who is a daughter of Mrs. Joseph D. Thomas, of Lang avenue, East End, will be given away by her brother, Joseph C. Thomas. Her attendants will include a maid of honor, her sister, Miss Say Thomas and six maids, Miss Jane Lloyd, Miss Jennie McCance, Miss Irene Succop, Miss Kathryn Chambers, all of this city. Miss Grace Crocker, of Cambridge, Mass., and Miss Elizabeth Smith of Hartford City, Ind. Lieut. Arthur Williams, stationed at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., will serve as his comrade's best man, and the ushers will be Captain R. O. Ricard, also of Ft. Leavenworth; Lieut. Lewis M. Adams, Lieut. William A. Mitchell, Lieut. William R. Rose and Lieut. Max C. Tyler, all of Washington, D. C.; Lieut. A. Owen Seaman, of San Francisco, and Lieut. James Prentice, of Fort Ethan Allen, Vt. The prospective bridegroom is a lieutenant in the engineer corps of the army, and is now stationed in Chattanooga, where he and his bride expect to live. Among the numerous social affairs which will precede the wedding is the tea to be given tomorrow afternoon by Mr. William Keller of Thomas boulevard. Miss Lloyd will be hostess at luncheon on the day following, and Miss Jean Succop of North avenue, Allegheny, will entertain with a dinner on the same evening. A dinner will be given by Mrs. I. M. Pickelson, on Saturday evening at her home in Forbes street. Miss Succop will be hostess at a breakfast on Monday, and Miss Thomas will entertain the entire bridal party at the rehearsal dinner next Monday evening.

Kleman-Hutchinson.

Miss Nellie Regis Hutchinson, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hutchinson of 932 Locust street, McKeesport, was married last evening at 7 o'clock to John P. Kleman, proprietor of a hotel in the East End, this city, the ceremony being performed in the parsonage of St. Peter's Roman Catholic church by the Rev. Father C. A. McDermott. The bride was attired in a handsome traveling suit of gray material, and immediately after the ceremony the couple departed for a two months' tour of the Pacific coast, taking in the Portland exposition. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Marshall of the East End. Mr. and Mrs. Kleman will be at home after December 10 at 1007 Sheridan avenue, East End.

Wetherton-Brown.

The Bellefield Presbyterian church was the scene of a pretty pink and white wedding last evening, when Miss May Wetherton became the bride of Paul W. Brown. The bride is the only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Wetherton. Dr. Wetherton gave his daughter's hand in marriage. The Rev. Dr. Frank Sneed of the East Liberty Presbyterian church officiated. The bride was gowned in messaline satin with trimmings of duchesse lace, while orange blossoms fastened her tulle veil. Her jewels were a diamond brooch and a diamond and pearl ring, both gifts of Mr. Brown. Miss Estelle M. Brown, the maid of honor and a sister of the bridegroom, wore pink messaline satin and carried white roses, while in her hair was a wreath of white rose buds. Pink buds were worn by the two bridesmaids, Miss Jean McCloy and Miss Myrtle Price, their gowns being of white crepe de chine with pink girdles. They carried pink roses. Little Miss Dorothy Chalmers Brown, the flower girl, wore a simple little frock of embroidered Paris muslin and carried a basket filled with pink and white rose buds. The bridal party was completed by the best man, Frank Strong, and the ushers, Dr. Harry Midgley, Palmer Brown, Joseph Brown and Carlson Hunter. Pink and white roses, with quantities of palms, ferns and tropical plants formed very attractive decorations both at the church and at the Hotel Schenley where a reception followed the ceremony. Upon returning from their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Brown will occupy apartments in the Lincoln until the completion of their own home.

Dickinson-Waugaman.

Miss Grace Dickinson and Dr. Edward A. Waugaman were married at 7:30 o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Dickinson, in East End avenue, the Rev. A. R. Van Fosson officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attended by Mrs. Harry McAllister Feely, as matron of honor, and Miss Sarah Budd Dillon and Miss Maud Waugaman as bridesmaids. Dr. Waugaman's best man was Andrew Muirhead, and the ushers included Albert Frampton and Harry Feely. The bridal robe was an exquisite creation of messaline satin, made en princesse and with a court train. The round yoke of net was edged with a bertha of point lace and the net also formed the high cuffs over which the sleeves fell in two puffs. A spray of orange blossoms caught the long tulle veil and a crescent of diamonds and pearls, the bridegroom's gift, was fastened in the lace bertha. The bridal bouquet was of lilies of the valley in shower effect. Mrs. Feely was gowned in Valenciennes lace hung over white chiffon. She and the maids, the latter wearing dainty gowns of white point d'esprit with pink satin girdles, carried bouquets of pink roses. Mrs. Dickinson appeared in white lace over taffeta silk. The house was prettily decorated, palms, with wicker gates, and the gate posts topped with white chrysanthemums, forming a background for the bridal party. All the mantels were banked with greens, smilax draped the doors and windows, and the centerpieces on the bridal table was of pink roses and lilies of the valley. Above it from the ceiling hung a shower of the same blossoms. After December 1 Dr. Waugaman and his bride will be at home with Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson in East End avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Jennings Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Jennings have returned from their wedding trip and for the present are occupying apartments at the Hotel Schenley. Mrs. Jennings was Mrs. Ella Baller, a sister of Mr. and Mrs. Murry A. Verner, at whose summer home in Lakewood-on-Chautauqua the wedding occurred a short time ago. Mr. and Mrs. Verner, who have been at the Hotel Kennawr since returning from Lakewood, expect to occupy their house in Penn avenue in a couple of weeks.

Euchre Club to Meet.

The Tuesday Afternoon Euchre club, an old organization of the East End, will begin its regular meetings on Tuesday afternoon of next week when Mrs. Elias Weart will entertain the members at her home in Ellsworth avenue. Mrs. David Pollock Black is president of the club this year, and Mrs. Frank Bell is secretary and treasurer. The members meet every two weeks.

Reception to East End Pastor.

A reception was tendered last night to the Rev. John G. Slayter, pastor of the East End Christian church, and his wife by the congregation. Nearly the whole membership of the church was present. The Madrigal quartet gave some music and speeches were made by 10 ministers of the Christian and Baptist churches.

Notes of Society.

The members of the Uneek club, of Beechview, gave a "prosaic housekeeping party" last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Peterson, in Fifth avenue, Beechview. The gentlemen in the party furnished the materials with which a variety of confections was made.

A series of Thursday evening dances will be given in Masonic hall, Bellevue, commencing tomorrow evening. The club officers are Edwin Beggs, Harry A. Leslie, Charles G. Grau, James C. Gordon.

Miss Nellie M. Clary of Railroad avenue, Carnegie, entertained at a shower yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Gertrude Leona Joyce, whose marriage to Frederick F. Twinlacer takes place next Tuesday evening.

A pretty wedding of last evening was that of Miss Anna Isabel Warner and Pressly C. Dowler, which took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Anna Little Warner, in Aspinwall. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. A. Duff. Mr. and Mrs. Dowler left during the evening for an eastern trip and on their return will be at home in Crafton.

Among the Clubs.

Second Oldest in the Country.

The Woman's club of Pittsburgh will celebrate its thirtieth birthday anniversary in November. The club is the oldest woman's club in Pennsylvania and the second oldest in the country, the Sorosis of New York being the first woman's club organized. A committee consisting of Mrs. C. J. Wade, Mrs. Andrew Easton, Mrs. Charles W. Gerwig, Mrs. Robert D. Coard and Mrs. Harry Lutz Lewis was appointed to arrange the details of the celebration, which may take the form of a reception.

This club held its first meeting this season yesterday. It was president's day and among the guests were the presidents of several other women's clubs in Pittsburgh and the surrounding towns. Mrs. James S. McKelvey, president of the Woman's club, made her inaugural address, which was followed by reports of the summer playgrounds and vacation schools in Pittsburgh and Allegheny, in which members of the club worked during the past season. Miss Eva M. Gamble was chairman of the club committee for Pittsburgh, Mrs. Virgil Matthews holding a similar position with regard to the Allegheny playgrounds. The music yesterday was provided by Mrs. Edwin Miller and Miss Louise Minnick, vocalists, and Miss Edna Stewart, pianist and accompanist. After the program tea was served by members of the social committee, which includes Miss Anna Gerwig, Mrs. Charles R. Wood, Mrs. R. L. Butler, Mrs. A. E. Smith and Mrs. Frank Whitesell. Mrs. James S. McKelvey and Mrs. Robert D. Coard were elected delegates to the annual meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, with Miss Minnie R. Kuhn and Mrs. John B. Hamilton as alternates.

Relate Vacation Experience.

The Colonial club held its first meeting of the year at the Hotel Henry yesterday. The leader, Mrs. M. D. Lichliter, gave a talk on "Plato," the club members responding to roll call with quotations from his works. The remainder of the program was carried out in a light and happy vein, the club women giving short talk on their vacation experiences, interspersed with music. The talk by Mrs. M. D. Lichliter, who spent her vacation in the south, visiting Mammoth cave and other points of interest, and the one by Mrs. Edwin R. Sullivan, who also took a southern trip and visited Fortress Monroe, Norfolk navy yard, Newport News and Richmond, were especially interesting. The club will study Greece and Italy with miscellaneous topics this year. The subject for the next meeting will be Homer, with Mrs. Edith R. Sullivan as leader. The remaining officers of the club are Miss Effie Boyle, president; Mrs. E. J. Ray, first vice president; Mrs. William Pennock, second vice president; Mrs. Frederick Cannon, secretary; Mrs. A. E. Thoney, treasurer.

Women Criticise Grover Cleveland.

A recent article by ex-President Grover Cleveland on "Woman Suffrage" in a current periodical has stirred the members of the Civic club of Wilkinsburg and will form the topic for discussion at the next meeting of the club, Tuesday, October 17. At the meeting yesterday afternoon no very flattering comments were made by the women regarding the ex-president, who was characterized as a really ignorant man, notwithstanding his position, this conclusion being reached after a study of his article.

Plans were discussed yesterday afternoon for the public meeting in the interest of woman suffrage which will be held in Wilkinsburg on Saturday evening, October 21, when it is expected that Mrs. Rudolph Blankenburg, president of the Pennsylvania State Woman Suffrage association and Miss Jane Campbell, president of the Philadelphia association, will speak. A public meeting will be held in Pittsburgh on Saturday afternoon, October 21, in the Bellefield club house. When they will be present and meetings will be arranged for the following Monday in Allegheny and Bellevue.

New Century Club Opens Season.

The Lawrenceville New Century club yesterday opened its season, holding its president's day reception in the Young Women's Christian association building in Butler street. The president, Mrs. Joseph Joyce, presided, and following her inaugural address gave a report of the summer playground work engaged in by the Lawrenceville club. The first regular meeting of the club will be held October 11, when "The Revolution" will be the subject of discussion.

Will Study the Czar's Domain.

The Woman's club of McKeesport has made elaborate preparations for its fall opening in that city at Carnegie library next Friday afternoon, when the president, Mrs. J. S. Brown, will be honored by the other members. The club will make a special study this winter of Russia, her people and customs.

Opening Meeting at Oakmont Club.

It was president's day yesterday in the Woman's club of Oakmont. The occasion was purely social, with music and several informal talks. The club will meet on the first and third Tuesdays each month. This year the subject of study will be Holland.

Change in Place of Meeting.

The Woman's Southern society will meet in the Pittsburgh Conservatory of Music, Diamond street, Friday afternoon, instead of in the library of the Allada school as announced in the year book. This will be the opening meeting of the club this season.

Will Study Russia and Japan.

The Nootic club of Crafton and Ingram will hold the first meeting of the season next Friday night at the home of Miss Bertha Von Bonhorst, in Ingram. The subject for the season will be Russia and Japan.

STRANGER THAN FICTION.

A Remedy Which Has Revolutionized the Treatment of Stomach Troubles.

The remedy is not heralded as a wonderful discovery, nor yet a secret patent medicine, neither is it claimed to cure anything except dyspepsia, indigestion and stomach troubles with which nine out of ten suffer.

The remedy is in the form of pleasant tasting tablets or lozenges, containing vegetable and fruit essences, pure aseptic pepsin (government test), golden seal and diastase. The tablets are sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Many interesting experiments to test the digestive power of Stuart's Tablets show that one grain of the active principle contained in them is sufficient to thoroughly digest 3,000 grains of raw meat, eggs and other wholesome food.

Stuart's Tablets do not act upon the bowels like after dinner pills and cheap cathartics, which simply irritate and inflame the intestines without having any effect whatever in digesting food or curing indigestion.

If the stomach can be rested and assisted in the work of digestion it will very soon recover its normal vigor, as no organ is so much abused and overworked as the stomach.

This is the secret, if there is any secret, of the remarkable success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, a remedy practically unknown a few years ago and now the most widely known of any treatment for stomach weakness.

This success has been secured entirely upon its merits as a digestive pure and simple, because there can be no stomach trouble if the food is promptly digested.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act entirely on the food eaten, digesting it completely, so that it can be assimilated into blood, nerve and tissue. They cure dyspepsia, water brash, sour stomach, gas and bloating after meals, because they furnish the digestive power which weak stomachs lack and unless that lack is supplied it is useless to attempt to cure by the use of "tonics," "pills" and cathartics which have absolutely no digestive power.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be found at all drug stores and the regular use of one or two of them after meals will demonstrate their merit better than any other argument.
